totally Loco

Digitized by the Internet Archive in 2017 with funding from Loyola University Maryland, Office of Academic Affairs

https://archive.org/details/evergreenannual00loyo_21

2006 - loyola college - volume 104 evergreen annual student life sports
etc. underclassmen seniors 14
66 104 132 166

Matthew Brewster '08

Carolyn DeSiena '07

LOyal friends. COmmunity awareness. LOng, challenging things that define Loyola. Whether it is your first year exciting – something that captures your mind, your spirit, year was nothing short of crazy. We welcomed our new his inauguration with special events for the whole the school together while we took evacuated students started out with some surprises and twists, in typical days. COnstantly evolving. These are just some of the or your last, each day brings about something new and or your heart. The beginning of the 2005–2006 academic school President, Reverend Brian F. Linnane, celebrating community. The tragedy of Hurricane Katrina brought in and raised money for the victims. Although the year Loyola fashion, we all adapted to the changes.

David Barton '07

Christina Greenup '08

Presidential Inauguratio

The newly declared President of Loyola College, Fr. Brian Linnane, stands before those gathered to celebrate his Inauguration. Reitz Arena was filled to capacity with members of the College community and special guests.

The Reverend Brian F. Linnane, S.J.

The Inauguration of the Reverend Brian F. Linnane, S.J. marked the beginning of the tenure of the twenty-fourth president of Loyola College. After the passing of the beloved Reverend Harold Ridley in January 2005, the Presidential Search Committee was charged with the intensive task to find a successor for the president. After careful consideration, Fr. Linnane was selected as the best individual for the leadership of the College and to build upon the foundations which his predecessors had built.

The celebration of the transition of leadership was marked by a week-long series of events, beginning on Sunday, October 16, 2005 with a faculty reception at the Baltimore Country Club. On Tuesday, October 18, the Student Government Association and the Office of Student Development co-sponsored a student celebration on the quad which included live music, a buffet, and fireworks set off from the roof of Maryland Hall.

The following day, Wednesday October 19, marked two events that were unique to this Inauguration. At the request of Fr. Linnane, a symposium entitled "Faith, Justice, and the Intellectual Life: Jesuit Education at Loyola College" was held in the fourth floor programming room. The panelists who participated included Fred Derrick, chair of the Economics department, Elissa Derrickson, an Associate Professor in the Biology department, June Ellis, an Associate Professor in the English department, the Rev. Kevin Gillespie, S.J., director of the Masters program in Spiritual and Pastoral Care, and Claire Mathews McGinnis, Associate Professor in the Theology department. Later in the evening, an alumni leadership reception was held to mark the opening of the new installation of the Presidential portrait in The Study, located on the third floor of Jenkins Hall. The installation features the portraits of fourteen of the College's past presidents which were found after many years. The portraits have been carefully restored and placed in new frames.

On Thursday afternoon, Fr. Linnane concelebrated Mass with numerous priests from both the Loyola College community and beyond. The principal celebrant was Cardinal William H. Keeler, Archbishop of the Baltimore Archdiocese. At the conclusion of the Liturgy, those present joined in praying for the success and happiness of Fr. Linnane as he began his new role. This Liturgy served as a reminder of the central role that faith plays in the ongoing mission of the College and the dedication to the ideals of keeping faith as a central focus in its leadership.

The Inauguration Ceremony took place the morning of Friday, October 21, 2005. Members of the student body, faculty, staff, and administration were joined by alumni and parents, government and Church officials, as well as corporate officers in Reitz Arena. Also in attendance were over one hundred delegates from universities across the country.

Cardinal William H. Keeler, Representative Benjamin L. Cardin, Attorney General J. Joseph Curran, Jr., Mayor Martin J. O'Malley, Christopher B. Nelson, President of St. John's College, James G. Linz, President of the Loyola College Alumni Association, John A. Gray, President of the Faculty Senate, and John M. McNamara, President of the Student Government Association greeted Fr. Linnane at the beginning of the Convocation. M. Cathleen Kaveny, PhD, Fr. Linnane's colleague from Yale University, was the keynote speaker for the convocation. After the Investiture of the President and the Missioning of the President, Fr. Linnane addressed the assembly. He announced his plans to make the 2006-2007 school year a "Year of the City," and he discussed the importance of service to Loyola's community. The Loyola College Community applauded Fr. Linnane's willingness to lead Loyola into a new era.

At the conclusion of the Convocation, all in attendance were invited to a luncheon on the quad. This luncheon offered the opportunity for those present to share a meal together and welcome the newly inaugurated president. This event marked the end of the week-long Inauguration events and the beginning of Fr. Linnane's official tenure as President of Loyola College.

Story by Eileen Bocchicchio and Richard Shami

of the 24th preside

Personable, outgoing, and patient are some of the first impressions one may get upon meeting the Rev. Brian F. Linnane for the first time in person. Beginning with a firm handshake and a concentrated gaze, a stimulating conversation usually follows and may take unexpected directions. Although Fr. Linnane is the single most influential individual at Loyola College, he does not stand aloof from the rest of the community.

Equally open to students, faculty, and staff, Fr. Linnane has made it a priority to get to know the Loyola College community on a personal level and has taken this to heart. In his months at Loyola, Fr. Linnane has set the tone for his tenure by breaking away from the conventional stereotype of college or university president. He can often be seen around campus, not only walking to or from places, but taking the time to meet and occasionally join students, faculty, and staff for meetings and extra-curricular activities. "Fr. Linnane has made the students a huge part of his tenure at Loyola," states Green and Grey member Matthew Hayek. "He is extremely personable and an asset to the college."

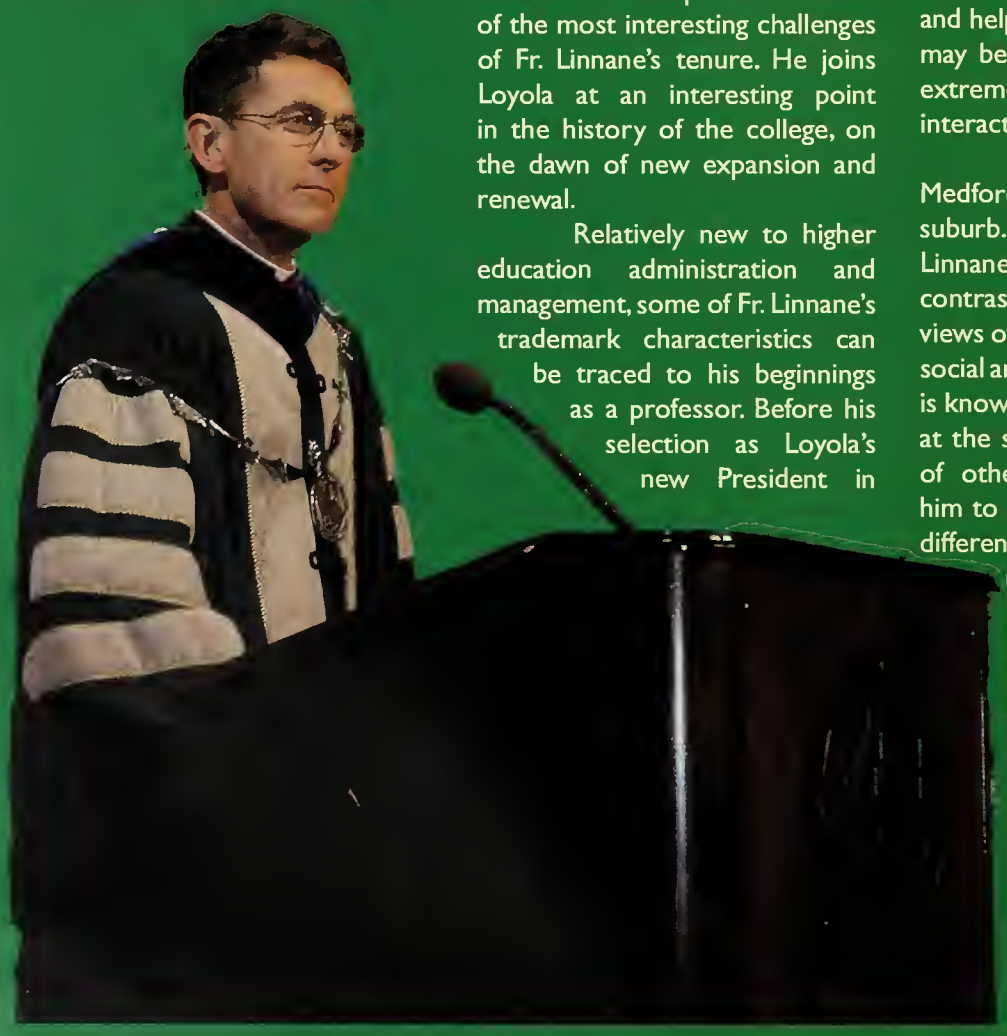
A regular at the Fitness and Aquatics Center, Fr. Linnane demonstrates and lives the Jesuit belief of the importance of the entire person. Declaring the 2006 academic year as "Year of the City" is one such example of his innovative thinking, connecting the college community to the surrounding neighborhoods in an effort to enhance the lives of those that are in the Baltimore area. Reflecting upon his declaration, Fr. Linnane sees this as an opportunity to show Loyola students what they can offer to the city as well as what the diverse city of Baltimore can offer them. He takes pride in challenging people to stretch themselves and go beyond their comfort zone in order to realize their full potential. Reaching beyond the comfort zone is what will prove to be one of the most interesting challenges of Fr. Linnane's tenure. He joins Loyola at an interesting point in the history of the college, on the dawn of new expansion and renewal.

Relatively new to higher education administration and management, some of Fr. Linnane's trademark characteristics can be traced to his beginnings as a professor. Before his selection as Loyola's new President in June, he was a professor of religious studies and an assistant dean at the College of the Holy Cross, where he had been for the past eleven years. He is a scholar who happens to have a good sense of humor and a clever wit. Making his impression at Loyola in the few months that he has been here, Fr. Linnane is known to be able to relate to students and help them whatever their need may be. He has demonstrated his extreme caring in regards to his interactions with students.

Fr. Linnane grew up in Medford, Massachusetts, a Boston suburb. One of three children, Linnane's liberal political views contrasted with the conservative views of his father. An enthusiast for social and political issues, Fr. Linnane is known to have his opinions while at the same time respecting those of others. It is characteristic of him to desire to learn more about different views, even though they may differ from his own.

This interest in politics motivated Fr. Linnane to attend Boston College then pursue a masters degree in political science at Georgetown University. Since he was interested in joining the Jesuit order since his senior year at Boston College, Fr. Linnane decided to study theology at the Jesuit School of Theology in Berkeley, California. Despite his initial impression of theology, he quickly warmed up to the subject. Linnane completed his Licentiate in Sacred Theology at Jesuit School of Theology in Berkeley then continued to earn his master's degree and Ph.D. in theology from Yale University.

With the life experiences that Fr. Linnane brings to the Loyola College, he hopes to support the community in exceeding the goals that they set in regards to academics, be it in the classroom, conducting research, or other scholarly endeavors. With his disposition and openness, Fr. Linnane views his role as a moderator, a member of the community rather than an abstract superior. Through his vision and his values, Fr. Linnane promises to guide the college in new and different directions for the duration of his tenure.



The Reverend Fr. Brian Linnane addresses those gathered to celebrate his inauguration. In his address, Linnane declared the 2006 - 2007 academic year as a "Year of the City."

nt

Fr,. Linnane is officially installed as the 24th President of Loyola College. This marked the beginning of the 25th term in the office, as one of Linnane's predecessors served two non-consecutive terms.

The Reserve Officers Training Corp presents the colors at the onset of the of the Inauguration Convocation. The group was one of many that partook in the opening procession.

M. Cathleen Kaveny encourages the audience to reflect upon the importance of cultivating the virtue of hope at Catholic colleges. A colleague and friend of Fr. Linnane, Kaveny was featured as the keynote speaker of the Inauguration Convocation.

The academic procession is led by Professor Steve Walters. It is tradition that the Teacher of the Year carries the mace in academic processions, which is representative of the heritage of Loyola College.

LOYOLA VOLCOM RIP

AMDG
LOYOLA COLLEGE

STUDENT LIFE

LIVIN'LOCO

LIVE IT LOVE IT

coming together for a new school year

By Michelle Tumolo

Groups, clubs, and sports teams alike gathered on the Quad to advertise what they had to offer. The paths of the Quad were lined with table and students.

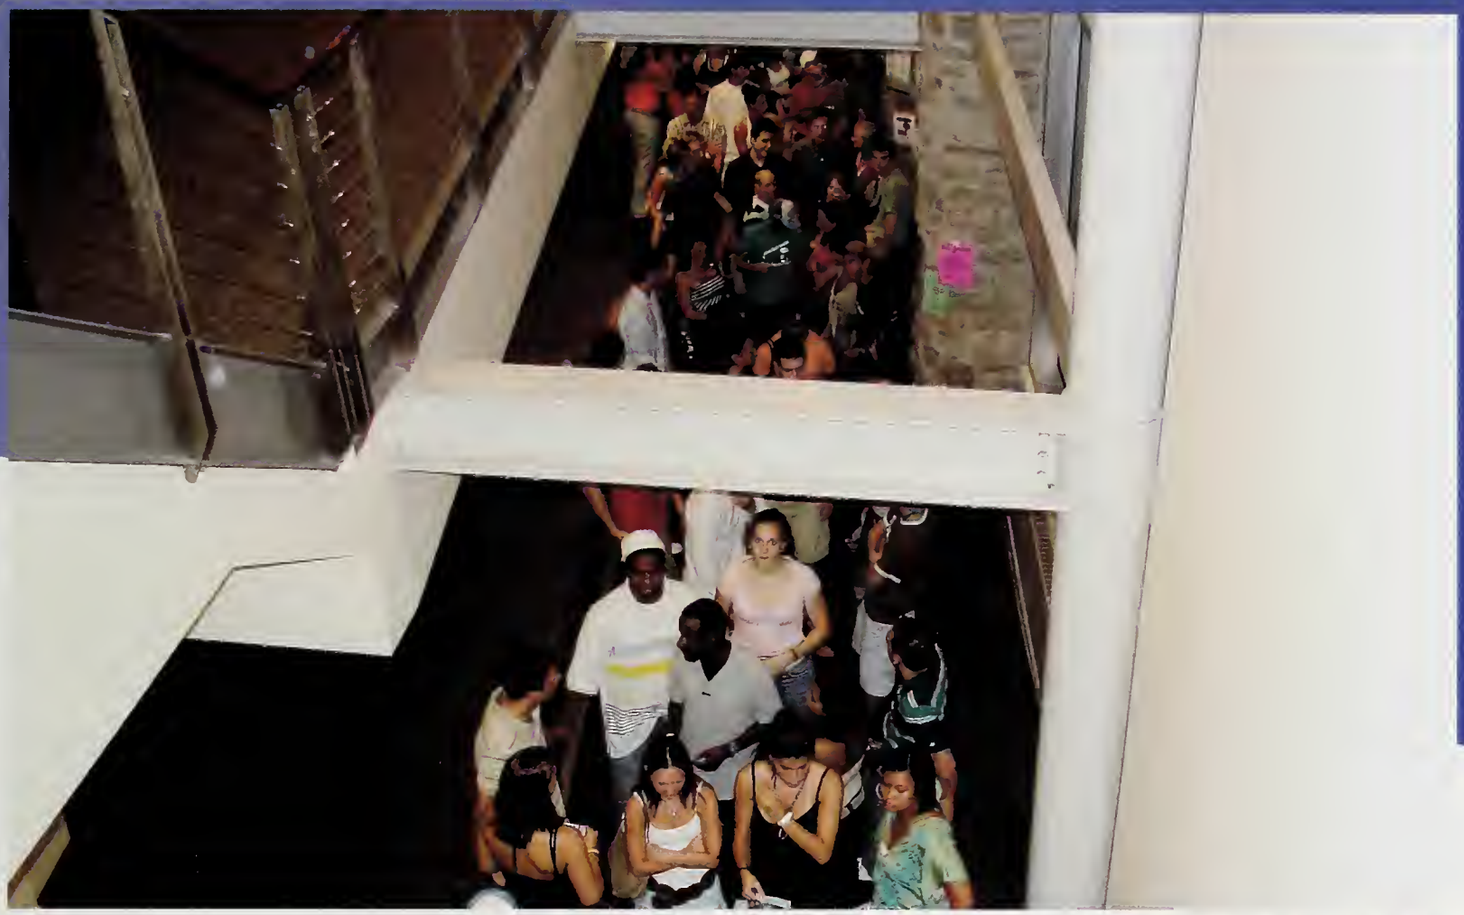
Some of the students went all out on their luau attire. Complete with leis and grass skirts, the luau dress code enhanced the Hawaiian experience.

Initium Week kicked off the 2005 school year with a many days full of activities organized by the Student Government Association. The Opening Luau gave the students a chance to get back into the swing of things with a Hawaiian style party on the Quad. Napoleon Dynamite played under the stars the following night.

On September 11th, students and faculty gathered outside the chapel for mass and a candlelight vigil to commemorate those who lost their lives four years ago. The activities fair gave the opportunity to new and returning students alike to explore and consider the goings-on for the new school year. Later that night, a dodgeball tournament entertained the both participants and spectators at the FAC.

In the typical Maryland tradition, a Crab Feast was planned to be held on the Quad with some of the Chesapeake's best shellfish. Due to inclement weather, the feast was moved indoors to McGuire Hall. Despite the change in venue, the feast was still a success. There was also a Thursday night coffeehouse and the senior class hosted a toga party for their first social of the year.

The week culminated with a special sold-out performance by Dane Cook at Reitz Arena. The week's activities kicked off the year with a bang and continued traditions that have become totally loco.



3,000 students waited in line to get into Reitz Arena as early twi hours before Dane Cook's performance. The line stretched from the Arena all the way to Boulder Cafe.

Dane Cook performed at a sold-out Reitz Arena. His physical comedy took the crowd by storm.

Students enjoy a feast of crabs at the annual Crab Feast. For many students, the Crab Feast was an opportunity to discover how to eat crabs.

Students representing India, China and the Phillipines cook and serve native food.

The USA table had a wide array of food, primarily consisting of entrees including fried chicken, macaroni and cheese and collard greens.

This student of Spanish descent helps a visitor to some of the traditional food that he prepared for the event.

[INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL]

tasting diversity

By: Joyce Ritz

During Initium Week, one of the biggest and most popular events is the International Festival. This festival has many tables that serve food from countries around the world. The purpose for International Festival is to give students, professors, or staff members who are either from or descendents of the representative countries the opportunity to cook and serve the food to other faculty, staff and students. This year the festival was held in McGuire Hall and had more countries than any other International Festival to date.

McGuire was full of hungry people looking to taste food from many different nations. Some of the countries represented were unknown to most visitors and therefore very popular because everyone wanted to try the unique food from that area. The participants who made the food also served it. They were there to explain the food to the patrons, tell them what everything was and even give out some recipe ideas to those who inquired. The International Festival was an opportunity for everyone on campus to learn more about the diverse background that is found on this campus, whether it is a student, professor or staff member.

Students crowd into McGuire Hall to sample food from the many cultures represented, including Liberia.

Ethiopia was one of the countries represented at the International Festival. There were some very interesting, little known countries represented at the event.

COSTUMES AND CANDY

students enjoy an array of halloween activities

From the haunted house in Campion to the appearance of carved pumpkins in dorm halls, Halloween was everywhere at Loyola. This holiday of mischief and tomfoolery started long before the 31st of October. During the week of Halloween, local schoolchildren were led around campus for some college style trick-or-treating. Besides bagfuls of candy, some kids managed to walk away with some typical college student cuisine - cups of dry soup and microwavable popcorn.

A trip to Six Flags Fright Fest was organized by Student Activities, two days prior to All Hallow's Eve. The thrill of roller coaster rides helped boost a festive spirit. It was a great way to get in the mood for some dare-taking and spooking.

As for Halloween night itself, many Loyola students migrated towards Fells Point. This popular Baltimore neighborhood was overrun by funny, scary, and unusual characters. A quartet of young men decided to dress as Tetris pieces while another tried his luck as a cheerleader.

Every possible get-up made an appearance at Fells Point, from the plethora of cowgirls to the band of medieval lords and ladies. A contest was held to award the best costume and music was provided by a local radio station. Most of the activities were held outside, in the heart of Fells Point. Even so, eateries and local hot spots were filled with hordes of people looking for a good time. To avoid the lines and confusion, many revelers opted to walk around and enjoy the show of costumes. All in all, Loyola students made the best of this popular holiday.

Freshmen girls from Newman Towers look forward to the start of festivities. Fairies and Santa's helpers were their themes of choice.

The ladies of Hopkins Court show off their superior carving skills. A ghost, bat and witch hat make an appearance on the pumpkins.

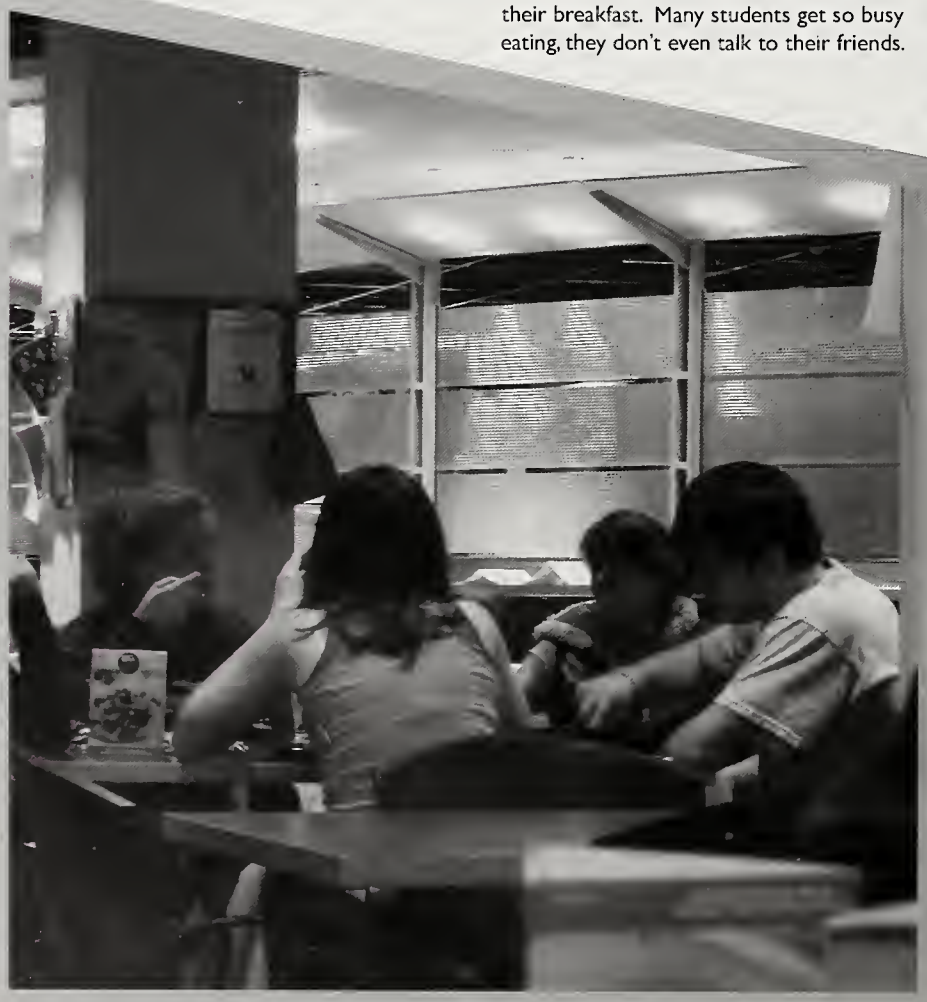
This group did not settle for the ordinary. Every person has a unique costume and they are ready to have a wild time.

Decorations like this skeleton were all over campus dorms. Some residents did not spare any details. From hanging cobwebs to strobe lights, the halls were a frightful place to be.

A group of students are relaxing after finishing their meals. One of the many campus police that frequent Midnight Breakfast join their conversation.

These girls use Midnight Breakfast as a great place to socialize, instead of the typical residence hall common areas. Many students go to Midnight Breakfast to see everyone.

These students are just starting to dig-in to their breakfast. Many students get so busy eating, they don't even talk to their friends.



[MIDNIGHT BREAKFAST]

curing midnight munchies with pancakes and bacon

By: Joyce Ritz

In great Loyola tradition some of the most popular activities held on campus are those that are free to the students and those involving food. Midnight Breakfast happens to combine these two favorites into one event spanning every weekend on campus. Friday and Saturday nights from midnight until two in the morning, students can venture down to Boulder Garden Cafe and enjoy a heaping spread of their favorite breakfast foods. The menu usually includes bacon, pancakes with syrup, potatoes, sometimes sausage, and always a fruit cup. Midnight Breakfast was started through Student Activities and their Late Night program, to give students alternatives to going out to bars, clubs or parties. The program has become immensely popular and is even done during summer freshmen orientation, to prepare students for some traditions they can look forward to. Crowds of students line up to show their ID cards and get a helping from the all-you-can-eat supply of food. The most crowded times tend to be in the beginning of the semester and during Finals Week. The lines can be so long at times they reach past the Ticket Box. Despite the lines, the rowdy people and available tables being sparce, the spirit of Midnight Breakfast and the fun had by all who attend, outnumbers the downsides. This is a great opportunity to meet up with friends, enjoy a meal, laugh really loud, meet new people and most importantly stay safe. And to top it all off...IT'S 100% FREE!

Alex Parker and Brendan Ledley serve themselves a large helping of some of the wide array of breakfast foods.

[FLAGS OF FURY]

freshmen and juniors dominate 2005 ffc

The hopeful sophomore team rushes the field with the greyhound showing his support. Sophomores went into this game with one win under their belt from the 2004 game.

Juniors celebrate their victory over the seniors. Their victory gives the class of 2007 two FFC win thus far.

By: Lindsay Bellomo

On November 11th, members of Loyola College packed Reitz Arena to kick off the annual FFC with a pep rally. The rally featured a performance from the cheerleading squad under strobe lights as well as an appearance from the men's and women's basketball teams. Representatives from each class took part in a jousting tournament which replaced the traditional coin toss to determine who received the first possession of each game. Foreshadowing their later victories, the freshman and juniors won first possession.

The following day, Loyola students packed the stands of Geppi-Akins field to cheer on their fellow classmates. Optimistic seniors were hoping to finally win after three consecutive losses at the Fall Football Classic but failed as the junior class upset them 18-6. This loss was devastating to the seniors who were forced to leave Loyola as the only class never to win a single FFC match. Freshmen crushed the sophomore team 20-0 and set themselves up for a potential "FFC dynasty," said freshmen class president Geoffrey Browning.

Halftime entertainment featured a football-throwing contest which gave junior Harry Harp and Freshman Jonathan Gomaz a chance to win a 2005 Pontiac if they could throw the ball through the car's window. Neither contestant won the prize but spirits were lifted and the crowd got pumped up for the second game by an exciting performance by the Loyola College Dance Team.

Ladies of the junior and senior classes battle to gain possession of the football. Determination is at its finest for the junior class who went on to win the game.

The freshman girls shut out the opposing sophomores in the first half. The freshmen boys kept up the lead, resulting in a crushing sophomore defeat.

The Loyola College Dance team performed between the two games. Their energy got the crowds excited for the junior vs. senior game.

The guests at the dinner party sing about Irish nationalism. This was an ongoing theme throughout the musical.

Bartell D'Arcy (freshman Colby Lemaster, from Loyola New Orleans), sings to Aunt Kate (senior Jen Fisher), Aunt Lily (senior Jessica Krenek), and Mary Jane (freshman Tania Ziegler) before the guests leave.

Gabriel (sophomore Dan Procaccini) sings with his wife Greta (senior Gracie McGrath) during her performance at the Misses Morkans' dinner party.

WAKING THE DEAD

musical adaption of James Joyce's famous short story

By Joyce Ritz

The fall play this year was a musical adaptation of James Joyce's The Dead. Loyola professor James Bunzli directed the show. The story was originally a short story and was adapted for Broadway by Richard Nelson and Shaun Davey. The Dead takes place in Ireland in the winter and everything is covered in snow. The Misses Morkans, played by Jessica Krenek and Jen Fisher, are hosting a dinner party for some close friends and their nephew, Gabriel Conroy, played by Dan Procaccini, and his wife, Greta, played by Gracie McGrath. The night is filled with lively dancing and singing by the guests and house servants. Each character has a performance: either dancing, singing, or reciting. The actors and actresses did a superb job of singing and acting. It is not until Greta sings a song from her adolescence that the play turns melancholy. She is quickly transported into a memory from her past, but no one, including her husband, knows what she is remembering. It is not until Gabriel and Greta go to the hotel for the night that it is revealed that Greta was remembering her first love, Michael Furey. The music and dance numbers added much life to James' story, which is filled with death and sadness. The dialogue, particularly from Freddy, played by Tommy Witty, and Molly Ivors, played by Allison Barkley, provided much needed comic relief and made the audience laugh at multiple moments during the show.

Greta sings about Michael Furey, a boy she used to love when she was younger. The music at the party reminded her of her younger years.

The guests of the Misses Morkans' dinner party sat and intently listened to Gabriel's speech. Gabriel worried about his speech through the entire night.

[HOOTIE IN THE HOUSE]

a "time" well spent at the fall concert

By Michelle Tumolo

Each year the Student Government Association presents a fall concert at Loyola. This year, we welcomed Mark Bryan, Dean Felber, Jim Sonefeld, and Darius Tucker; better known as Hootie and the Blowfish.

The band got together when they were freshmen at the University of South Carolina. Five years later they got their first record deal and started producing the music we still love to listen to today. The sound of Hootie and the Blowfish is an intricate blend of rock, blues, soul, funk, and pop with a slight taste of country.

Aside from the countless number of students who attended the concert in a packed Reitz Arena, there were many elder fans who came out to see an amazing concert. Fans young and old rushed the stage while others sat in the bleachers and watched from afar. The band opened with a few old favorites and introduced their new album, Looking for Lucky, which seemed to please the masses.

By the end of the concert, everyone was on their feet singing alone to some well-known cover songs. Hootie and company covered an Aerosmith classic, "Walk This Way" as well as some new favorites: Kayne West's "Golddigger" and Nelly's "Ride Wit Me". It took two encores for the crowd to get their fill. The band ended the concert with "I Only Wanna Be With You." One song the concert would have been incomplete without.

The view from the bleachers showed an enthusiastic crowd and a perfectly lit stage. From near or far the show was a pleasure to watch.

Hootie and the Blowfish gave an amazing performance that started and ended with a bang.

Jim "Soni" Sonefeld on the drums sports the logo from the band's new CD, Looking for Lucky.

Mark Brian and Darius Tucker rock out to their second song of the night, Time, an oldie but a goodie. Everyone was on their feet singing along.

SO HOT RIGHT NOW!

TOG

'TIS THE SEASON

a festival of lessons and carols

By: Mary Murphy

On Friday, December 9, 2005, students, faculty, and members of the community gathered together to celebrate the Christmas season at Lessons and Carols, one of the year's most anticipated events. Held annually in the Alumni Memorial Chapel, Lessons and Carols combines traditional Christmas music with scripture readings. The Chapel Choir performed a wide range of seasonal carols, and a number of readers, including President Father Linnane, recited lessons from the Bible.

Many members of the Loyola Community gathered in the beautifully decorated and candle-lit Chapel to enjoy the service. In addition to the choir's performances, the liturgical dancers performed choreographed routines through the aisles of the chapel. As done in past years, students brought gifts to donate to the "Presence for Christmas" program. The program, sponsored by the Center for Values and Service and the sophomore class, collects gifts for underprivileged children in the Baltimore area during the holiday season.

As the crowd was invited to join the choir in the last verses of "Hark the Herald Angels Sing," it was clear that the Christmas spirit was alive during this year's celebration of Lessons and Carols.

[illegible] joins the choir in song [illegible] the rendition of Christmas favorite, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing." The crowd enjoyed singing along throughout the service.

The Loyola College Liturgical Dancers perform on stage as the choir sings in accompaniment. The dancers helped to make the Lessons and Carols experience all the more entertaining for the large audience.

The Chapel Choir (above) sang a variety of carols, which ranged from traditional favorites to more modern, upbeat arrangements. The crowd enjoyed hearing the new songs, as well as the more traditional carols.

The decorated and lit Christmas tree (left) was the centerpiece of the Alumni Memorial Chapel during the festival. The beautiful decorations helped enhance the mood of the event.

Throughout the service, the Chapel glowed with candle light, helping to promote the Christmas spirit and set a festive tone among the participants.

Dan McGovern,
Brian Manley, Tom Convery, and
Paul Cubita pose together before the event.

Joelle Centani and John Savrides take a break from dancing to take a picture.

Allison Arbeeny, Maureen Hogan, and Caitlin
Kolarsick pose before the night begins.

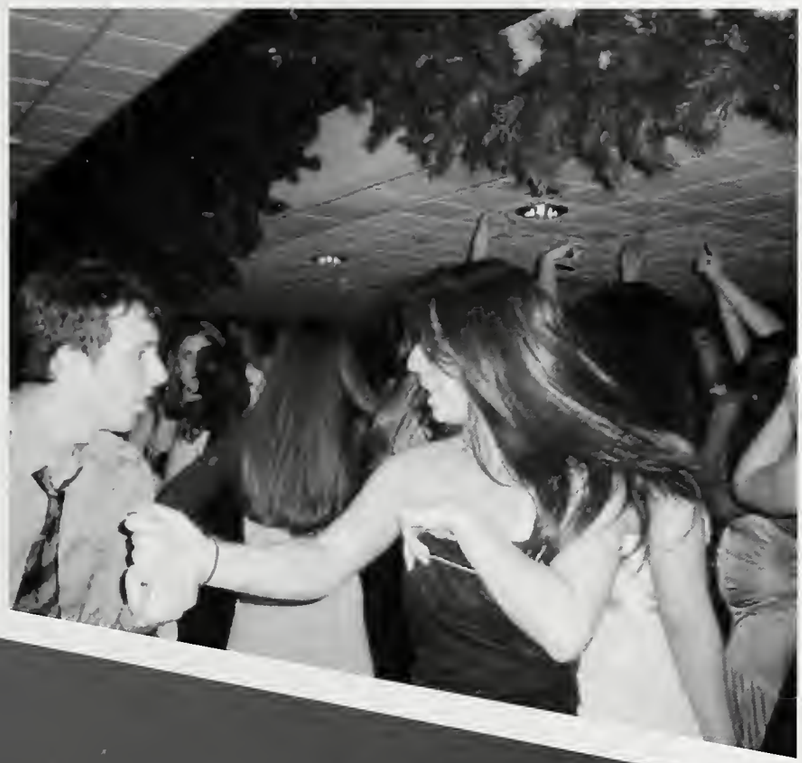
ANNUAL SNOWBALL

celebrating in style

By Michelle Turnolo

The First Annual Snowball was a great success. The locale was quite picturesque, featuring a view of Camden Yards. The food was delicious: an appetizer style cheese bar greeted the students at the beginning of the night followed by a pasta bar for dinner and a make-your-own sundae bar for dessert. The DJ played a variety new music and party favorites while everyone danced the night away on a not too spacious dance floor. An exciting surprise was the appearance of Santa Claus. Students got a kick out of dancing and taking pictures with the hero of the Christmas season..

The Resident Affairs Council hosted this event with all students in mind. It was an occasion open to all current Loyola students. There was a great turn out and hopefully the Snowball will prove popular throughout the years.



Students sit on Santa's lap. Sophomore Kim Mansfield dressed as Santa in honor of the season.

Students danced the night away at the first annual Snowball. The dance floor might have been tight but everyone squeezed.

[PROJECT MEXICO]

service south of the border

By: Michele Tumolo

Project Mexico is a program that sends Loyola College students to places all over Mexico to work with underprivileged children and communities. The students take pride and pleasure in volunteering their time over Christmas vacation to help people in run-down communities and children in similar situations.

The first night, the students arrived in Tijuana where they spent the night at an orphanage for boys called Rancho Nazareth. Here, the students played soccer and did other activities with the children before dinner. They presented the boys with Christmas gifts which they had brought.

The next stop was Los Niños. In this program the students worked with different communities to build sidewalks for different schools in the area. They mixed concrete and laid it down. Their reward was a home-cooked Mexican lunch. Evenings in the program consisted of a speaker and a discussion before dinner.

The group took a trip to the border where over 4,000 Mexicans have died trying to cross the desert. Next, they visited an orphanage for girls whom they also brought gifts. They stopped by La Casa Immigrante, a house for those who are looking to cross the border. It is a place where travelers can stay overnight and prepare themselves for the journey. The students ate with the people here and learned about the trials of their lives.

A good portion of the trip was fun-filled with parties and dancing and piñatas. Another part was solemn: filled with grief and coping with the poverty and underprivileged in the communities that the program visited.

The Project Mexico program team lounges around while taking a break from their hard work.

Greg Pace hanging with some niños at an orphanage. The students spent time with children and gave them presents.

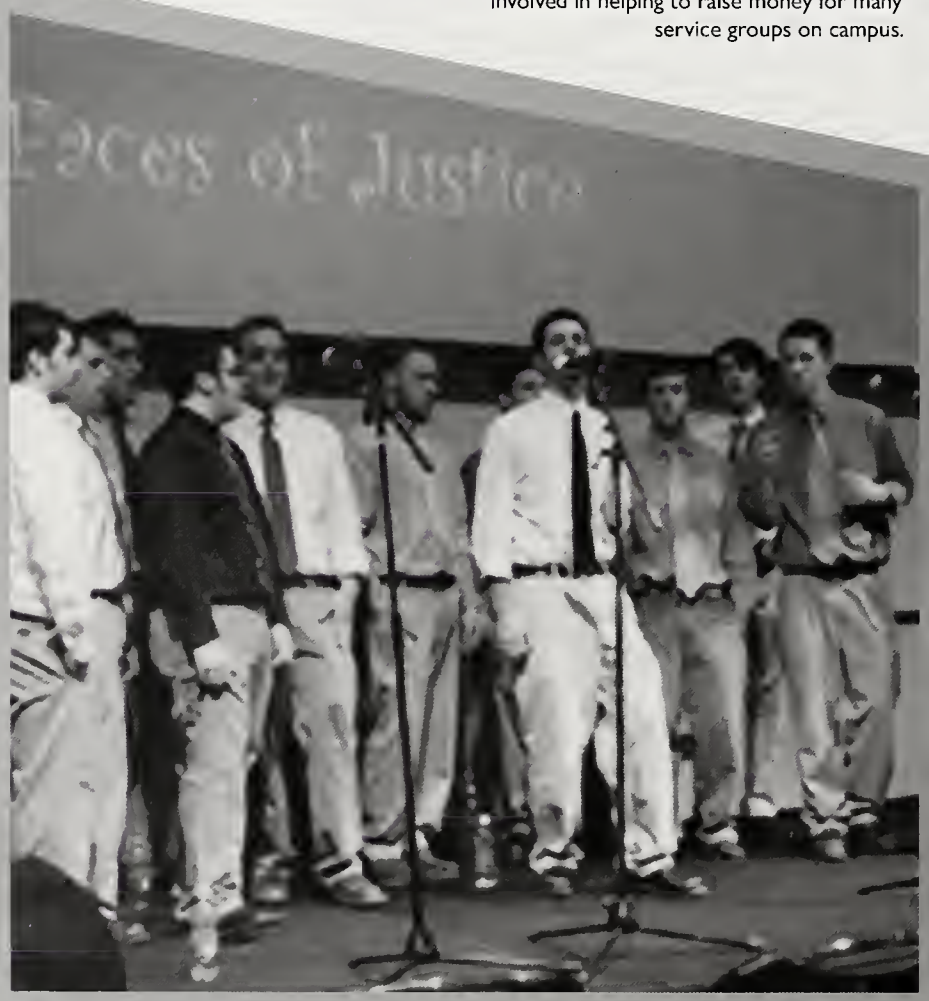
The team hard at work laying cement for one of four schools that they built sidewalks for. This was one of many projects the team participated in.

A few members of the team pose by their hard work in one of the Mexican communities. They visited many different neighborhoods around the area.

The female a cappella group, The Belles, sung a collection of songs to benefit the Spring Break Outreach program.

Geary for President, one of Loyola's favorite student bands, perform here for everyone's enjoyment and to raise awareness of the Spring Break Outreach program.

The Chimes, the male a cappella group also performed at this function. They are often involved in helping to raise money for many service groups on campus.



[SBO BENEFIT CONCERT]

singing for service

By: Joyce Ritz

Every year the Spring Break Outreach program has a large fundraiser to raise money to support and supply those students that chose to spend their spring break in service, helping the less fortunate. This year, SBO had a huge concert for the school that featured some of Loyola's favorite entertainment. Geary For President, a student band, headlined the show. After their awesome show that showcased some of their original music there was a very touching and poignant short film highlighting the essence of Spring Break Outreach. The film was a compilation of pictures from previous years and interviews with participants. It really brought out the reason why so many people devote their time to this cause, and why it is important that this program is supported. Then, each site leader got on the stage and they did an improv skit that had the whole audience rolling on the floor. Following the skit were performances from The Belles and The Chimes, Loyola's female and male a cappella groups. These two groups volunteer to help SBO every year by doing a benefit show. Overall, the concert had a great turn out and a lot of money was raised and all for a great cause; to help those who need it most.

The Spring Break Outreach site leaders introduce themselves and perform a very impromptu but hilarious skit. The show highlighted many of the students' talents.

[REACHING BEYOND]

a week of service, a lifetime of change

By Lindsay Bellomo

Students went to the Gulf Coast to help clean up areas that were destroyed by Hurricane Katrina. Biloxi, Mississippi was one of the sites for this year's Spring Break Outreach..

Students take a picture with people from their service group. A close bond was formed over the week and important life lessons were learned.

Every year students choose to spend their break doing service instead of spending it the on a beach or going on a cruise. Spring Break Outreach is a week-long immersion experience that offers students a chance to see life outside the privileged Loyola bubble and make a change in the lives of people who are less fortunate. For one week, small groups of students scatter to different sites, mostly on the east coast, to help those people and communities who are victims of extreme poverty, hunger, homelessness, and disabilities. This year the Center for Values and Service sent volunteers to sites in Maryland, New Jersey, Virginia, Washington D.C., along with three sites in the Gulf Coast ravaged by Hurricane Katrina. Volunteers spent their week cleaning out and repairing homes and community centers as well as connecting with members of the towns and their fellow group members.

Students immersed themselves in the lives of other people in order to help any way they can in order to better someone else's life. As usual, the students who took part in this program took something away with them that is much more valuable than the service alone. They took away a greater understanding of the suffering that others live with everyday. Along with this comes a greater sense of how fortunate some of us are and a true appreciation of the importance of living as men and women for others.

Volunteers gather for a group photo after they spent a night reflecting on their experience.

A student in Camden, New Jersey helps renovate a run down building. Students worked all week on a variety of tasks.

Above, students take a break from painting. The work in Newark, New Jersey involved a lot of painting in fun yellow coveralls.

The Vagabond, senior Matt Eduardo, walks down the stairs approaching Virginia, played by senior Courtney Dowdell. Virginia was the flirtatious female character of "The Tavern."

Li'l Bit, played by junior Liz Carlson tries to confront her family about her secret "drives" with her uncle, in "How I Learned to Drive."

The Vagabond in "The Tavern" looks down upon Violet, played by sophomore Kendra Richard. Violet was one of the most dramatic characters in the play, prone to screaming and fainting.

SPRING PLAYS

audiences experience raw emotion and drama

By Joyce Ritz

Two of the plays shown in McManus Theater during the spring semester were "The Tavern" and "How I Learned to Drive."

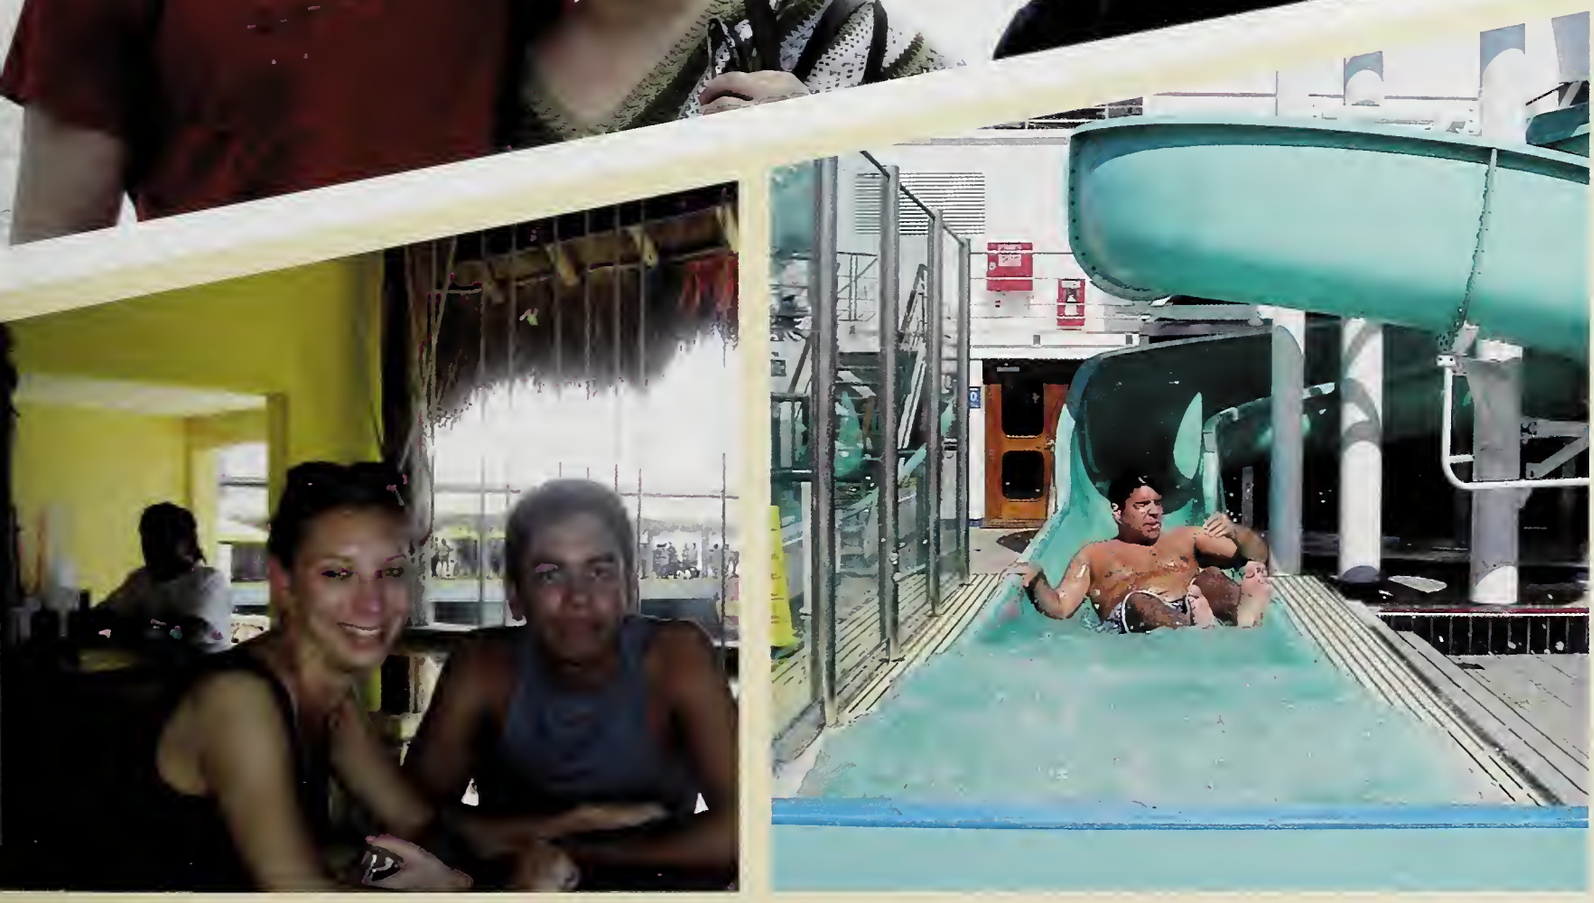
The story of "The Tavern" is how a vagabond, played by senior Matt Eduardo, reeks havoc on a tavern and its guests. The play featured many humorous moments as well to add comedy to an otherwise dark and serious drama. The cast worked very well together. They made the play work both dramatically and comedically, particularly when it came to the character Willum, played by junior, Rob Sampogna. The set design was very admired with a strategically placed hearth on the front of the stage and two levels so the actors did not block each other. The play overall was very intelligent and surprising, leaving the audience highly amused.

"How I Learned to Drive" is a play about a female character Li'l Bit, played by junior Liz Carlson, dealing with being sexually abused by her uncle, played by sophomore Dan Procaccini. The play takes a different take than expected when it turns out to be about forgiveness, understanding and putting the past behind. Driving is a metaphor used throughout the play either as a transitional sound piece indicating direction or the excuse the uncle uses to get Li'l Bit alone. The casting was absolutely fabulous as all the characters came together to really display the disturbing and emotional images this intelligent play had to offer.

Li'l Bit laments about her abuse in "How I Learned to Drive." The play proved to be a very dramatic and emotional show.

[SPRING BREAK]

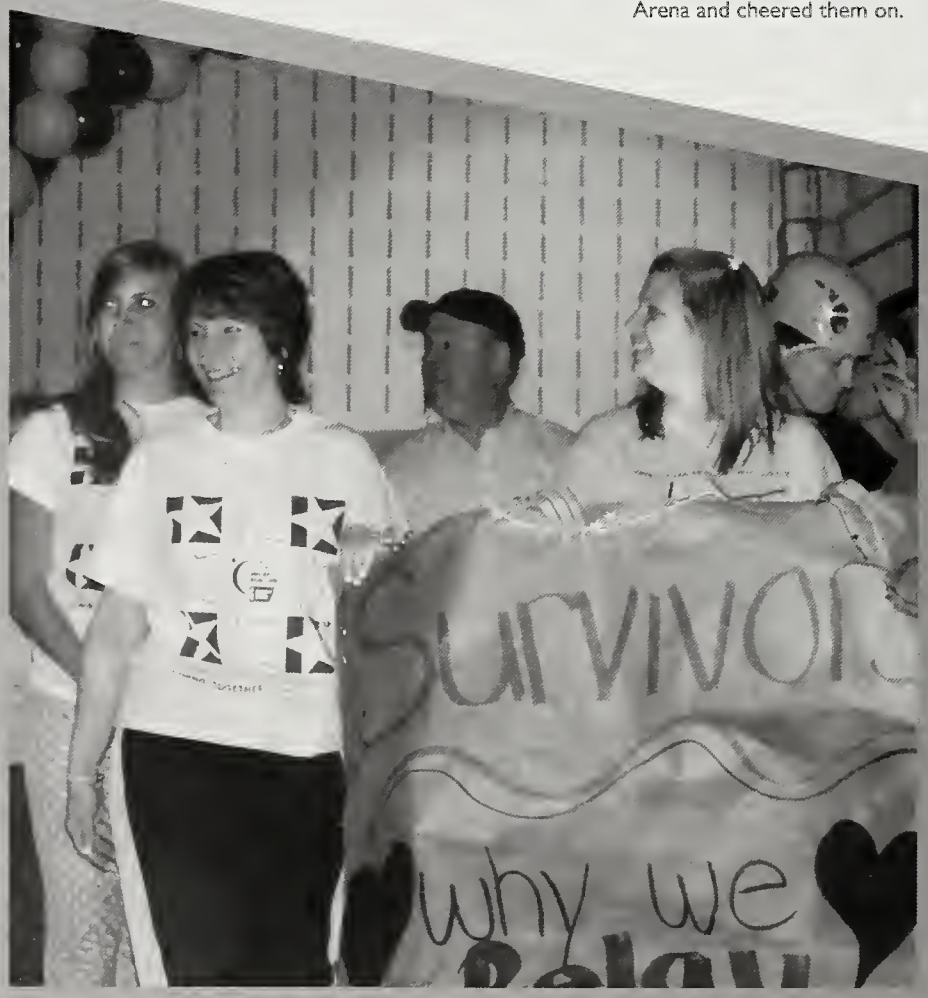
a week to get away from it all



Each team was assigned a "campsite" in Reitz Arena. Teams brought tents, sleeping bags, chairs and decorations to emphasize their theme. At the end of the night, an award for best campsite was announced.

The luminaries contain names of family and friends who suffered from cancer. They were lighted in a ceremony, followed by silent laps.

The first lap of the night was made by relayers who are cancer survivors. As they walked around the track, those present lined Reitz Arena and cheered them on.



RELAY FOR LIFE

taking great strides

By: Joyce Ritz

Relay for Life is a national event that raises money and awareness for of the threat and consequences of all forms of cancer. Participants walk for twelve hours around a track representing the idea that cancer never sleeps. Loyola's relay brought together many people from the college community including students, faculty, staff and neighbors. At 7 a.m. when the night was over, it was reported that Loyola's site raised over 130,000 dollars for cancer patients and research, a record high for the school's two year participation in Relay for Life. There were many things to do while relaying. Many campus bands performed throughout the night for students who were taking a break from their walking. Food was provided as well as water, coffee and soda. Games were played in Reitz Arena as everyone was walking, including 'Double Dare' and 'The Newlyfriends Game.' Teams also had much fun on their own. They had the option to choose a theme, to dress in costume, decorate and/or fund-raise from their site. There were many different and interesting themes seen at the relay, as well as a variety of fundraising efforts. There was an overall sense of pride and accomplishment among all the participants as they spent one whole night contributing to the fight against cancer.

At the beginning of the night many students started out the relay. Even though energy waned and feet became sore, participation and enthusiasm stayed constant for the whole event.

[GRACIOUS GARDENS]

the hot spot on the west side

By: Joyce Ritz

Avila Hall is home to the study lounge and a multi-purpose room for the Gardens area residences. The multipurpose room contains a full size billiards table and projection tv in it for residents.

Between Claver Hall and Dorothy Day Hall there is a small courtyard with picnic tables where students are often seen socializing.

The Gardens area consists of four different buildings: Avila Hall, Bellarmine Hall, Claver Hall and Dorothy Day Hall. These buildings house primarily juniors. These apartments are popular among students because of their large, spacious rooms and the close residential community it creates among the students who live in the area. Dorothy Day Hall is home to the Grady House special interest community, creating an even stronger bond among the students who applied to live in the house.

These buildings contain more than apartments. Bellarmine Hall holds three student-run production offices; the WLOY radio station, the Greyhound office and the Evergreen Annual yearbook office. Dorothy Day Hall contains the graphics computer lab in which classes are held and the WLOY television station which received a brand new neon this year. Avila Hall holds the study lounge and a multipurpose room for the Gardens area. Students use these rooms for many different purposes. The study lounge serves as a quiet place to study or as a meeting place for collaboration. The multipurpose room serves as a hang-out with its full-size billiards table and projection tv. The multipurpose room also provides a gathering space for the programs sponsored by the Gardens area Student Life staff.

Gardens is located conveniently near Primo's and the other buildings of the west side of campus, but still creates its own atmosphere with the small courtyards that are configured between the buildings. Some of the areas are adorned with picnic tables and areas for students to gather around with each other and talk or play games. Despite having four separate buildings, the residents in the four separate buildings come together as one community.

All the apartments in the Gardens area are configured in a similar fashion. Most accommodate six residents and are equipped with eat-in kitchens and living rooms.

Bellarmine Hall not only houses resident students but is also home to the WLOY radio station, the Greyhound office and the Evergreen Annual yearbook office.

Dorothy Day Hall is a popular spot for more than just those who reside in it . The graphics computer lab and television studio are located in this building.

Some of the girls from the fourth floor of Hammerman stop to pose for a picture before heading out for some fun.

Even as freshmen, students have the opportunity to hold leadership positions. These Butler and Hammerman girls are also Outdoor Adventure Experience leaders.

Pat Finnegan and Kevin Albanese are both residents on Hammerman's second floor. The style of living in the residence halls promote a very strong sense of closeness among students.

BUTLER AND HAMMERMAN traditional livin'

by: Jenna Mizia

Bulter and Hammerman are Loyola's traditional style freshmen residence halls. Located on the east side of campus, they provide an excellent opportunity for freshmen to make and live with a close group of friends. The buildings are designed to create a tight-knit community. Programs are planned for both individual floors and entire buildings by resident assistants, to strengthen bonds throughout the year.

The rooms are either doubles or quads with shared kitchen and bathroom spaces. Each hall also has a television lounge, a computer lab, a study lounge, and laundry facilities. Hammerman houses the Fava Chapel. These buildings are co-ed by floor. The freshmen students in these dorms are located very close to the library.

Many of the students find that they become extremely close to the other residents on their floor, and, in many cases, continue to live with the same friends sophomore year. The strong sense of friendship and community is seen not only on the colorfully painted walls of quotes, but also through the welcome atmoshpere generated by the students.

Freshmen members of Loyola's cross country team spend some quality time off the track in Hammerman.

Some of the Hammerman second floor crew get ready to attend the February Freshmen Formal.

[CLASSY CAMPION]

a great place to call home

By: Mary Murphy and Margo Weiner

Campion Tower is a residential community consisting of freshmen and sophomores. This year, residents quickly made use of the newly renovated courtyard area in the rear of the building. Inside the building, a newly renovated front lobby and completely new rear lobby made for a more welcoming entrance.

Numerous activities were held throughout the year for residents based upon their interests. Some events that were coordinated by the Campion Tower Student Life staff were fundraisers for charities, floor dinners, outings to various places, and a special VIP night at a Loyola women's basketball game.

Many residents of the building took the opportunity to get to know each other better on a more spontaneous basis. Since all the apartments in the building feature full kitchens, breakfasts, lunches, and dinners with friends were common. Although a new recipe turned disaster often threatened to set off a fire alarm, the residents showcased their cooking talents to their friends and occasionally a visiting family member.

The Resident Affairs Council was an active presence in the building. Meeting weekly to plan events and discuss issues, the group helped ensure that the needs of Campion Tower residents were met. For Valentine's Day, members of the Resident Affairs Council sold candy-grams to raise money for end of the year events. Through the participating of the residents with the Student Life staff, Campion Tower has quickly become one of the most desired places to live on the west side of campus.

Renardi Pudjoprawoto paints a mural on the 6th floor of Campion Tower.

Graduate Resident Coordinator Missy Smith takes a break between tasks. Missy worked hard to ensure the continued well being of Campion Tower residents.

Heather Mizzer, a Campion desk assistant, is one of many students who are involved around the building in one capacity or another.

Sophomore Jana Brooks, a sixth floor resident, decorates her floor by painting a tiger. This is one of the many walls ornamented by students this past year.

Primo's is a fine dining establishment located on the bottom floor of Newman Towers. Students have option to eat in the dining area or carry-out.

The Newman Towers are also home to Upper Primo's which is newly equip with pool tables, foosball tables, recliners, and plasma screen TVs.

The new security measures require that each student "swipe in" with a desk assistant before entering Newman Towers.

[TOWERING NEWMAN]

living in style

By: Michele Tumolo

Newman Towers is on the west side of campus. It is the only building on campus with two towers. That's a whole lotta living space. Not only do the towers give home to over 900 students, it is open to students of every grade level. Newman Towers provide furniture, kitchens equip with ovens, stoves, and refrigerators. Semesterly room checks are made by maintenance to make sure the rooms are in tip top shape.

One of the advantages of living in Newman is that you are right above Primo's. That means there is no need to leave the building to get your food. Students also have the luxury of going back to their rooms to eat their meal.

New to Newman Towers this year is an enhanced Upper Primo's. Thanks to the Student Government Association, three huge plasma screen televisions have been installed along with two brand new pool tables and two foosball tables. There are also extremely comfortable new recliners on which students can watch the new TVs as well as relax. This new environment in Upper Primo's is a great place to hang out at any time of the day. One can always find people racking up the balls or watching TV.

A new improvement to Newman Towers is the enhanced security measures. Instead of students swiping in directly, they must go to a desk assistant positioned at the entrance of each tower. This new tactic keeps the residence halls safer and ensures that only those who live in Newman and their guests enter the building.

The famous green awning that covers both stairways to the entrance to Newman Towers.

[CHARMING COURTSIDE]

a great place to call home

By: Lindsay Bellomo

Courtside houses the most diverse population of students on campus, ranging from the freshmen to seniors. Each section of residence halls has an area outside for gathering with friends, having barbecues, playing football, frisbee, or volleyball in the sand pit behind Southwell. Freshmen live in Hopkins Court which features the newest traditional doubles and triples. Each student shares a bathroom with other students in their wing and each floor has their own kitchen. Hopkins also houses a large meeting room as well as a computer lounge.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors occupy the rest of Courtside in walk up apartments. Southwell, Seton, and Lange offer two or three bedroom apartments which house between four and six people. Apartments include a full kitchen, one or two private bathrooms as well as a dining and common room. These buildings give students a greater sense of freedom as well as the feeling of what real Baltimore apartments are like. A few lucky seniors have the option of living in the Lange townhouses located on North Charles Street. These are the only residences that have two levels in each unit.

Courtside also includes special housing options such as the Stonewall house in Seton which houses members of the GLBTA. Besides housing, the Office of Student Life, the Health Center, and the Women's Center are also located in Courtside.

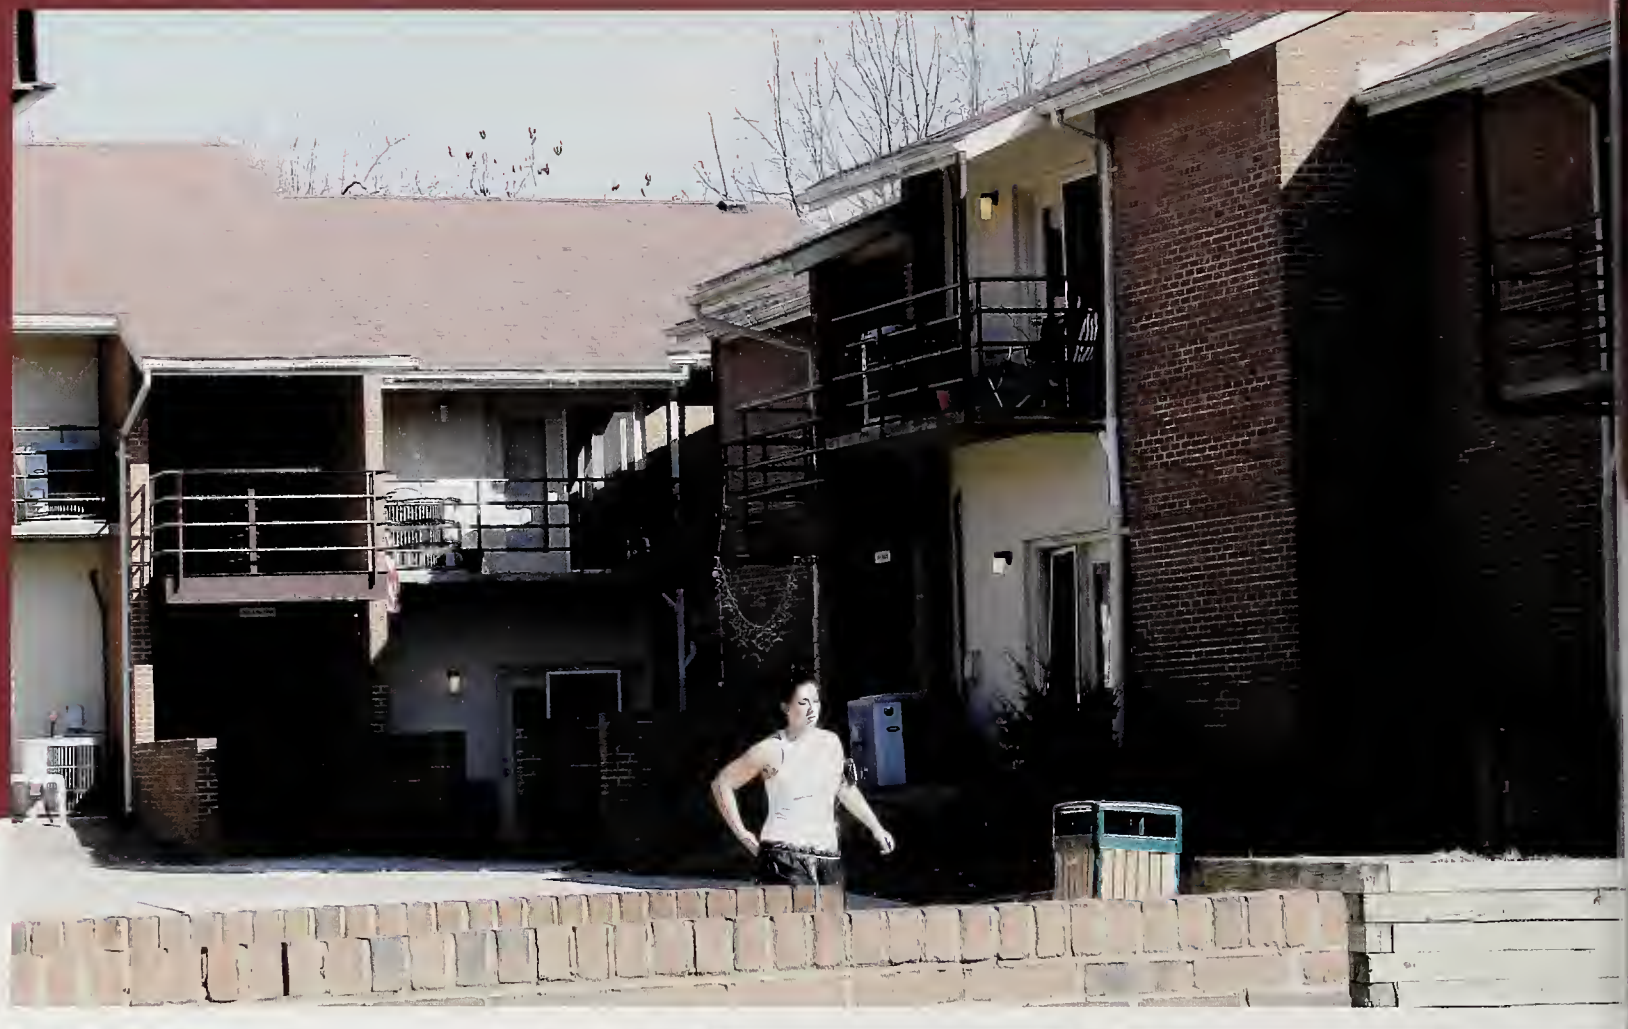
Windows from the townhouses of Lange Court overlook other areas of Courtside.

The grassy yard behind Southwell Hall has the much to offer. Students pack this area during sunny days to enjoy barbecues and beach volleyball.

Lange Court offers a suite apartments to sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Seniors also have the option to live in townhouses. The Courtside study lounge is also in Lange Court.

Hopkins houses freshmen in the Honors program. These newly renovated traditional style dorms house two to three people per room.

Sophomores, juniors, and seniors reside in Seton Court, located directing on Cold Spring Lane and North Charles Street. The Health Center and Women's Center are also located here.



Ahern has a lawn area where picnic tables are set up and there is easy access to the rest of senior housing, emphasizing the close-knit environment.

The McAuley courtyard creates the perfect social environment. You can see everyone's apartment from the center and is the perfect area to get together with neighbors.

One of the perks of living in McAuley is getting a room with a balcony. Students are often seen sitting outside talking to roommates or screaming across the courtyard. Students often put patio chairs and barbeques on their balconies.

[SENIOR HOUSING]

livin' it up on the east side

By: Joyce Ritz

On the east side of campus, past the freshmen dorms, past the library there is a small little community where there is only one rule to live there: YOU MUST BE A SENIOR. This area has three apartment buildings: Ahern, McAuley and Aquinas. McAuley is known for their rooms with balconies and patios. The apartments form a private courtyard where picnic tables are set up, creating a very social atmosphere. Ahern is the first building seen while approaching the senior section from the library. These apartment buildings create a friendly environment among their residents. Because of the small number of apartments in each stair well, neighbors get to know each other quickly. Ahern has a lawn area with picnic tables where students are often seen lounging around or playing outdoor games. Aquinas is the final building in the set of senior housing. Situated next to the off-campus apartment building, Gallagher—Aquinas gives the students who live there easy access to York Road and other popular destinations. Seniors strive to live on this side of campus because of its exclusiveness. It is the perfect place for seniors to just be around their close friends and those that they will soon be graduating with for one more year of fun and memories.

The back side of Ahern is the first thing to see while approaching the solely senior section of campus.

Aquinas is the farthest senior apartment building on campus, situated next to motor pool and York Road. These apartments are some of the newest on campus.

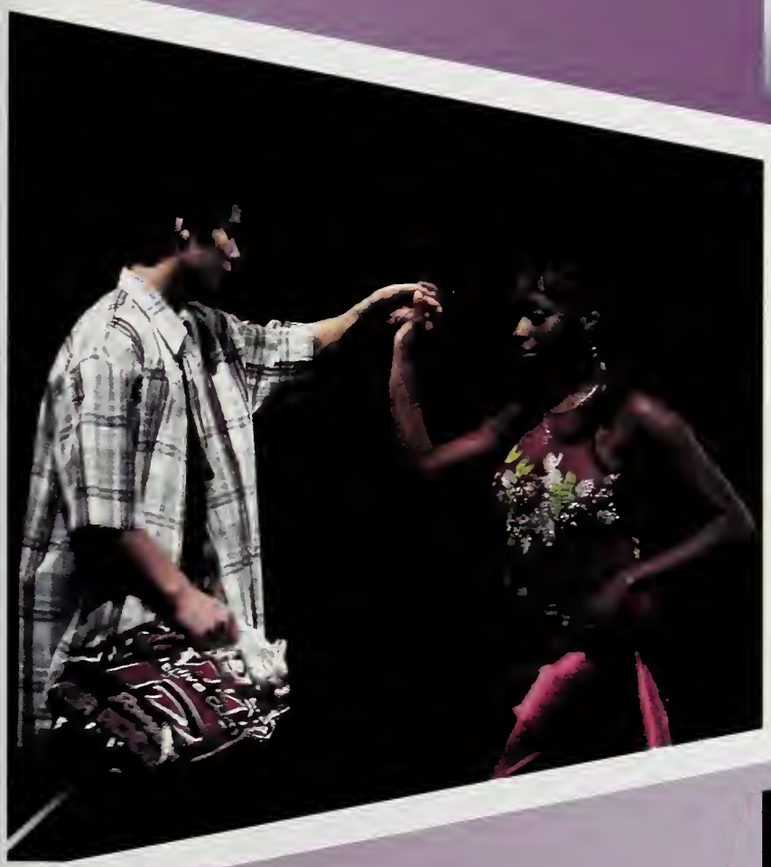
[HIGH FASHION

the best of local designers

Joyce Ritz

One of the most anticipated events of spring is the Black Student Association's Fashion Show. The eighth annual show took place this year in Reitz Arena, which offered a bigger runway, more seats, and an awesome view of the event. The show is completely run and performed by Loyola students. Tamika Jones, Marie Lawless, and Jasmine Jenkins organized and directed the entire show and even had some time to model a few outfits. The show was divided into four different scenes: Where You From?, Mod Nouveau, Fusion, Strut, and Up in Da' Club, featuring appropriately themed clothing from local designers and stores as well as some Loyola student-produced clothing. The scenes were directed by students and featured dancing, acting and lots of flirting. The models were all student volunteers who worked long and hard for most of the semester in preparation for the show. They were serious but also had much fun strutting their stuff on the runway for their peers, Loyola staff, and many people from the general public.

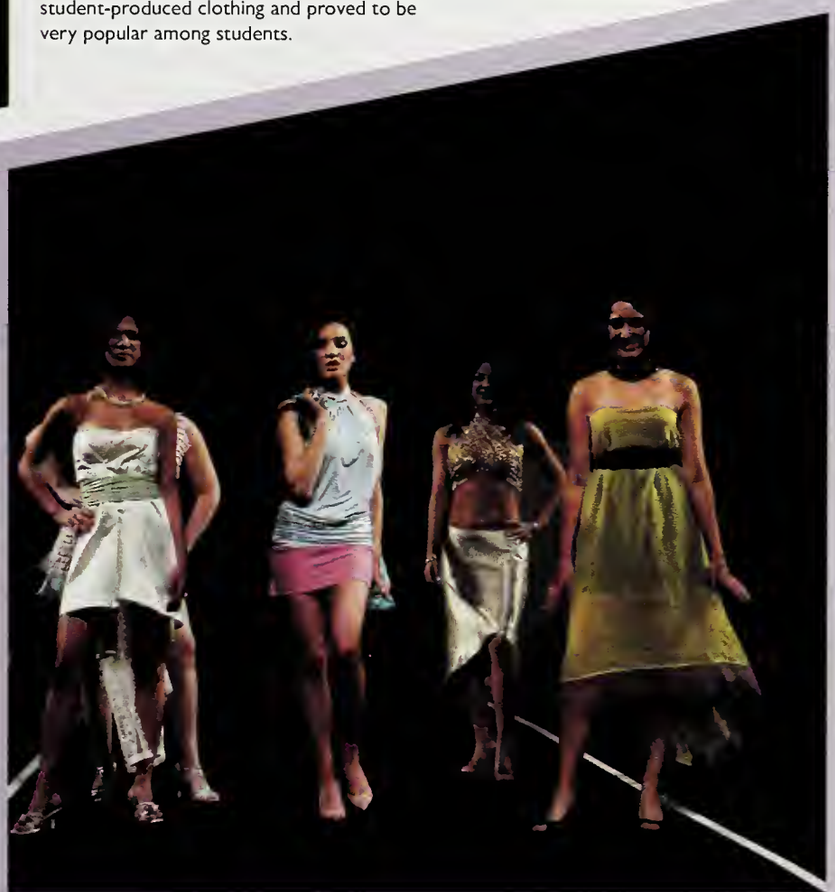
One of the themes of the Fashion Show was clothing from different cities. In this scene, these girls are representing our own Baltimore.



Lights, wild backgrounds, and dancers decorated the runway as the models showed off the clothing. Many of the scenes featured experimental outfits by local designers.

Each scene was directed and choreographed by Loyola students. They told a story based on the clothing and the theme of the show. The models and the audience had a lot of fun with the acting.

These outfits were designed by Loyola students. An entire set of the show was dedicated to student-produced clothing and proved to be very popular among students.



Posing by their caricature, this pair enjoys one of the many free activities available throughout the day. Other offerings included balloon animals and henna tattoos.

One of the highlights of Loyolapalooza was the Drop Zone ride. It was obviously popular as there was a constant line of thrill seekers.

The colors of spring were everywhere as volunteers help decorate the Quad with colorful balloons. The day was clear and sunny - perfect weather for the event.

LOYOLA PALOOZA

great music, food, and friends

By Michelle Tumolo

The 5th annual Loyolapalooza, held on April 30th, was the perfect end to the '05-'06 school year. Before the stress of finals week arrived, students had the privilege of enjoying a day completely devoted to fun organized by The Student Government Association. The outdoor event started with student bands Bucket of Fun, Geary for President, and Jump the Gun. They all won the prime spots by placing in the top three at the Battle of the Bands. The main attraction was Blues Traveler, best known for their 1994 single "Run Around."

But music was not the only thing going on at this end-of-the-year celebration. A free BBQ was provided along with typical carnival events. Inflatable games included The Shooting Shower, a basketball shooting game that sprayed its players with water after every missed shot, and High Striker, a game that challenges two players to get their balls in their respective nets before the other player, all while attached to one another via a stretchy cord. Of course, there were the old favorites like the Gladiator Joust and a thrilling ride called Drop Zone. Students welcomed the fact that everything was free; keeping them coming to the Quad from noon to six. The warm weather of the day added to the good times everyone had while at Loyolapalooza.

Blues Traveler, the headlining band, entertained the crowd for about 90 minutes. The audience enjoyed the concert by lounging on the Quad, rocking by the stage, and even crowd surfing.

[LAST AND FINAL WEEK]

some much needed break time

These students are spending their study time outside where it's warm. They have many things to keep them occupied including food and school books.

This group is taking a complete break from studying. Instead of hitting the books they are hitting the court in a volleyball tournament.

By Joyce Ritz

The last week of the academic year can be one of the most stressful and the most enjoyable times of the year. Students are very busy studying for finals, deciding class schedules for the next year, packing their belongings, and saying goodbye to friends. Despite all the stress and quick pace of this time of the year, students still find ways to relax and have fun. Many students find and make their own enjoyment, but there are also school sponsored activities created to help everyone unwind during finals and move-out week. There are barbecues, ice cream socials, and volleyball tournaments.

The students are also often seen lying around in the grassy sections of the campus, both in the Quad and the residential sections. Because the weather is so warm and sunny, students prefer to study, do homework, or research while sitting outside with friends and catching a few rays. There are a wide array of ways students choose to relax outside. Some bring towels to lie on, like the beach, some have giant blankets so all their friends can sit together, and once in a while a student is seen lying on the mattress from their bedroom.

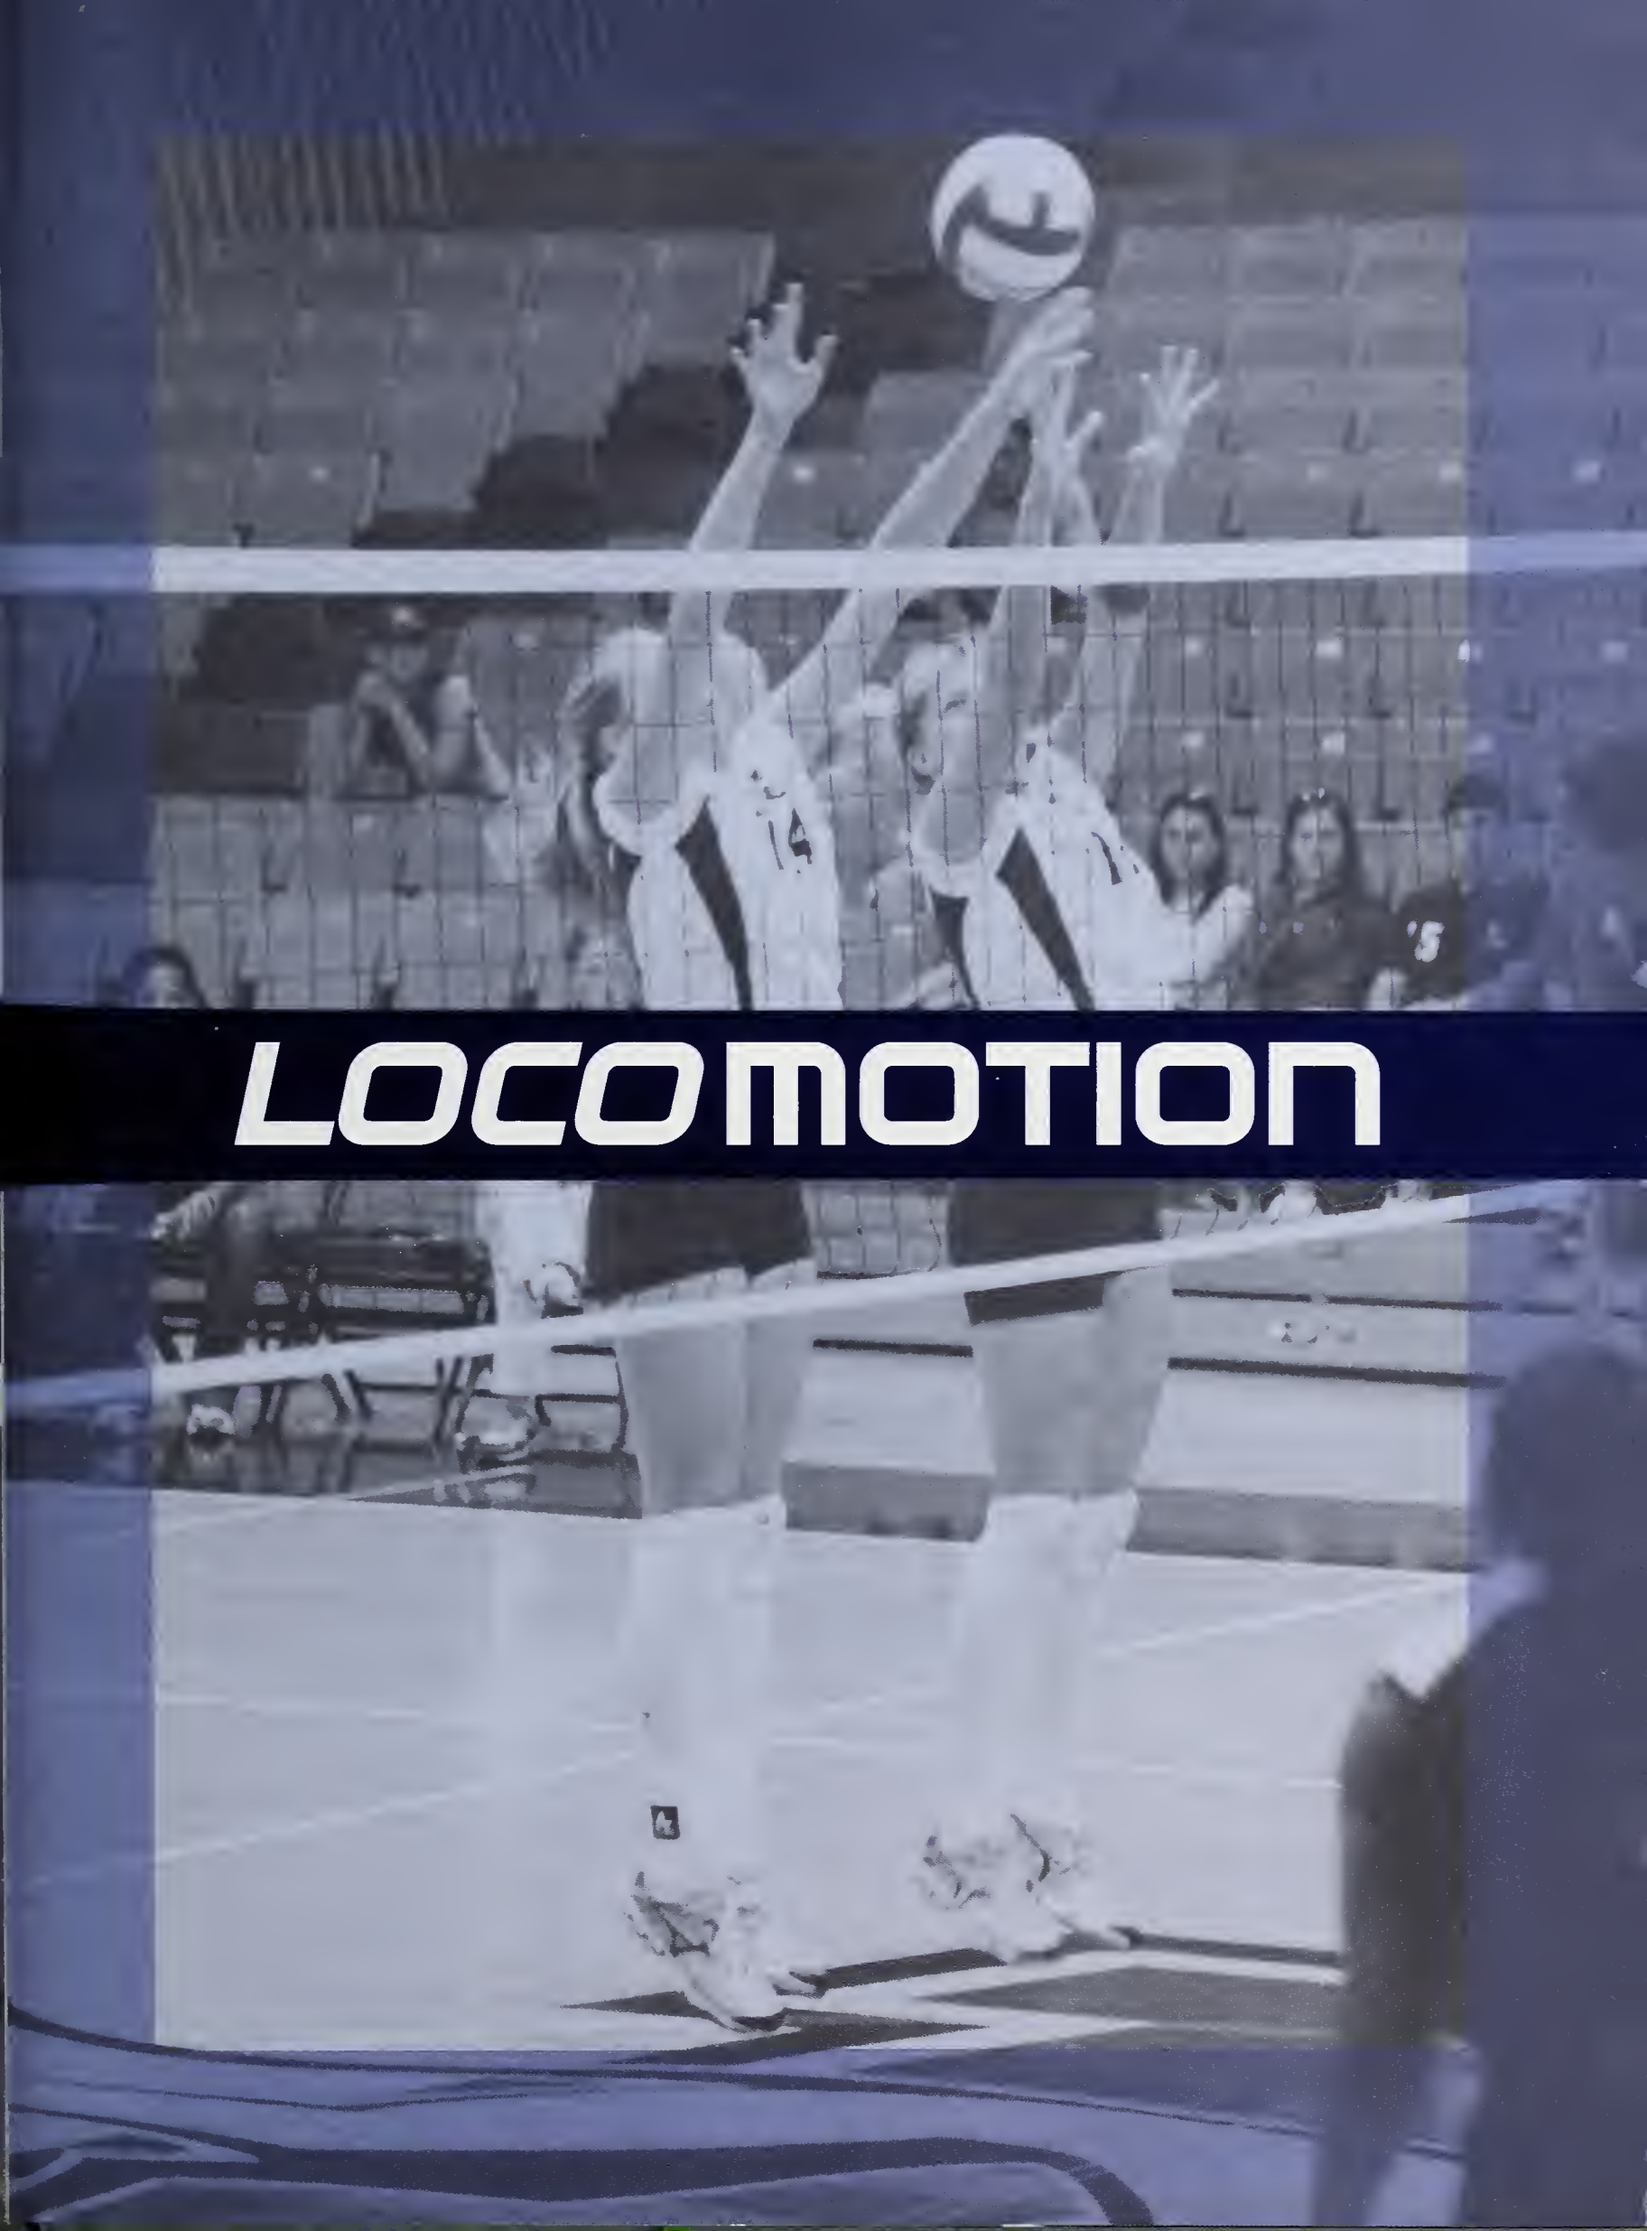
The last week of school becomes less of an emphasis on the classroom and more of an emphasis on individuals. There are more opportunities for breaks and relaxing during a time when stress is very high.

Newman Towers RA staff organized an ice cream social for residents during finals week. Students drowned their troubles in a mug of root beer and vanilla ice cream.

This student is barbecuing his dinner. The air was often filled with the smell of burgers and hotdogs when the weather allowed outdoor cooking.

These students are finishing up their picnic during an afternoon of busy studying. The last week brought many people to move their normal activities outside.

SPORTS



LOCOMOTION

BORN TO RUN

CROSS COUNTRY

by: Jenna Mizia

Both the men's and women's cross country teams had seasons full of "accomplishment and improvement," according to Coach Rick Woods. Sophomore Brian Parker and junior Brendan O'Kane were the driving forces behind the Greyhound men. The women's team was influenced greatly by senior Caitlin Dunne, who won her second straight individual title at the MAAC Championships.

Although cross country is commonly perceived as an individual sport, this year's team knew very well that it was not. Each member contributed to the team's overall success, instilling confidence in each other throughout the season. In the midst of all the early morning miles, the lifting, and the workouts, they formed a special bond that resulted in impressive finish at the MAAC championships. The women ended their season with a second place finish, while the men took fifth overall.

Eight Greyhound women and three men represented Loyola on the Metro Atlantic Athletic Conference All-Academic Team. This privilege is reserved for those athletes that perform consistently well both on the course and in the classroom. To qualify, a student must have completed two semesters at his or her school, be a significant starter, and possess a cumulative GPA of 3.2. This year in particular, Loyola was very well-represented on this team of honor.

The runners and coaches look forward to a great season next year because of the incredible dedication, enthusiasm, and talent that was exhibited this fall.

The men's cross country team ended the season with a strong eleventh place overall standing at the ECAC Championships in November.

Junior Brendan O'Kane was a leader for the Greyhounds this season. He helped the team to their win at the Mount St. Mary's Duels and the Paul Short Invitational.

MILES TO GO

"We have raced as a team and individually in a way that has proven our ability and given us this proven confidence."

ON AND OFF THE COURSE

Sophomore Allison Riley was one of the eleven Loyola cross country members who earned MAAC All-Academic Team honors.

KEEP ON RUNNING

The Greyhound men opened this year's season with two back-to-back wins at the Mount St. Mary's Invitational and the National Catholic Championships.

	Men's Final Standing	Women's Final Standing
Mount St. Mary's Invitational
National Catholic Championships	6th	4th
Iona Meet of Champions	19th	10th
Paul Short Invitational	43rd	41st
Maryland State Championships	8th	10th
Gettysburg Invitational	4th	4th
MAAC Championships	5th	2nd
NCAA Regionals	19th	12th
ECAC Championships	11th	6th

Freshman Keith Forlenza had a personal highlight during the season at the Paul Short Invitational as the third Loyola runner to cross the finish line.

The women's cross country team worked together all season to prove wrong anyone who doubted their potential. The twenty-three-woman team included ten freshmen, six sophomores, five juniors, and two seniors.

KICKING IT IN GEAR

The Loyola Men's Soccer Team proves why they were voted in a pre-season poll to be "The Team to Beat in the 2005 Season"

IN THE ZONE

One of the players gets the ball away from Loyola's goal as his team members look on, and prepare their next play.

YOU'VE GOT SKILLS

Freshmen Ziggy Kamara tries to keep his balance after him and an opponent player go for the ball. The players had to maneuver themselves around others to keep from falling.

Opponent	Results
Princeton	2 - 1
Syracuse	0 - 1
Bucknell	0 - 1
Towson	0 - 1
Akron	1 - 2
Fairleigh Dickinson	1 - 1
Hofstra	1 - 3
Pennsylvania	0 - 2
American	3 - 2
Niagara	2 - 1
Canisius	2 - 0
Marist	1 - 0
Siena	0 - 4
Iona	4 - 1
Fairfield	0 - 1
St. Peter's	2 - 1
Manhattan	1 - 1
Rider	3 - 1
Marist	1 - 2

Loyola's goalie Junior Justin Chelland saves the ball before it goes into the net. Defensive playing was key in of Loyola's games, many of which ended with close or tied scores.

Freshmen Phil Brierley and junior Julian Cantillo both jump after having contact with the ball. Sometimes the game requires some crazy moves in order to hit the ball.

FACING THE ODDS

MEN'S SOCCER

By: Joyce Ritz

The Men's Soccer Team started out as the team to beat for the 2005 MAAC Title, according to a poll by the league's ten head coaches. Loyola ended the season with the No. 2 seed into the MAAC Tournament, two wins away from the 2005 College Cup, and were playing for their third trip to the tournament. They were eliminated from the postseason in overtime against Marist. Although Loyola did not make it to the MAAC Semifinals, they did prove to be a hard team to beat, with a number of wins, a couple ties, a few games ending in overtime and many close games. The players of the team proved they were some of the best players in the conference. Loyola sent five men to the All-MAAC teams, showing consistent performance throughout the years and this season.

The sport of soccer requires great skill, agility, balance and teamwork. The Loyola Men's Soccer Team proved to possess all these skills, above and beyond expectations. They masterfully played every game. With a closer look at the scores, not only did the offense side shine, but the defensive side did some of their best work, with some extremely close games. Although the Men's Soccer Team found themselves heart-broken at the end of the season, they played well and have many more chances to prove themselves again in the coming years.

The team lines up together before the game. Although Loyola had their share of individual star players, team playing is very important in soccer.

Senior John Dalziel runs to get the ball away from the opponents in the game against Fairfield. Freshman Josh Taylor is behind him, ready to help his teammate.

CHASING SUCCESS

The Lady Greyhounds dribbled their way to success in the Fall 2005 soccer season

GOING FOR THE GOAL

Senior Naomi Daniels keeps the ball away from the opponent as she races toward the net. The strong offense on the women's soccer team helped Loyola win the majority of the games played.

BE AGGRESSIVE

Sophomore Ty Glenn is not afraid to be aggressive in order to gain control of the ball. Ty played forward for the Lady Greyhounds.

Opponent	Results
East Carolina	4 - 2
James Madison	2 - 4
Penn State	0 - 5
Georgetown	3 - 1
Florida	0 - 2
Central Florida	1 - 0
UMBC	2 - 0
Rutgers	0 - 1
Niagra	2 - 1
Canisius	3 - 0
Penn	3 - 0
Marist	5 - 1
Siena	3 - 1
Iona	1 - 0
Fairfield	1 - 0
St. Peter's	5 - 0
Manhattan	1 - 0
Rider	3 - 0
Rider	5 - 0
Fairfield	1 - 2

The team gathers together to show their spirit during a time-out. Head coach John Byford and assistant coach Peye Garcia show the team their support by joining the huddle.

Senior Ashley Kramer (right) passes the ball to Naomi Daniels (left). Team strategy was a key component for the team's fifteen wins during the Fall 2005 season.

MAKING THE GOAL

WOMEN'S SOCCER

by: Eileen Bocchicchio

John Byford began his first season as head coach of the Loyola women's soccer team with the departure of his predecessor Joe Mallia.

John Byford was joined by new Assistant coaches Peye Garcia and Christy Ganc this year. The three new coaches led the women's soccer team to a season of success. The team won a total of fifteen out of twenty games played.

Seniors Ali Andrzejewski, Naomi Daniels, Kate Gilfillan, and Lisa Jaffa started the season with strong leadership, playing forward, midfield, goalie, and defense, respecitively. The team began by winning the season opener against East Carolina at the JMU Tournament, but then won and lost intermittently until they found their stride at Niagra, where they won the first of eleven consecutive games.

The team scored both on and off the field. They received the NSCAA Academic Honor for their average GPA of 3.30. Loyola's women's soccer ranked sixth in the Mid-Atlantic region in Soccer Buzz Magazine at the end of the Fall 2005 Season. Senior Ali Andrzejewski and freshman Sarra Moller were honored by Soccer Buzz Magazine for their outstanding season.

Andrezejewski has scored a total of thirty-three goals and has accomplished nine assists during her career at Loyola. Andrezejewski holds the record for most points scored by a team member with seventy-five points.

The Lady Greyhounds optimized their players' strong points and used teamwork to make the Fall 2005 season one full of victories on and off the field.

Junior Kaitlin Klar takes a fall for the team while trying to keep control of the ball. Teammate Brynn McGrath looks on, ready to play defense and reclaim the ball.

Brittany Marano takes a break during a game as her teammates confer with coach John Byford. Brittany is a sophomore and plays midfield.

SMASH HITS

The 2005 Women's Volleyball season, although challenging, broke a number of personal and team goals in the number of kills and digs.

SNEAK ATTACK!

Sometimes a light touch is better than a smashing kill. Tipping surprises the other team and makes it very difficult for them to return the ball.

SERVE IT UP

Serves are a key ingredient to a successful game of volleyball. The right combination of spin, height, and strength is needed for a good serve.

	US	THEM
American	1	3
George Masion	1	3
Coppin State	3	0
Howard	3	0
Charlotte	0	3
La Salle	3	2
Robert Morris	0	3
Morgan State	3	0
St. Francis	2	3
UMBC	0	3
Rider	3	1
Lafayette	3	2
Manhattan	1	3
Saint Peter's	0	3
UMES	3	0
Fairfield	0	3
Iona	0	3
Lehigh	1	3
Siena	0	3
Marist	1	3
Navy	1	3
Canisius	1	3
Niagara	0	3

The team pumps up morale during games with cheers and chants. The team achieved many personal and team goals this past season.

The Lady Greyhounds celebrate a kill with a team cheer. Go Hounds!

READY SET SERVE

VOLLEYBALL

Coach Kristina Hernandez

The 2005 Women's Volleyball team begun the year with promise and potential with the addition of five freshman to a very talented group of athletes. Although the season started with a loss to American, the Greyhounds look forward to tournaments in the coming months. The next week, the team traveled to Fairfax, Virginia to play Seton Hall, George Mason, and cross-town rivals, UMBC. The Hounds fought hard, but had to wait until the following week to nail down a win against Copping State in a 3-0 victory. The following weeks, the Hounds traveled to North Carolina for the Spring Hill Suites Classic and San Luis Obispo, California to play three competitive West Coast teams in the Cal Poly Tournament, including Portland, Cal Poly, and San Jose State. The Hounds celebrated their first MAAC victory and an exciting 3-1 win over Rider on October 10th. The remainder of the MAAC matches proved difficult for the team. Unfortunately, the Greyhounds didn't make it into the MAAC tournament. They finished the year with lessons learned which will be incorporated into the 2006 season.

The past season had personal highlights from the four senior class players. Senior Jamie Arndt reached a goal of 1,000 digs in a career and reached 1,171 before the season ended. Setter Krystal Biegaj recorded her 3,000th career assist early in the season against North Texas University. Senior Rebecca Corb broke the all time kills record, leaving the school with 1,629 career kills. She also became the second player in school history to reach the goal of 1,000 kills and 1,000 digs in a career. Senior middle hitter Christine Lopez reached her goal of 500 kills in a MAAC game against Rider University.

The members of the team stand to offer support to their teammates on the court. Players on the bench become the team's personal cheerleaders.

Vigil athletes stay on their toes during matches. This gives players an opportunity to move fast in any direction when an unexpected play occurs.

JUMPING INTO ACTION

SWIMMING & DIVING

By: Eileen Bocchicchio

This year the swimming team was led by head coach Brian Loeffler, assistant coaches Nick Wooters and Jackie Cona. The diving team was led by head coach Maureen Theis and assistant coach Marko Turcinov. Both teams consisted of a mixture of seasoned swimmers and divers as well as several new members. The men's team won six out of ten meets and finished third in the MAAC championships. The women's team won and tied a total of five of ten meets and finished third in the MAAC championships.

On Senior Day junior Megan Sterback broke the school record in the one meter diving event and junior Ryan Reeser broke the school record for the 1000 meter freestyle. Jayme Adams finished fourth during the MAAC championships, setting a new school record while helping the team clinch the third place spot. Freshman Victoria Kamauff set a school record during morning preliminaries in the 200 meter freestyle. During the MAAC Championships Coach Brian Leoffler was quoted as saying,"I am very proud of the team's third place finish. We had many swimmers have personal best times."

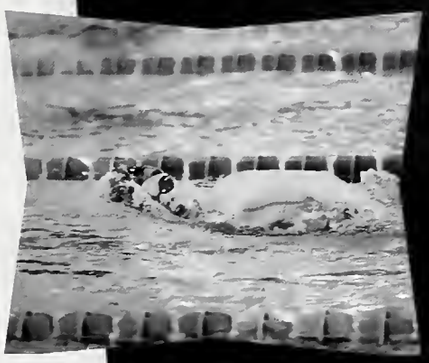
The season was a good close for the graduating seniors who have fond memories of their years swimming for Loyola College. The third place finish at the MAAC Championships was a true representation of all of the hard work the teams did to accomplish a successful season of swimming and diving.

The women's team takes a break between matches. The women and men took turns cheering each other on during meets against schools from all over the East Coast.

A member of the men's team swims his fastest in order to beat a competitor. The team trained hard this season to be in top form.

SPEEDY STROKES

Several members of the Men's and Women's Swimming and Diving teams broke school records and swam their personal best this season.



FREESTYLE

The men excelled in the freestyle stoke this season. On the men's squad several strong swimmers participated in this event, ranging from new freshman to seasoned seniors.

BUTTERFLY

Jonathan Sheffield swims the butterfly stroke. Jonathan, a sophomore, won first place against Iona for the 200 meter fly and placed fourth against Towson in the same stroke.

Senior Elizabeth Ferry prepares for a dive. Elizabeth has been diving since high school. She finished third against Towson in the one meter event and third against Rider for the one meter and three meter diving events.

The women's team faces several opponents at once during the MAAC championships. The Greyhounds finished third in the MAAC championships.

MEN'S

	US	THEM
George Washington	85	195
Navy	69.5	219.5
Providence	128	77
Fairfield	155	81
Georgetown	124	117
Thomas Murphy Invitational	2	1
H2ounds Invitational	2	1
Rider	68	163
Delaware	94	135
Towson	104	139
Iona	140	92

WOMEN'S

	US	THEM
George Washington	116	184
Navy	84	211
Providence	133.5	108.5
Fairfield	157	86
Georgetown	105	138
Thomas Murphy Invitational	1	1
H2ounds Invitational	2	1
Rider	93	150
Delaware	78	160
Towson	109	118
Iona	115	87

SHOOTING FOR A WIN

The Men's Basketball Team worked hard to win fifteen out of a total of twenty-eight games played.

CONCENTRATION

Andre Collins concentrates while preparing for a foul shot. Collins plays guard for the team.

WORDS TO INSPIRE

Coach Jimmy Patsos shouts instruction and encouragement to the team as they make a basket. This is Patsos' second season as coach of the Greyhounds.

	US	THEM
Towson	80	67
UMBC	71	64
American	68	60
Mt. St. Mary's	76	71
Fairfield	90	85
Manhattan	73	85
Virginia	59	98
VMI	87	79
Delaware	99	86
Providence	81	94
Niagara	82	70
Marist	78	75
Canisius	95	80
Niagara	72	75
Iona	68	86
Rider	78	76
Fairfield	72	80
St. Peter's	74	76
Marist	78	86
Siena	83	89
Manhattan	68	86
Iona	85	101
St. Peter's	89	69
Siena	69	85
High Point	77	71
Rider	69	66
Canisius	59	54
Canisius	72	74

Sophomore Gerald Brown gets in the middle of a toss up. Brown fights two opponents as he reaches for the ball. The team needed to be aggressive in order to win the majority of their games.

Shane James maintains control of the ball despite a good effort by the other team to deprive him of it. James was a starter in the guard position.

SHOOT AND SCORE

MEN'S BASKETBALL

By Eileen Bocchicchio

The Men's Basketball team began their second season with head coach Jimmy Patsos and aided by assistant coaches Brian Blaney, Terrell Stokes, and Matt Kovarik. The team was a mixture of seasoned players and less experienced freshman and sophomores.

The Greyhounds began their season on the right foot. This year's opener was the best since the 1944 - 1945 season. The team also ended the season strongly. The team won against Canisius during Senior Day, where Collins, Alujevic, Hinds, and Bell, all seniors, were honored during a pregame ceremony. Senior player Andre Collins was also named to the MAAC men's basketball team. Collins led scoring this season, winning an average of 26.2 points per game. Andre Collins is the sixth leading scorer in the country.

The entire team had an exceptional year, winning fifteen out of twenty-eight games played. The starting lineup for most games included Alujevic or Fofana and Tuck as forwards and Collins, Farrell, Sullivan, Stanback or James as guards. With this winning combination, the Loyola College Men's basketball team consistently filled Reitz Arena with admiring fans from the college and its surrounding areas. The team showed their hard work through their wins this season and received deserving support from the community.

Sophomore Michael Tuck stretches to reach the ball passed to him. The Greyhound mascot looks on behind him.

Men's Basketball was among the most popular of Loyola sports this year. The stands were usually filled with fans cheering on the Greyhounds in crowds of record numbers.

ANOTHER SLAM DUNK

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

by Jenna Mizia

In a season with five leading seniors – Krystle Harrington, Kerri-Lynn Orsini, Katie Scherle, Lauren Troupe, and Jackie Valderas – five juniors, one sophomore, and two freshmen, the Loyola Women Greyhounds proved to themselves, their coaches, and the surrounding community what a strong group of players they are. They finished at the Number 3 seed of the Metro-Atlantic Athletic Conference. Taking a trip to the MAAC Championship Game on March 5, 2006 for the first time in eight years under the eye of first-year coach Joe Logan was far from their only accomplishment. In December of 2005, the women traveled to California for the San Diego State Surf N' Slam Classic. They defeated the host team in an opening round and made it to the championship game, where they faced Auburn and fought hard against a challenging opponent.

The final standings of the season left the team with a 20-10 record, which contains the most wins since the 1998-99 season. Next year's outlook is extremely optimistic: both the team and the coaches anticipate another successful run, focusing on their developing their agility and ability to fight back within games.

Teammates Jill Glessner, Lauren Troupe, and Jackie Valderas focus on the game. Both Troupe and Valderas were named to the All-Academic MAAC team. Senior Lauren Troupe, a forward, was placed on the 2006 All MAAC First Team.

Krystle Harrington, one of Loyola's leading seniors, was named to the 2006 All MAAC Third Team.

FIRE ON THE COURT

Finding the 2005-06 season one to prove their talents, the women's basketball team certainly did just that. The women showed how they worked hard and earned a trip to the MAAC Championship Game for the first time in eight years.

Junior Brittany Dunn was named to the All-Tournament Team of the MAAC championship game on March 5, 2006. She scored twenty-one points in this important game, where the Greyhounds faced Marist.

Some of the Greyhound Women take a break on the sideline to get some water and valuable coaching tips.

THE SINGLE SOPHOMORE

Loyola's Women's Basketball Team featured only one sophomore this year. Tynisha Davis, a skilled guard, was also the sole freshman of last year's team. Here, Davis drives the ball toward the net in a game against Fairfield.

WORKING TOGETHER

This year's team knew that it took more than just talent on the court, of which they certainly had plenty. Here, teammates cheer from the sidelines - a part of the game that is just as important as hitting those three-pointers.

	US	THEM
VCU	62	65
Hartford	52	59
LIU	84	75
St. Franics	69	57
Howard	83	65
Iona	65	63
Fairfield	71	76
Towson	70	62
San Diego State	52	43
Auburn	54	76
Saint Peter's	57	60
Manhattan	72	68
Liberty	63	70
Saint Peter's	57	60
Marist	56	65
Rider	63	47
Siena	74	59
Canisius	71	53
Iona	77	69
Niagara	62	58
Canisius	81	87
Rider	60	40
Siena	60	63
Manhattan	55	47
Marist	62	59
Niagara	76	44
Fairfield	78	72
Manhattan	66	57
Canisius	76	66
Marist	57	68

SHOWING SPIRIT

Loyola's Cheerleaders, the Greyhound Girls, know how to support their teams. With a squad of nineteen girls this year, they show their spirit better than ever.

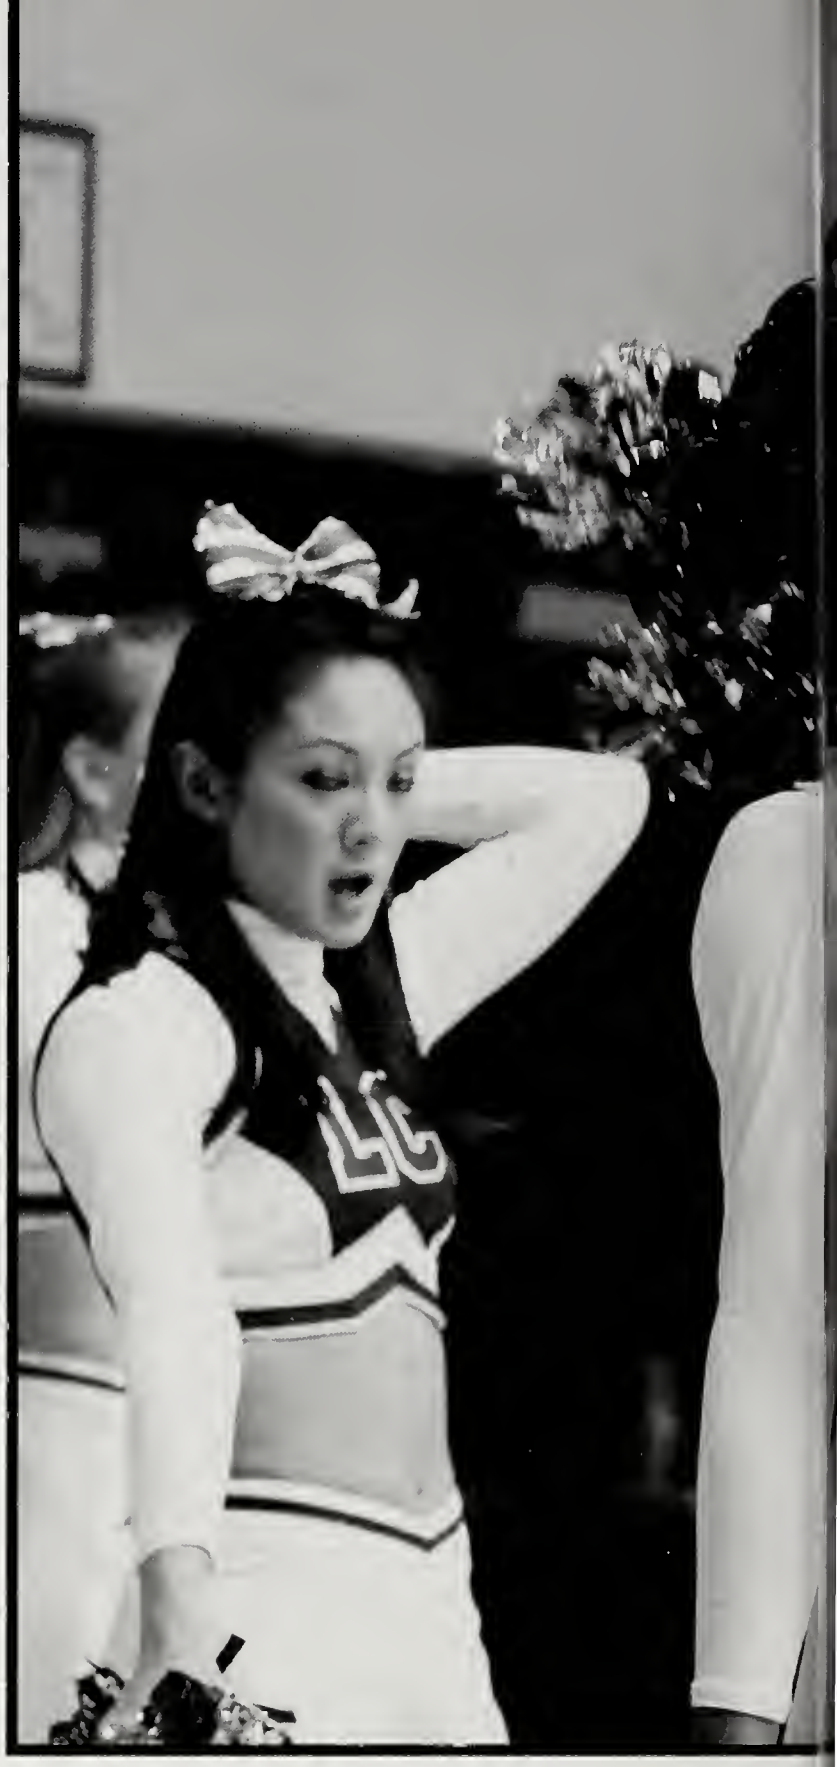
STRIKE A POSE

Tori D'Annunzio pauses and poses during a cheer. Tori , a freshman, is new to the squad this year. The team this year was made up mostly of freshman and sophomores.

PYRAMID PERFECT

Two cheerleaders form the top of a pyramid during a cheer. Coach Denise Thomas and co-captains Allie Livingstone, Sarah Rambacher, and Marley Solomon emphasized stunting skills during practices this season.

"Good teams become great ones when the members trust each other enough to sacrifice the 'me' for the 'we.'" -Phil Jackson



L'OrealThompson andAmanda Sund start a cheer. Here, the cheerleaders are supporting the women's basketball team during a home game. The Greyhound Girls cheer at both the men's and women's basketball games.

The cheerleading squad executes a cheer in perfect unison. Cheerleading Coach Denise Thomas helped the girls to perfect their cheers. The girls come from different experience levels.

REACHING NEW HEIGHTS

CHEERLEADING

By: Eileen Bocchicchio

Senior Allie Livingstone began her second season as co-captain of the Greyhound Girls, Loyola's Cheerleading squad, by recruiting new members over the summer. Livingstone, along with her co-captains Sarah Rambacher and Marley Solomon, is proud of the team that has formed over the past few years. "We have a very enthusiastic, dedicated, and talented crew. I am absolutely honored to have been their captain," says Livingstone of the group.

This year, the Cheerleading squad consisted of nineteen members from different backgrounds. Some girls cheered at the All-Star level in high school while others were new to the sport. The team was largely made up of freshman and sophomores this year, so the focus during practices was to learn to work together as a team and to practice stunts. According to Livingstone, the Greyhound Girls should be ready for competition in the upcoming year.

The Cheerleading squad has a seven month season, one of the longest in sports, beginning at the start of the academic year. The girls continue cheering for the Men's' and Women's' basketball teams until the MAAC Tournament, which takes place in March. The Cheerleaders often give up their spring break in order to go to the MAAC Tournament and support the Greyhounds. Their dedication, perseverance, and team unity help the Greyhound Girls to excel in their sport as they forge a new path for Cheerleading at Loyola.

Jade Ostner, new to the team this year, cheers with her fellow Greyhound Girls. Co-captain Allie Livingstone recruited heavily over the summer and as a result doubled the squad size.

Amanda Sund forms part of a cheer line. The cheerleading squad has a seven month season: they begin cheering when school starts and do not finish until after the MAAC Tournament in March.

ROWING FOR THE GOLD

CREW

Early morning practices may be rough at times, but once into the routine, they can be quite entertaining. Here, the women's crew team enjoys the scenery as they row.

This duo perfects their maneuvering during a morning practice. Many hours of practice went into developing skill as well as building team rapport.

Summoning every bit of strength that they have left, this duo works hard to make it to the end of the race. Many hours of practice built endurance and stamina, as well as a can do mentality.

FINDING THE GOLD

The Crew team worked hard throughout the season and enjoyed seeing one of their groups finishing first in the third final at the 2006 Intercollegiate Rowing Association Regatta

Working together as a team, the women of the crew team managed to overcome many hurdles during the past season. Although a very intense sport, the teammates kept each other motivated from the beginning to the very end of the season.

The men move into position before the beginning of the regatta. As the other teams fell into the ranks, the members of the crew team took a moment to relax and mentally prepare themselves for the race they were about to begin.

REFLECTIONS IN THE WATER

Sometimes, a moment of reflection is needed to realize what has been accomplished. Between events, the men take a moment to relax and process what had just taken place.

MANY PARTS, ONE WHOLE

Each individual of the team contributed to the overall success throughout the season. Here, a member of the team points out an observation she made during a morning practice.

Meets

Navy Day Regatta
Head of the Charles Regatta
Head of the Schuylkill Regatta
Head of the Occoquan
Philadelphia Frostbite Regatta
Bill Braxton Memorial Regatta
Jesuit Invitational
Murphy Cup
Occoquan Sprints
Johns Hopkins Invitational
MAAC Championships
Mid-Atlantic Championships
Dad Vails Regatta

RISING TO THE TOP

Despite having one of the most youthful athletic teams at Loyola, the golf team was able to take second place at the MAAC Championships as well as see two of their players make the Maryland Amateur Championship quarterfinals.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

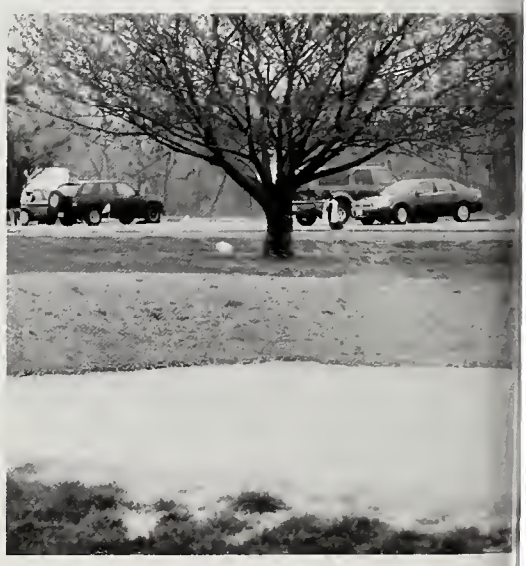
Since there is much to control when playing golf, it is important for the team members to practice frequently. Practice at the golf course or the driving range helps players learn what tweaks can make the difference while playing competitively.

JUDGEMENT CALL

Learning how to judge the variables involved with sinking a putt is no easy task. Although much can be learned from reading books and instruction, the best way to learn how to judge is to experience the different conditions firsthand.

Tournament	Ranking
Navy Fall Invitational	14 out of 15
Navy Fall Invitational	10 out of 15
Towson Invitational	8 out of 12
Towson Invitational	6 out of 12
Joe Agee Invitational	9 out of 12
Joe Agee Invitational	8 out of 12
Crown Plaza Colonial Golf Classic	4 out of 8
Crown Plaza Colonial Golf Classic	1 out of 8
Pala Mesa Invitational	8 out of 14
Pala Mesa Invitational	9 out of 14
Pizza Hut Invitational	4 out of 13
Pizza Hut Invitational	4 out of 13
Ft. Lauderdale Spring Classic	10 out of 10
Ft. Lauderdale Spring Classic	6 out of 10
William & Mary Intercollegiate	10 out of 22
William & Mary Intercollegiate	10 out of 22
Drew Upton Memorial	11 out of 23
Drew Upton Memorial	15 out of 23
Navy Spring Invitational	4 out of 15
Navy Spring Invitational	3 out of 15
MAAC Championships	3 out of 9
MAAC Championships	4 out of 9
MAAC Championships	2 out of 9

One of the most difficult parts of playing golf is perfecting one's short game. Here, patience, practice, and skill help during the last putt of the hole.



Although it is often a frowned upon part of the course, it is important to learn how to deal with the hazards. Here, this player maintains his cool as he manages to putt his ball back onto the green.

TAKE IT TO THE GREEN GOLF

Golf is a game which requires much patience. As witnessed in this familiar scene, one can almost sense the anticipation as a player waits to see how far his ball will go.

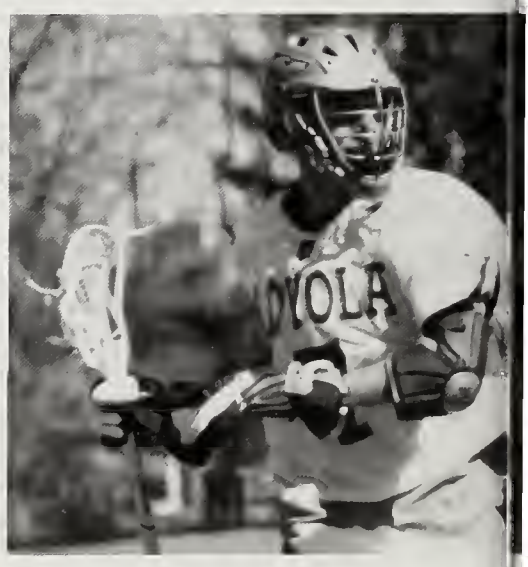
Coach Tom Beidleman takes a moment to discuss observations with a player. Due to the precise nature of the sport, players were able to improve their game as a result of the individual attention they received.

RISING TO THE TOP

MEN'S LACROSSE

Cory Coffman cradles the ball as he runs across the open field. Moving quickly before his competitors close in on him, Coffman takes advantage of the situation.

Paul Richards runs with the opponent on his tail. The ability to outrun the competition is important to possess along with the ability to make a goal.



RISING TO THE CHALLENGE

The 2006 season brought the Greyhounds many challenging games in which they rose to the occasion and played well.

Andrew Spack takes advantage of the opponent's fumble as he runs to scoop up the ball. Being in the right place at the right time can mean the difference between a victory or a defeat.

Looking for help from his teammates, Jimmy Daly spots an open Greyhound and attempts to pass before the opponent has a chance to intercept the ball. Learning how to help each other was a major focus of the team.

THINKING IT THROUGH

Waiting for the game to resume, Mike Alfone reviews the next play in his mind. In a moment, he will make the anticipated move into a reality.

GLARING AT THE OPPONENT

Paul Richards refuses to be intimidated by the Wagner players. Confidence and trust in his teammates helped him to succeed his second year on the team.

	Us	Them
Towson	10	11
Penn State	9	6
Wagner	19	4
Duke	7	9
St. John's	6	5
UMass	9	14
Syracuse	6	12
Rutgers	9	4
Georgetown	14	10
Fairfield	12	13
Hobart	11	6
Johns Hopkins	6	7

STILL GOING STRONG

Over the past season, the Women's Lacrosse team was once again noted for many accomplishments and achievements. Two members of the team earned spots on the All-Mid Atlantic Region team

TAKING TIME OUT

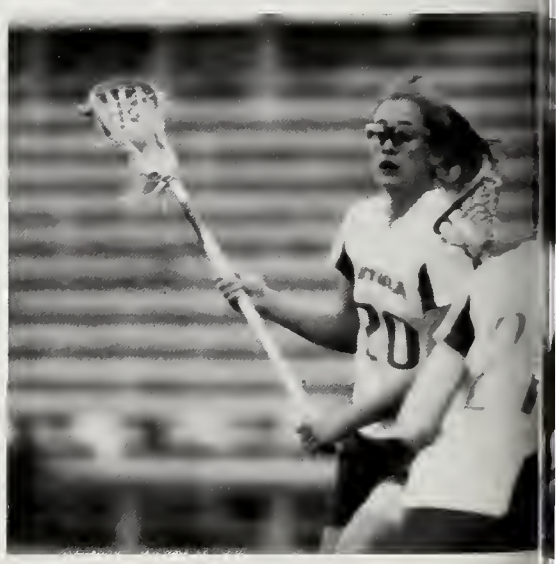
Listening to their coach as they prepare to face the competition, the Greyhounds heed the last minute advice they are receiving. Many lessons about the sport and more were learned on and off of the field.

CELEBRATING SUCCESS

After a well earned victory against rival Towson University, the team celebrates as they are overcome with joy. This game was the final home game for the senior members of the team.

	Us	Them
Delaware	16	10
UMBC	8	6
North Carolina	4	12
Princeton	7	12
Rutgers	17	10
Notre Dame	9	13
James Madison	8	14
Hofstra	13	20
George Mason	14	10
Penn State	10	16
Syracuse	13	12
Connecticut	15	13
Stanford	12	13
Towson	13	12
Georgetown	8	9

Kate McHarg reminded the Princeton team why she was the lead scorer for the Greyhounds this past season. McHarg is the one of three players to score over fifty back to back goals in one season.



Teamwork makes it possible to achieve great things that an individual can not achieve by themselves. With her teammate holding off the opponents, Emily Lawrence is able to run the ball past the Towson Tigers.

STICKING TO IT

WOMEN'S LACROSSE

Stephanie Walker catches a pass from a teammate and runs before the competition knows what is going on. Swift play and fast thinking gave the Greyhounds an edge over many other teams in the conference.

Not intimidated by the stick of her opponent, Talia Shacklock continues the play as planned. Many hours of practice and team excercises helped the women learn each others' strengths and weakenesses.

COURTING SUCCESS
MEN'S TENNIS

By: Rick McClure

The Loyola College Men's Tennis Team completed the 2005-2006 season an 8-12 record and a 7th place finish in the MAAC Championship played at the U.S. Open in Flushing Meadows, New York.

This year's squad was comprised of 4 sophomores and 3 freshmen and was led by co-captains Ben Epstein and Scott Gannon. Epstein, who led the team with 17 wins at number 6 singles as a freshman earned the top spot on the ladder and had the third-most wins on the team with 9. Gannon, had had 10 wins at number 4 singles and 13 victories at number 2 doubles in his initial campaign, advanced to the 2nd spot in our line-up to win the 2nd most matches with 11. Together, Epstein and Gannon made up a competitive number 1 doubles team for the Greyhounds with a very respectable 10-11 record. Gannon was the co-MVP for the season and Epstein was co-most dedicated which adds to his co-MBP award at the Athletic Banquet as a freshman.

In his first year of collegiate competition, freshman Sean Wall opened the number 3 spot in the singles lineup and capped his season with the most wins on the team. Wall also teamed with sophomore number 4 singles player Chad Marrow at number 2 doubles to lead the team with the most victories with 11. These outstanding accomplishments in singles and doubles earned Wall the co-MVP award at the banquet.

Along with Morrow, the rookie members played an important role in the Greyhound's success this season as freshmen Sean Keast and Tom Kelly and sophomore Rob McAward contributed significantly. All these players gained valuable experience competing at number 5 and 6 singles and number 3 doubles while helping Loyola to victory.

The current youth with some incoming recruits make next season's outlook seem bright for the up and coming Loyola men's tennis team.

Sometimes raw energy is the best motivator. After a long day, members of the tennis team find it a good change of pace to practice swatting balls.

Perhaps one of the most challenging ways to hit the ball is with a backhand stroke. As a result of much practice, the team improved the ability to do such, giving them an advantage over the competition.

ALL THE RACQUET

Although an extremely youthful team, the Greyhounds did quite well during the past season and anticipate building upon the success of the seven returning letter winners in the upcoming year.

RIGHT ON BACK

Although repetitive at times, the team spent many hours practicing hitting the ball. Throughout the season, the Greyhounds worked on their personal skills as well as those of the team.

STAYING FOCUSED

Trying to anticipate where the opponent's next shot will land helps prepare to counter the serve. Experience, experimentation, and confidence help build the ability to judge and analyze an opponent's game.

	Us	Them
Coppin State	3	4
Morgan State	7	0
Niagara	1	6
Morgan State	4	2
Catholic	6	1
Mount St. Mary's	2	5
La Salle	3	4
District of Columbia	6	1
Geogre Mason	1	5
Delaware State	6	1
Wagner	7	0
Hofstra	1	6
Siena	3	4
Marist	0	7
UMES	7	0
Manhattan	0	7
Fairfield	1	6
St. Peter's	4	3
Rider	1	6
Marist	0	7

Grace and poise are characteristics of the Greyhound's game. Confidence in the ability of the team helped maintain composure throughout the season.

ON THE REBOUND

Although the past season had its ups and downs, the Greyhounds remained confident in their ability through the thick and thin.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

Tennis is a lifelong sport in which there is always room for improvement. During each practice, teammates worked together to improve the team's collective ability.

KEEP IT COMING

Determination and a little bit of patience can go a long way. Once in a while, there is the opportunity to mentally prepare for the next set of drills during sometime length practice sessions.

	Us	Them
Coppin State	5	2
Morgan State	7	0
Niagara	2	4
Morgan State	7	0
Mount St. Mary's	2	5
La Salle	6	1
Delaware State	6	1
Wagner	7	0
Hofstra	3	4
Siena	0	7
Marist	2	5
UMES	7	0
Manhattan	3	4
Fairfield	4	3
St. Peter's	5	2
Saint Joseph's	3	4
Rider	5	2
Towson	0	7
Fairfield	1	6

Grace and precision follow as the ball is sent back to the opponent. Throughout the season, the team worked on the ability to precisely direct the serves and returns.

Taking a moment to catch her breath, this player prepares herself for her next match. Throughout the past season, the Greyhounds faced a number of skilled and worthy opponents.

BOUNCING BACK

WOMEN'S TENNIS

By: Rick McClure

The Loyola College Women's Tennis Team completed the 2006 season with a 10-9 record and a fourth place finish in the MAAC Championship and played at the U.S. Open in Flushing Meadows, New York. This was the 27th consecutive winning season for the women's program.

This year's squad was comprised of veteran players lead by co-captains Amy Nitch and Jessica Libratore. Amy and Jessica competed at number 1 and 2 singles and were 4 year doubles partners as they added to Loyola's all-time records list.

Nitch and Libratore ended their 4 year careers with many outstanding accomplishments both as individuals and partners. Amy's 65 win in singles, 60 in doubles, and 120 total ranks her 6th in singles, 8th in doubles, and 7th overall victories and Loyola all-time lists. Jessica's 60 singles, 56 doubles, and 7th overall wins ranks her 12th in singles, 7th in doubles, and 8th total in Loyola records. Together their 53 double wins top Loyola's list for the most victories with the same partner for a career. The Greyhounds were 55-29 during their time at Evergreen. They were also our team's MVP's for the season, which was awarded at the Athletic Banquet.

Senior Stefanie Clay and sophomore Meghan McKenna were co-most dedicated players for the year and finished tied for the second most singles win on the team with 11. Sophomore Mallory Tarca led the team in victories in singles with 13. Junior Crisit Lazar was 6-5 in singles before a shoulder injury sidelined her for most of the spring season.

Seniors Laura Cuti and Courtney Van Slooten helped solidify our singles and doubles lineup with consistent performances at number 6 singles and number 3 doubles.

Rounding out the team were sophomore Liz Lynah and freshman Stefanie Menzano who gained valuable experience in the fall season by competing in the Bucknell and Georgetown Invitational Team Tournament.

Practicing hitting the ball in the brisk mornings of early spring can be quite a challenge. Despite the chill, members of the tennis team trekked outside and could be spotted practicing at the tennis coutts.

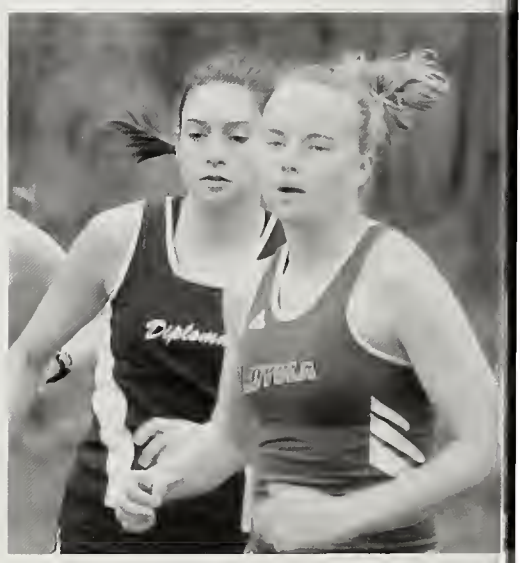
Fancy footwork is sometimes necessary to save the ball from going out of bounds. Many hours of practice help develop such skills to become involuntary reactions that occur when necessary.

GOING THE DISTANCE

TRACK AND FIELD

The baton relay is one of the most popular track and field events. It is not unusual to see Loyola a few steps ahead of the competition.

Warming up before the race, these teammates make a couple of laps around the track. Throughout the season, the members of the team strived for constant improvement.



RAIN OR SHINE

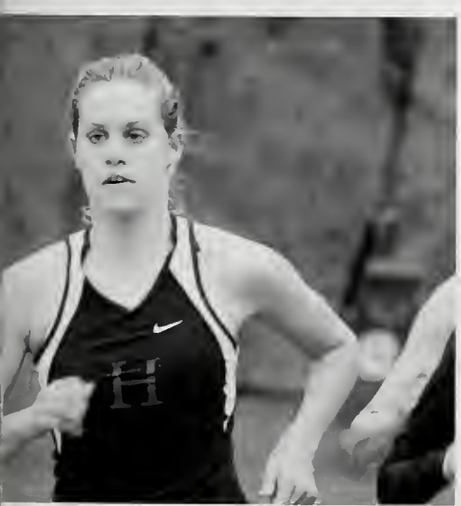
Although the weather was not always the most pleasant, the track and field team could be seen running, throwing, and vaulting.

FORWARD MOTION

One accomplishment of Carolyn Kennington during the past season was finishing in second place in the javelin throw at the MAAC Track and Field Championships. Kennington will return to the team for her final season next year.

MAKING A SPLASH

Running hurtles during a meet was no easy task to begin with; water only makes it more challenging. Training and conditioning helped the team work through all of the different challenges they faced during the season.



The old adage "practice makes perfect" is demonstrated by the skill in which the track and field team demonstrates in running hurtles. Throughout the season, the Greyhounds were able use their skill in this event to their advantage.

At the middle of the race, it is difficult to remain motivated as fatigue and thirst begin to set in. Junior Michelle McVann rises to the challenge and pushes herself past the competition.

Meets

Bison Opener
Navy Invitational
Maryland Invitational
Patriot Games
New York Collegiate Ursinus
MAAC Championships
ECAC Championships
Monmouth Season Opener
Terrapin Invitational
Duke Invitational
Widener Invitational
Penn Relays Carnival
Lions' Invitational
MAAC Championships
Tuppeny Twilight

LOYOLA 51 LOYOLA CLUB

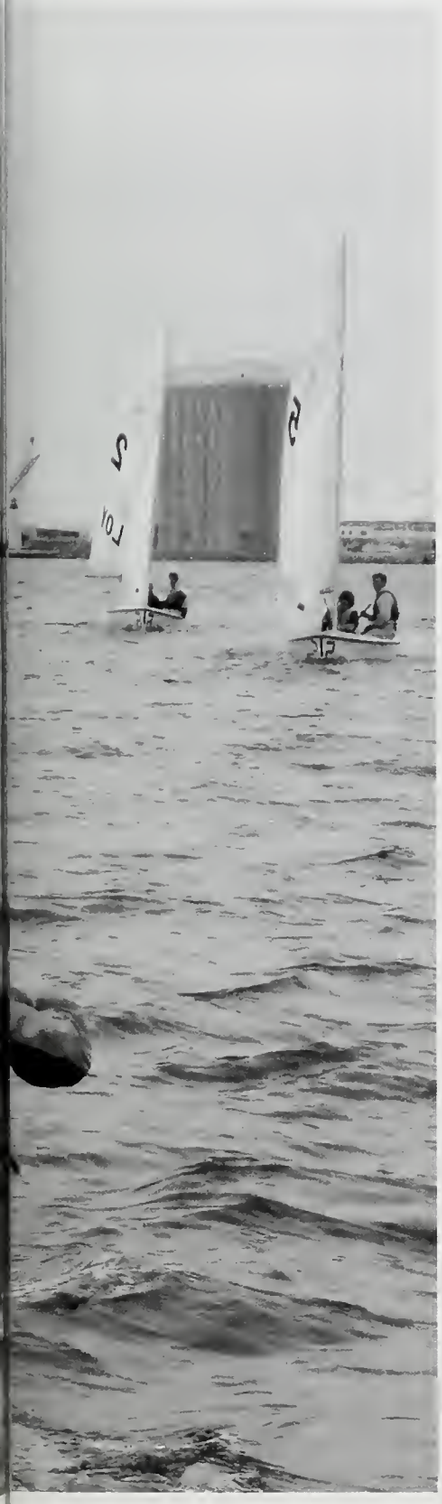
DIVER

CLUB AND INTRAMURAL SPORTS

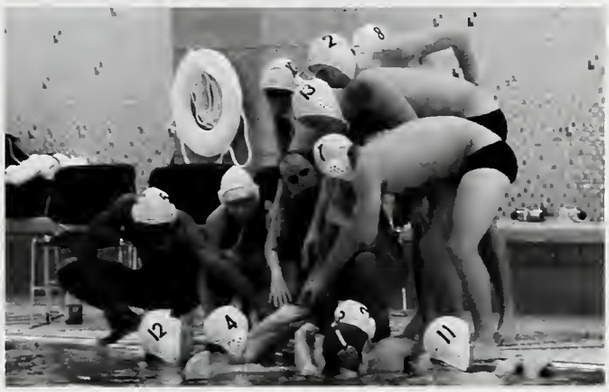
SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

For students who want to try out a new sport or are looking for a little friendly competition, Loyola has an array of different intramural and club sports teams for students to join. From dodgeball to ultimate frisbee, many students try their hand at a new sport for the first time since there are a wide variety of teams to choose from. Most teams practice at least one a week and compete on a regular basis. Club teams compete against other local and regional teams and some even participate in national competitions.

No matter what the level of skill, club and intramural teams give students the opportunity to participate in friendly competition without the commitments associated with the highly structured varsity sports teams.



Members of the sailing team man the boat and make sure everything is prepared for the regatta. This past season the team managed to finish 3rd at the OCC Fall Open.



Members of the Water Polo team review their strategy in a last minute team huddle. Members of the team got to know each other better over the course of the year while having the opportunity to face teams from several different colleges.

Not afraid of the competition, the members of the Loyola College Water Polo squad go for the ball. Their can-do attitude helped them attain the most wins in Loyola College water polo history this past year.

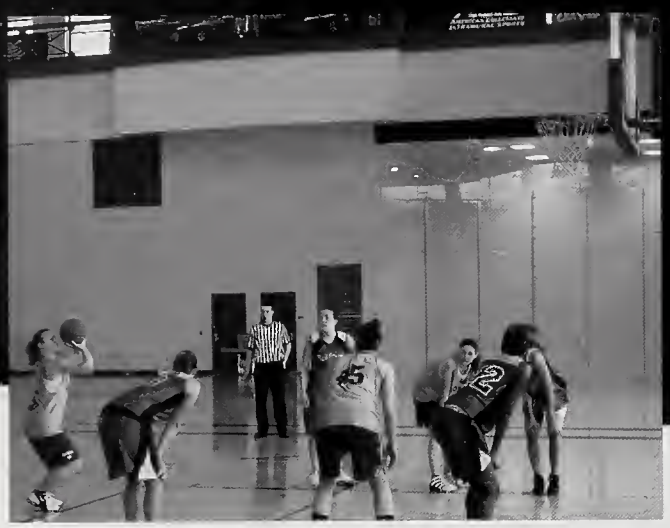
Ryan Svorinic takes a moment to get into the zone before the pitcher throws the ball. Playing on intramural teams gave students the opportunity to have fun and play team sports without the commitment associated with the club or varsity level teams

When playing indoor field hockey, it is important to be able to get control of the ball before the competitor. Here, two opponents battle for the ball.

The women's Club Volleyball team poses for a picture before their game. This past season brought many exciting wins and opportunities, as well as a third place victory at the tournament hosted at Fairfield University.

The women of the volleyball team formed close friendships throughout the season. Players pump themselves up and have a team cheer before facing their competition.

CAKE



LOYOLA
CLUB

XBOX

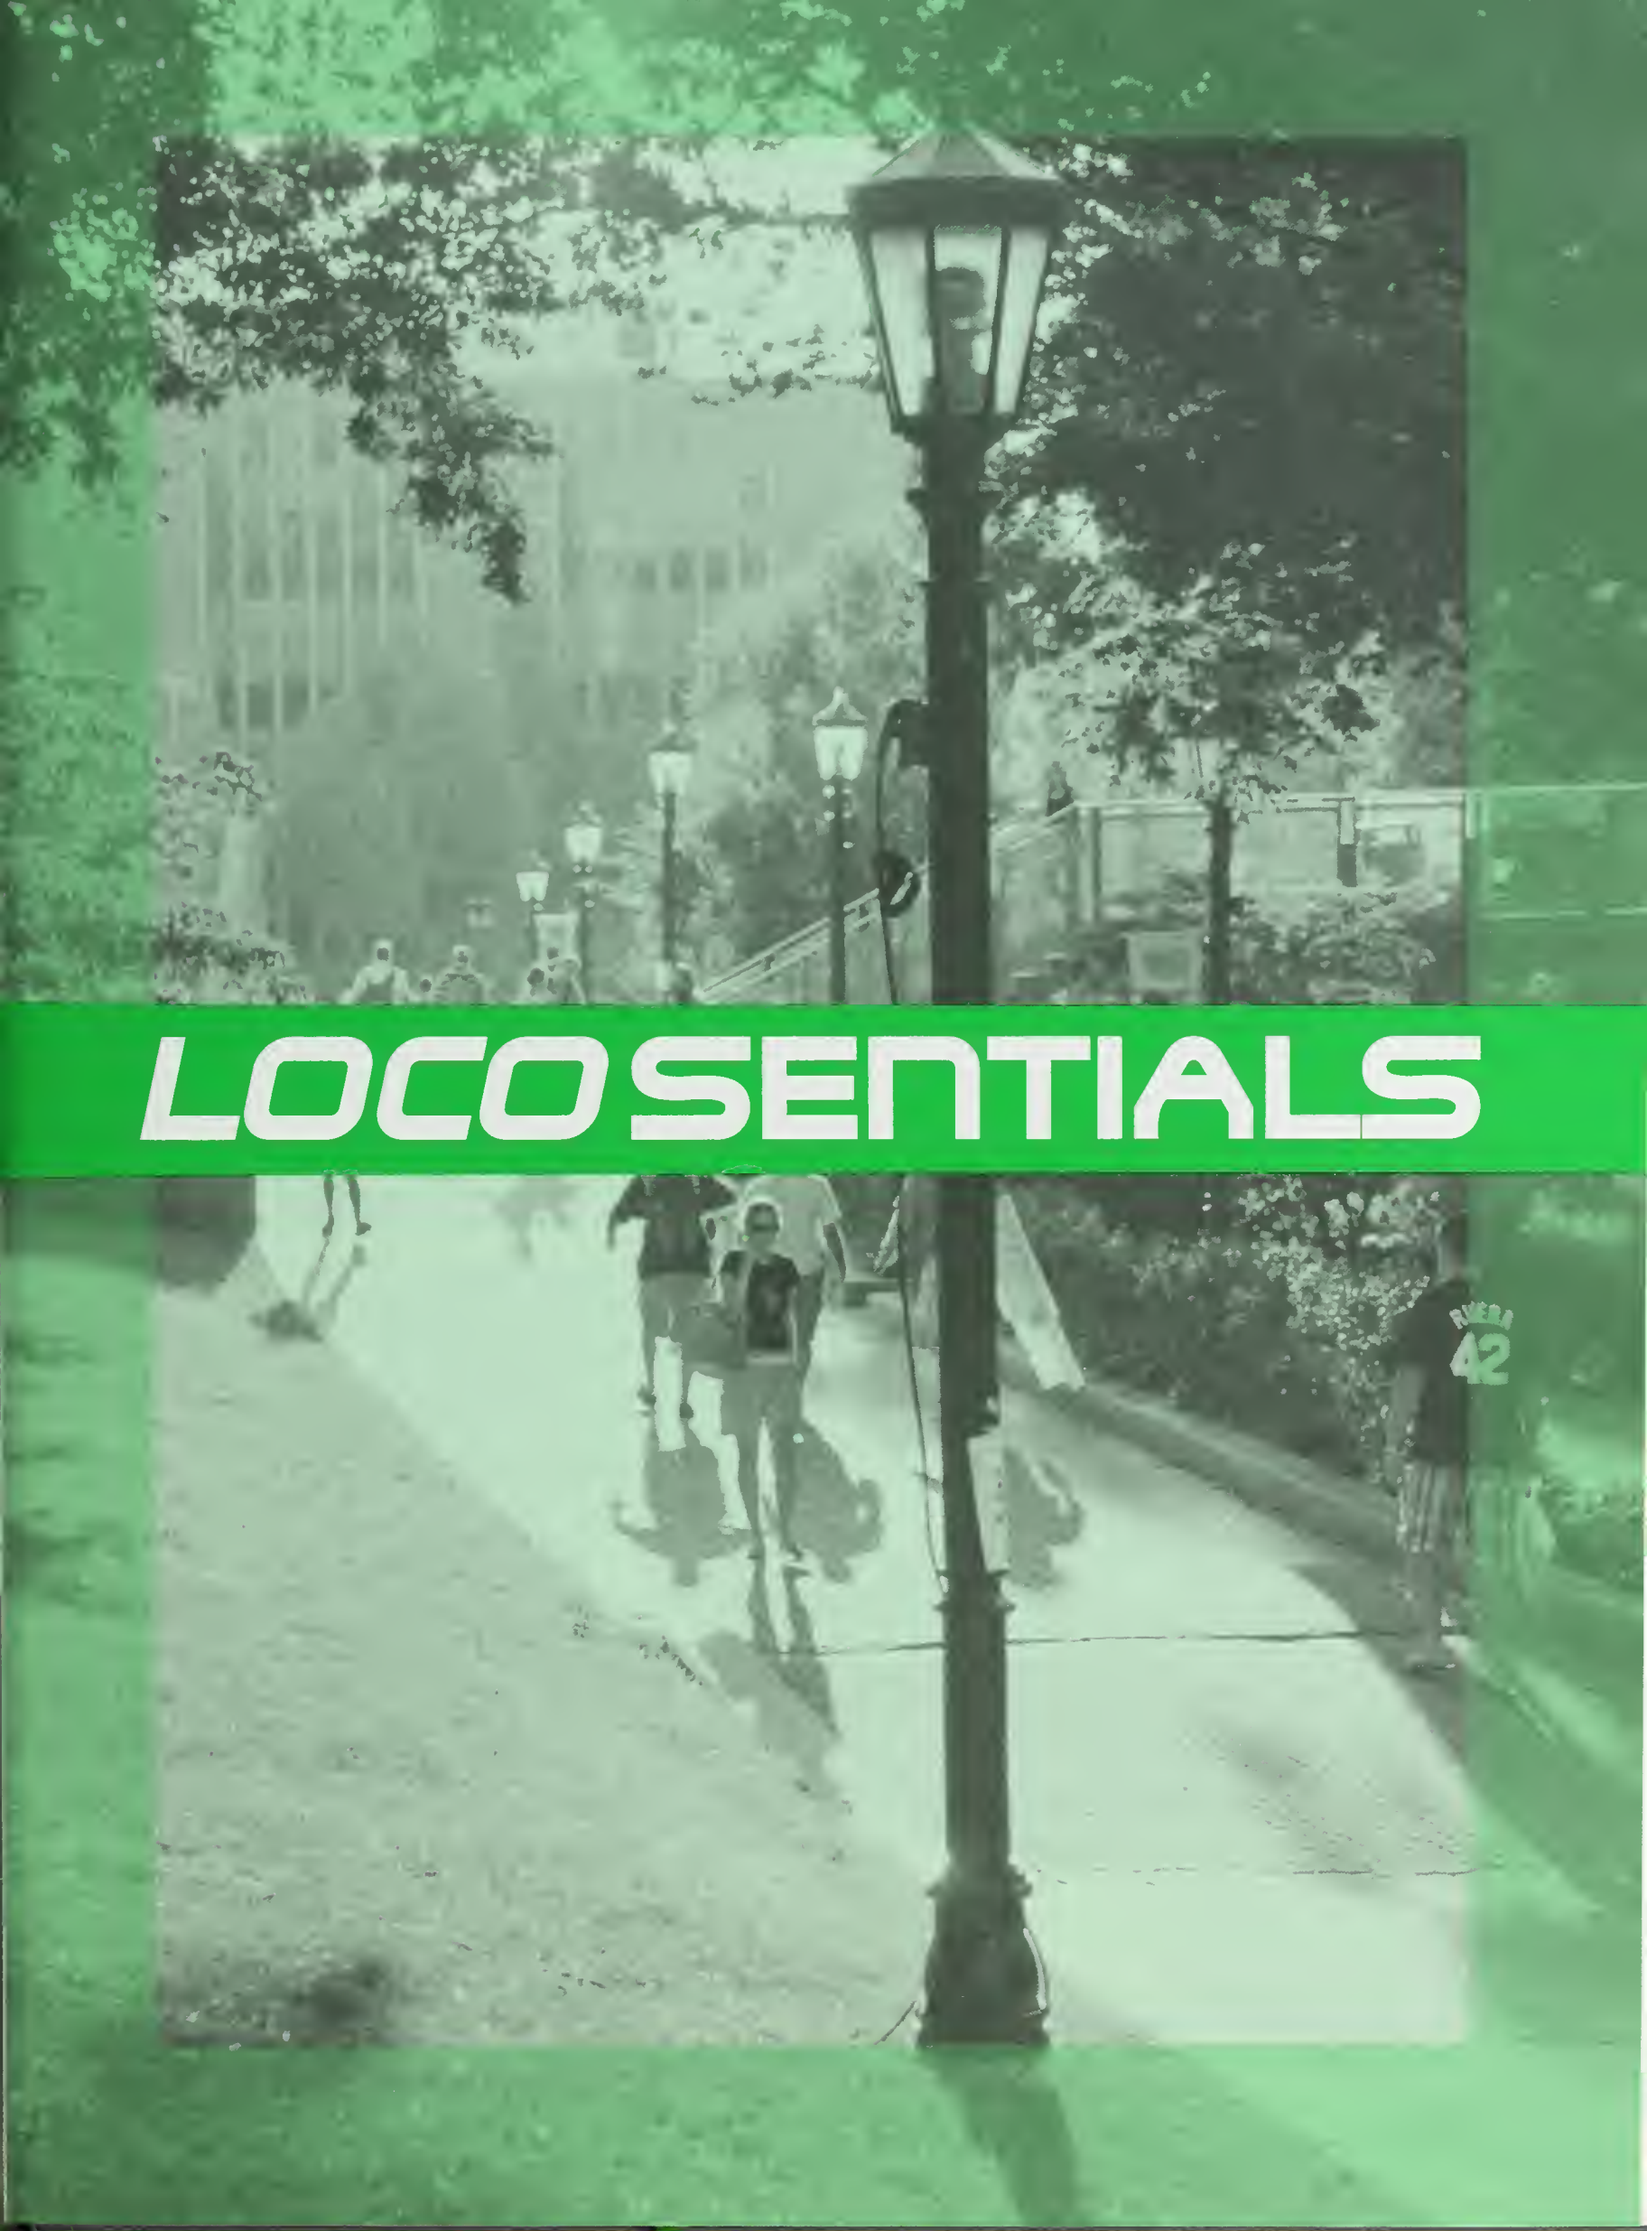
The women's Club Basketball gathers together after a victory. Throughout the season, the team grew closer and as a result was able to perform better.

Playing team sports is a great way to meet a variety of different people. Here, players take a moment to talk before engaging in competition.

Indoor field hockey is a twist on the traditional outdoor version of the game. Because of the smoother surface of the court, controlling the ball can sometime be a challenge.

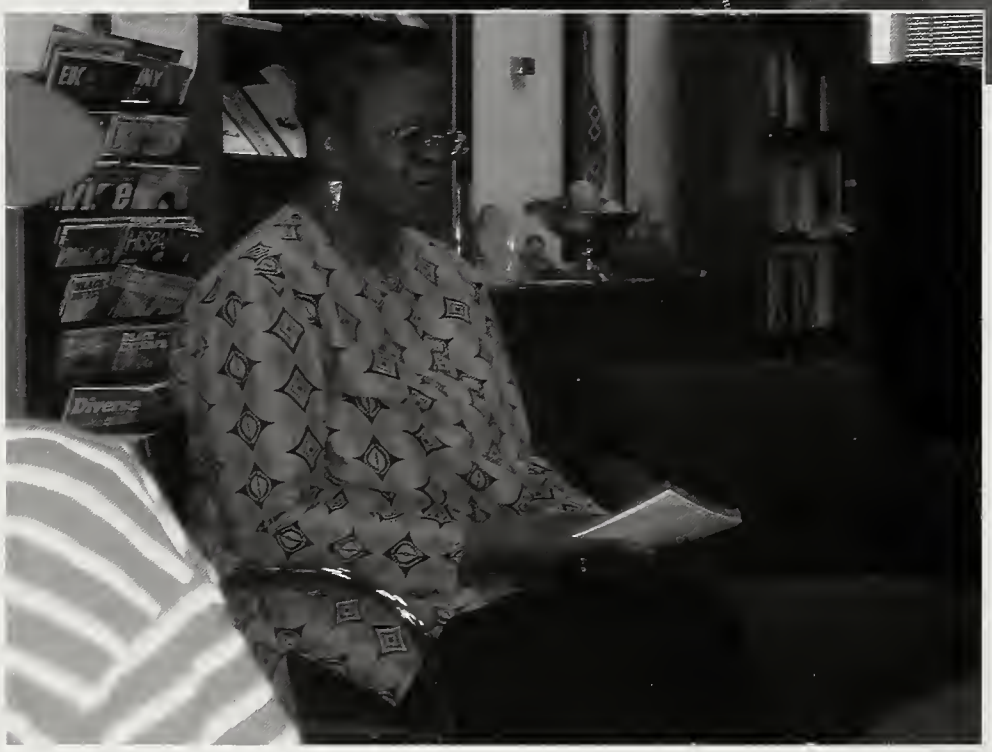
Getting possession of the ball from the tip off gives the team the advantage from the start of the game. Both teams await to see which player will get the ball.

ETC



LOCOSENTIALS

Lectures not only supplement many classes throughout the semester, but they also give the students the opportunity



Griot-Shindana Cooper gave the lecture "Journey of an Extraordinary Black Woman" during Women's History Month. Cooper spoke to a small group of students about black women such as Mary McLeod Bethune and Coretta Scott-King.

Robin Darling Young of Notre Dame University gave a lecture entitled "Dying for Victory." Young teaches early Christianity and discussed Perpetua's Passion in regards to theology.

to listen and see many intelligent, important people speak about their experiences and studies.

Alex Rodriguez is observing photography Loyola professor Dan Schlapbach took in post-Katrina New Orlean's. The exhibit was displayed in Cohn Hall after Schlapbach's trip to New Orlean's, capturing the absolute turmoil the natural disaster left behind.

Terry Waite, humanitarian and hostage negotiator, was the keynote speaker during the Humanities Symposium themed "What Would You Die For." Waite told stories about his personal hostage situation and his answer to the question posed by the symposium.

In a lecture entitled, "What Would You Kill For?" Dr. James Reeves spoke of Perpetua's martyrdom through the perspective of the persecutor. He also discussed the importance of sacrifice in the Greco-Roman culture.

Loyola writing professor, Ned Balbo gave a reading of his book of poetry, "Lives of the Sleepers" after it won an Ernest Sandeen Prize for Poetry. He also read some selections from his earlier award winning poetry book, "Galieo's Banquet."

The College of Arts and Sciences encompasses most of the majors on campus. These majors include the sciences,

The Julio Fine Arts Gallery displays works of art throughout the year. Many times throughout the year, more so at the end of semesters, student work can be seen on display for peers, faculty, staff, and community members.

The Humanities building is the home to the College of Arts & Sciences. Many of the humanities courses are held in here. Departmental offices and the Counseling Center are in the building also.

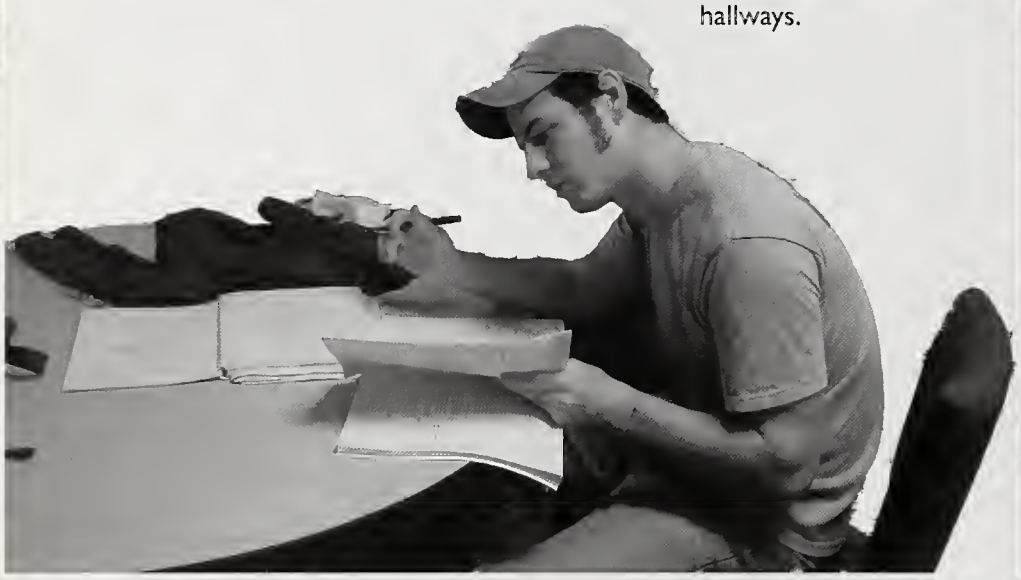
Many of the core courses are taught within the College of Arts & Sciences. The fact that Loyola is a liberal arts college is a big draw for incoming freshmen and their parents.

Two students sit in the hallway of Maryland Hall and catch up between classes. The hallways become a busy place of socialization for students and faculty before and after classes.

Maryland Hall is another building where many classes of the College of Arts and Sciences are held. It is one of the most frequented academic buildings on campus.

Beatty Hall is one of the buildings where the arts and sciences are taught. It also holds the offices of the social sciences including, psychology, political science, sociology, and education.

Sellinger provides many study areas for students to do work either in groups or by themselves. Andrew Chanko does his homework in the atrium study lounge.



These students walk up the staircase of Sellinger to get to class. Because Sellinger is the newest building on campus, it has an open floorplan with exposed stairs and wide hallways.

Business is the most popular major offered at Loyola. The Sellinger School of Business and Management is always filled with students going to class, discussing material with professors, or using the many sitting areas to meet with classmates.

Students can travel easily between Sellinger and Maryland Hall because the two buildings are connected. These students are leaving their business classes and are on their way to Maryland Hall.

The Sellinger School of Business and Management was completed in 2000. The building features new architectural design and decoration, but still fits in with the more traditional buildings on campus.

Business classes are characterized by their group projects. These students are meeting in the first floor study area to talk about their next group project.

You can always find students doing a variety of things on campus, whether it is going to and from classes, playing games

These kids are crossing their bridge on the way to the west side of campus. Since so many students live on the west side, the bridge is usually crowded.

Maryland Hall is a very busy building on campus, holding courses from many of the departments on campus and also housing the offices of many administrative departments as well.

or studying on the Quad, meeting with friends and professors, jogging, or just walking around to relax.

These girls are catching up on their way to class. At certain points during the day there are many groups of people clammering to talk to each other between classes.

Students walk across the bridge in between classes to catch a break before their next class time. Since a majority of resident students live on the west side of campus, there are a lot of students crossing the bridge between classes.

Kevin Murphy chats with another student about the event he is advertising in the Boulder Garden Atrium. Many student organizations or events have tables or kiosks advertising their information.

Greg Sileo is watching Nicholas II, the greyhound. Nicholas II can be seen all over campus walking with one of the Jesuits or elected volunteer students.

Loyola students find places all over campus to relax, do homework, get together with friends or professors.

These two students sit on the porch of the Humanities building to have a snack and talk. Students find spaces all over campus to have privacy and a place to themselves.

This group of students take a break from their classes to sit among their friends in the Sellinger School atrium during a break from classes. The lounges are popular gathering places for studying and getting together.

Rich Shami and Connor McNamara are walking and talking through campus. Sometimes these are the only moments busy students have to talk and catch-up with their friends.

This student decides to take a break from the rush of academic life at Loyola to write down some of her thoughts. Many students have outside activities that help take their mind off their stressful school schedule.

There are many lounge areas made around campus to accommodate students' needs.

These girls take a break to pose for a picture. Many students are seen walking in groups because of strong friendships created on campus through class and interests connections.

This girl is busy doing work in the Sellinger lounge. Many students use the time they have between classes to do their homework so they can part take in other activities later in the day or week.

Many of the Black History Month events which took place were informative lectures given by ALANA members, faculty and staff. Many people attended these lectures, including off campus visitors.

"Sankofa: Reclaiming History, Our Being Our Becoming" Sankofa is an Akan word that means "We must go back and reclaim

Students ask questions during the Black Student Association Forum. Faculty members moderated the forum and answered questions during and after with interested students.

our past so we can move forward; so we can understand why and how we came to be who we are today."

One of the events during Black History Month was the African American Museum on Wheels. The museum brought many historical pieces of art and writings to McGuire Hall.

These students represented Loyola at the Black Student Leadership Development Conference in Arlington, Virginia. Over 1,000 students attended the conference and its many informative lectures and information sessions.

Science Departments Dodgeball Tournament: Biology, Chemistry, Computer Science,

Donning bright orange, the math team could not be missed. Luckily, despite their vibrant shirt color and the help of some professors, they were able to dodge the opposing teams' throws for a long time.

The Engineering department, although a small group of students, were able to hold their own and give their opponents strong competition.

Dressed in navy blue t-shirts, the Computer Science Department team got ready to start their match. First, they had to decide who would run up to grab the dodge balls.

The Biology Department team members wore red shirts. Team members on other squads observed some of the earlier matches, sizing up their competition.

The Chemistry team makes sure they know all the rules before starting their match. Employees form Recreational Sports acted as referees during the tournament.

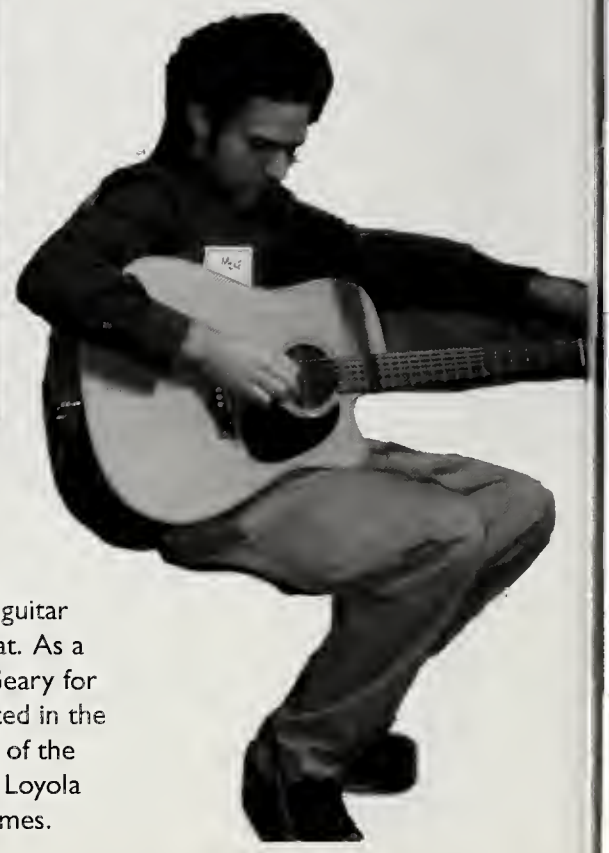
Biology majors were able to stay in the game for quite some time, quickly dodging throws and appearing very aggressive.

An individual has not started living until he can rise above the narrow confines of his

The Belles sang at the Meet and Eat during Hunger and Homelessness Week. The Belles were one of several musical groups to provide entertainment for the audience, which included people in transitional housing and students. The entertainment portion of the night began after the dinner.

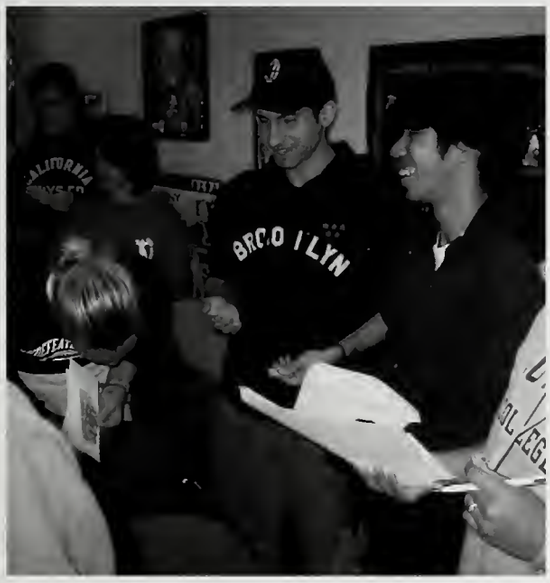
The Chimes also entertained the diverse group during the Meet and Eat. The audience was composed of students, mentors and members of Micah House. There was also an open-mic portion of the night during which everyone had the opportunity to share their thoughts or experiences.

A student volunteer participates in an event to spread awareness during the Fast and Sleepout. The students learned statistics about homelessness in the United States. They also learned about government legislation for the homeless such as the Food Stamp program.



Mike Ferrara plays the guitar during the Meet and Eat. As a member of the band Geary for President, he participated in the entertainment portion of the evening along with the Loyola College Belles and Chimes.

individualistic concerns to the broader concerns of all humanity.-Martin Luther King Jr.



Students play the "food insecurities" game, helping them gain insight into their own attitudes toward food. The games played during the Fast and Sleepout were meant to help educate students as well as to give them a sense of solidarity with the hungry.

Students at the Fast and Sleepout talk with a panelist. During the "Faces of Homelessness" event students listened to two men and one woman who are currently in transitional housing. Many of the students were impressed by the role faith played in the lives of the panelists.

Academic Mentor Team

Clubs and organizations: joining together to be a catalyst for change, provide entertainment, and serve

Asian Students Association

Beta Gamma Sigma

Community Service Council

as an expression of the many unique interests of the Loyola community through active involvement.

Education Society

Evergreen Associates

Financial Management Association

Institute of Management Accounting

Italian Club

Ju-Jitsu Club

Kappa Delta Pi

Loyola Alive

Loyola College Chapel Choir

Loyola Marketing Association

Marksmenship Club

Clubs and organizations: promoting the exploration and development of careers through

Minority Students Pre-Health Society

Pi Sigma Alpha

Pool Club

professional growth and involvement with outside employers and professional organizations.

Pre-Law Society

Relay for Life

Resident Affairs Council

Resident Assistants: Campion Tower

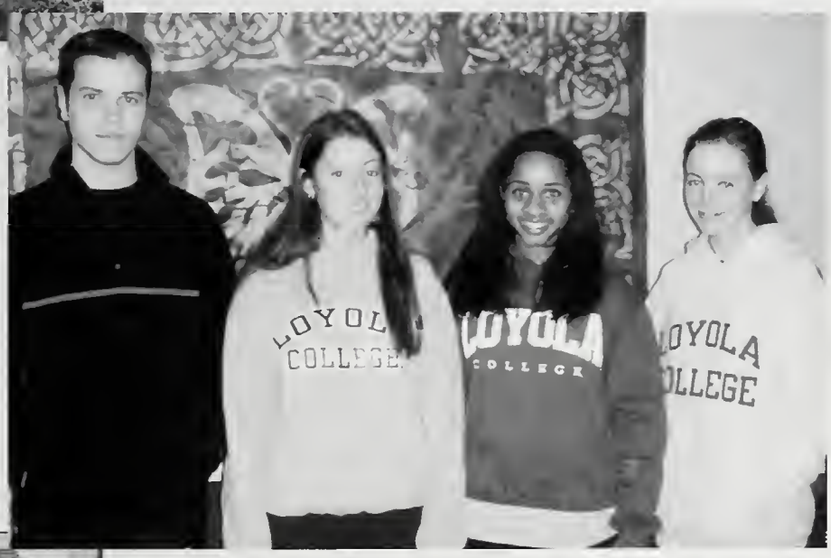
Resident Assistants: Courtside

Resident Assistants: Eastside

Resident Assistants: Gardens

Resident Assistants: Newman Towers

Running Club



Spectrum

Spotlight Players

Clubs and organizations: groups committed to making a difference through

Step Team

Student Government Association

Upsilon Pi Epsilon

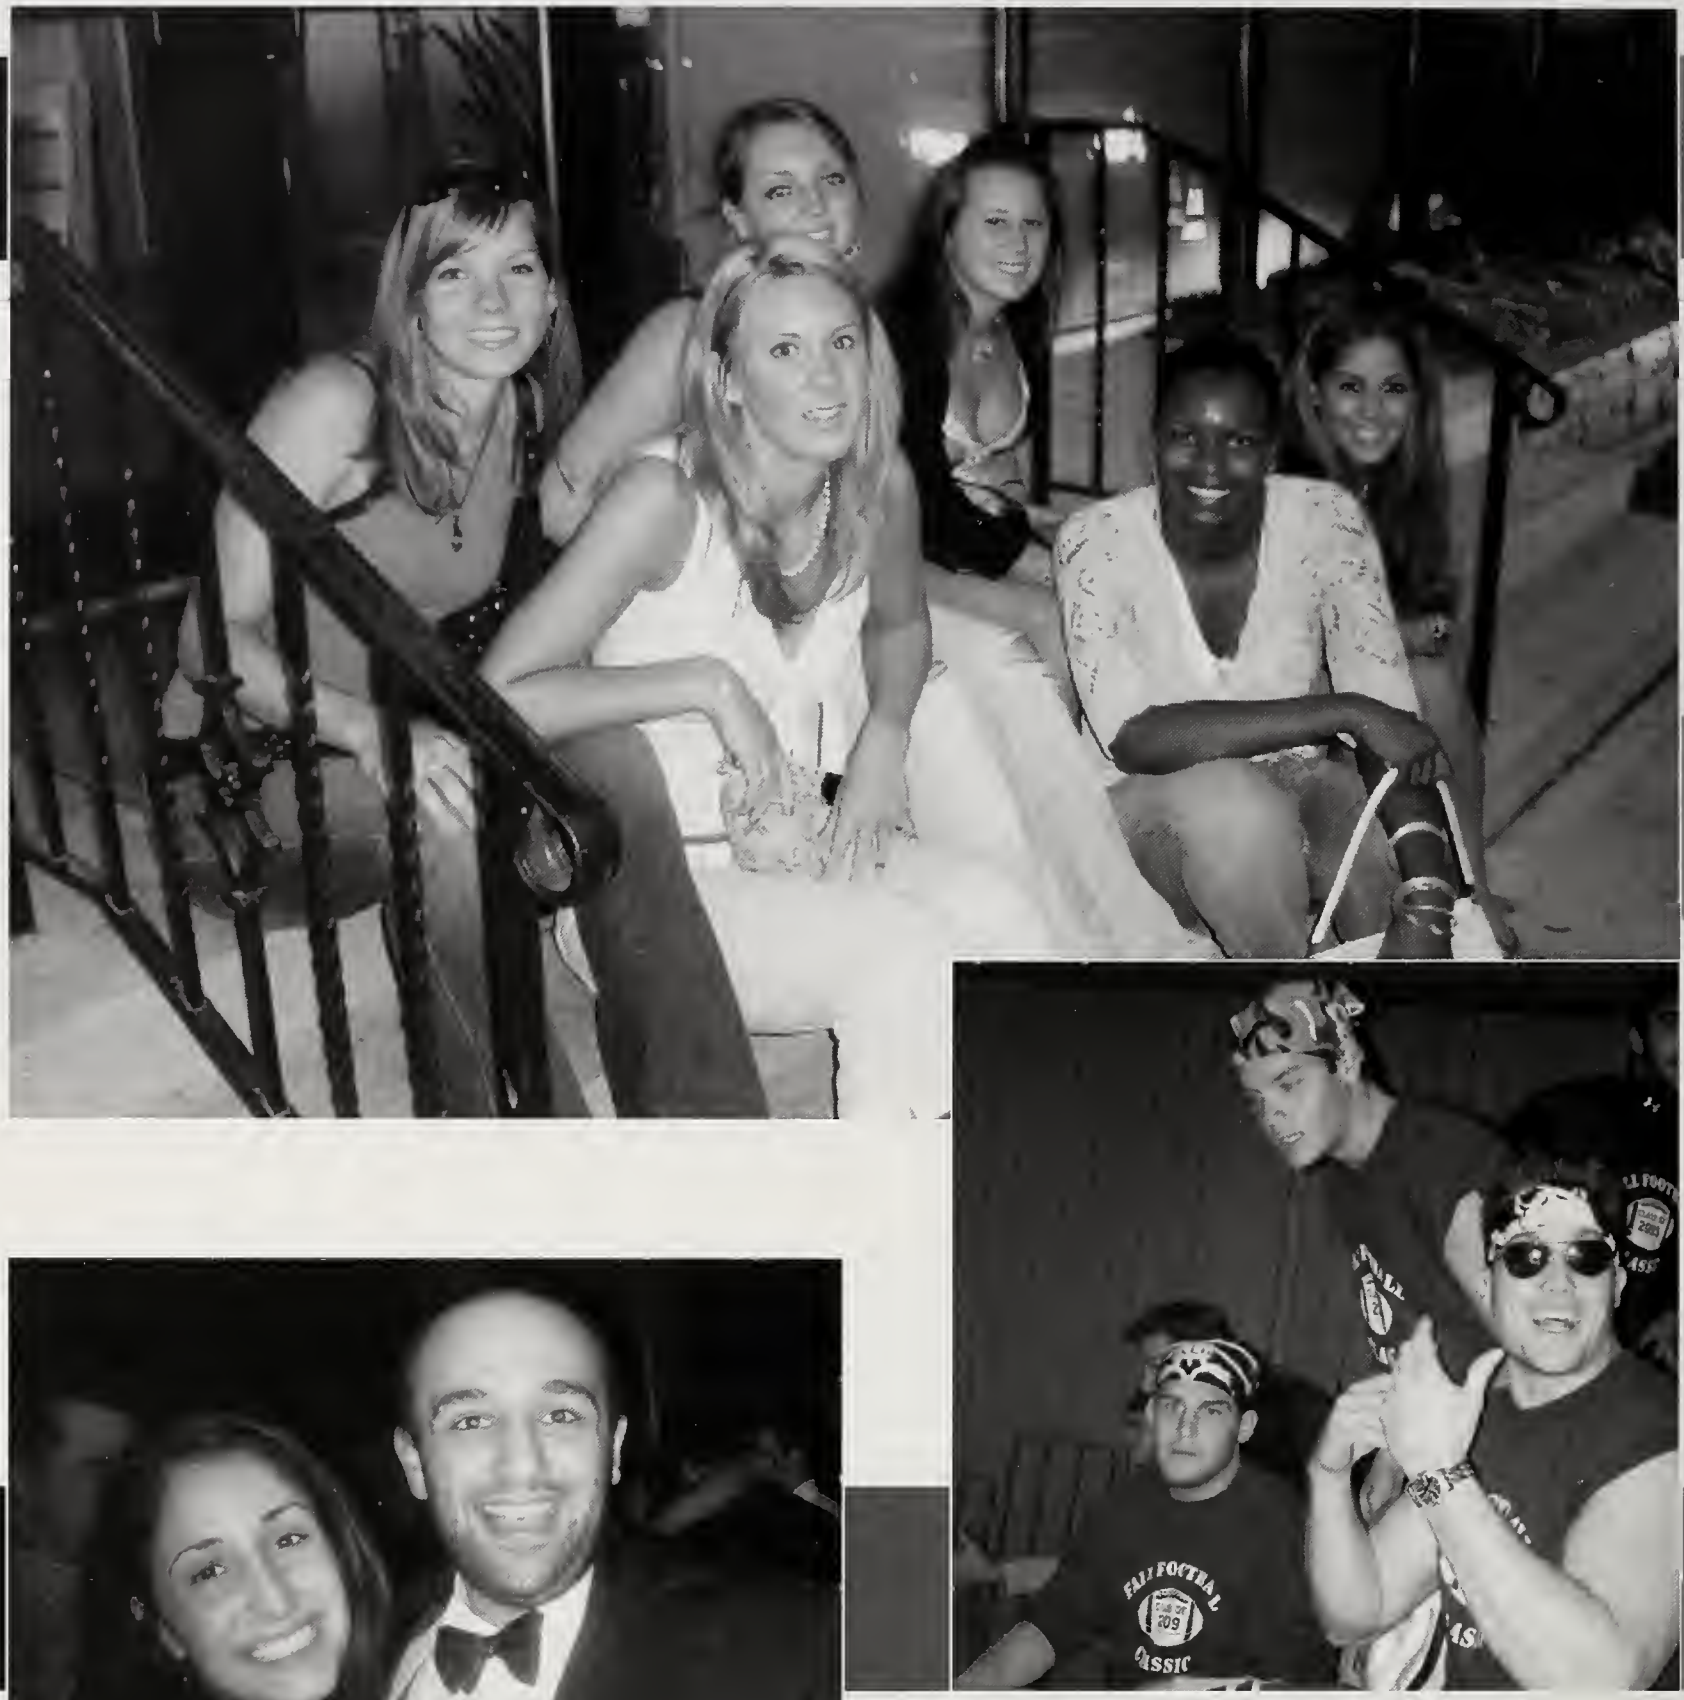
the promotion of awareness of a variety of special issues and concerns.

WLOY

Women's Pre-Health Society

UNDERCLASSMEN

GROWINGLOCO



Freshmen '09

Dear Class of 2009:

In retrospect, the past year seems like a paradox… it flew by so quickly, yet at the same time last August seems like ages ago.

We made it. We can now confidently say that we've completed the "College Transition" our teachers have always told us about. The bounds of the world finally seem to stretch beyond the walls of our high schools… and hopefully, the world of curfews, proms, and "free" food in the fridge seems a lot smaller.

Through the resources that you've entrusted me with, I've done my best to provide us all with positive memories of our Freshman year. If you can look back on the past ten months and definitively see how much you have grown, you should likewise feel as if you have succeeded.

We had best prepare ourselves for the next three years to pass just as quickly (and be just as awesome) as the first. When we graduate, it's my hope that not a single one of us will turn around with retrospect and regret not embracing them.

Geoffery Browning
Freshman Class President

Campers decided to ditch the tents and instead opted to sleep outside in an open field. It was the perfect weather to enjoy a bit of nighttime stargazing before getting some much needed shut-eye. This was the last day of camping before heading back to Loyola.

Pre-O

These adventurous travellers are stopping for a quick break before continuing their journey down the river. They traveled expedition-style, with one bank of the river part of Maryland and the other part West Virginia.

Freshmen in the Student Orientation to Service program participated in various service opportunities. Activities included spending time at Mother Seton Academy, where freshmen served as mentors and tutors, and Our Daily Bread, a meal program.

Students are making sandwiches at Beans and Bread, an outreach center which provides meals for people who are homeless. Loyola's ongoing partnership with Beans and Bread fosters such service opportunities.

First Days

After a hectic move-in process, new freshmen meet their Evergreen group for the first time. Evergreens led the freshmen in introductions, games, and activities to help the new students break the ice.

Southwell Hall resident assistant Asley Lang lends a helping hand to freshmen and their families during move-in. Many students had to wait in long lines outside of their buildings' elevators before they were able to begin the move-in process.

Casino Night, held in McGuire Hall, was one of many events during freshmen fall orientation. The event, complete with authentic casino games, music, and prizes, drew a large crowd of freshmen looking to have a good time with their new friends.

Evergreen John Nagib welcomes a new student before a session outside of McGuire Hall. Most freshmen were happy to take a break from a strenuous move-in day to meet their Evergreens and other students.

Best of Baltimore

These Best of Baltimore participants pose at the February event, Medieval Times, with the Green Knight.

Jennessa Fiorino, Scott Mix, and Kathleen Shulman enjoyed events such as Stomp, a Navy vs. Temple football game, Handel's Messiah, and a Duck Tour of Baltimore throughout their freshman year.

After going on a Duck Tour through Baltimore and into the Inner Harbor, this group of students enjoy dinner in Baltimore's Little Italy.

These freshmen girls had a great time at Medieval Times, a well-attended and favorite event of the freshman class.

Ashley Battersby, Lauren Issaeff, and Shannon Spendley stop for a picture at the top of the rock that the group visited to watch the sunset. Overlooking Blue Ridge, Pennsylvania, the rock boasts a beautiful view of the countryside.

Freshmen Retreat

Many friendships were made on the January 2006 Freshmen Retreat. Here, Laura Glicksman, Caroline O'Neill, AJ Olesh, Cait Hennessey, Lizzie McQuillan, and TJ Thompson take a break from the group activities.

About thirty-five freshmen went on the January 27th-29th retreat. Faculty joined the freshmen and eleven upperclassmen leaders for the weekend. The theme of the retreat was based on Jimmy Eat World's song The Middle.

The January Retreat leaders included (top, left to right) Martina Carter, Mark Mangano, Carrie Hamilton, Matt Pedalino, Aly Eberle, Katrina Thorn, Tim Snow, Trish Murphy, (bottom) Laura Eldridge, and Matt Anderson. The leaders worked hard to make sure the weekend was a enjoyable for everyone involved.

Freshman Formal

Marissa Tolas, Calli Reese, Allison Vivian, Tracy Petruzziello, Martina Mileto, Katie Olson, and Meg Schroeder pose in front of the dance floor on this most memorable of nights. Girls' dresses ranged from floor-length gowns to cocktail-esque attire.

Erica Terrinoni, Allie Wells, Jennessa Fiorino, Michelle Tumolo, and Kristin Mornan stand together near the seating section.

The pre-formal parties brought back memories of prom. Lauren Rutkowski, Michelle Tarantino, Carrie Bohrer, and Sam Harvey take a "girls only" photo before heading to the formal.

William Rodriguez and Katie Dulfer take a break from dancing to strut their stuff for the camera.

Eat, Drink and
Be Maui

Sophomores '08

Sophomore year is a crucial milestone in our college careers- majors are declared, decisions to study abroad are made, and our true interests and real friends finally find us after that crazy first year of college. We are taking more steps towards that halfway point to graduation, and while everything might seem overwhelming at times, the sophomore class has become closer, giving each other much needed support.

Looking back, many of our class activities have definitely helped us share some good times together. The Renaissance Festival in the fall semester and spring semester's trip to Medieval Times proved to be fun and unique ways to spend a Saturday as we cheered on battling knights and ate meat off-the-bone. We showed even more spirit with our amazing turnouts for basketball games, Fall Football Classic, and our sophomore bus trip to watch the Hounds win a nail biter at Mount St. Mary's! The newly created Office of Sophomore Initiatives also provided fun trips such as Mystery Bus and Road Trip. Other events also kept the energy up-- we cheered on some brave sophomores during the Gallon Challenge and later at our first-ever indoor Class BBQ/Rock, Paper, Scissors Tournament! By responding the quickest to a class e-mail, students were also able to please their palates during finals week at the first-ever Surf and Turf dinner, free of charge. In addition to announcing upcoming class activities, the newly created class web page chronicled such events with hilarious pictures some of us may want to forget.

Presence for Christmas, our annual sophomore service project, was extremely successful this year. Your hard work and generous donations of gifts and food helped make the holiday season extra special for so many families and children in the Baltimore community. In the spring semester, we decided to continue to give back to the community with the first ever Sophomore Service Day.

All of these great experiences and contributions to the community would not have been possible without your help and your positive attitudes! You all should be proud of what you have accomplished so far and all the great achievements you will make the rest of your time here at Loyola. Remember that there's still so much to experience, and I hope you take advantage of every opportunity that comes your way. Learn, have fun, meet new people, make a difference, and make some great memories because these four years go by all too fast.

Good luck to everyone and thanks for an amazing year! If you're going abroad, have the time of your life, and we can't wait to see you again! May junior year bring success and lots of fun and laughter to all of you!

Dylan O'Shea
Sophomore Class President

Cross Roads

Students stop to pose with Xavier Cole, one of the administrators present during the retreat.

Retreat members have time to reflect and write on their experience.

Crossroads, the Sophomore Initiative program sponsors Road Trip, a weekend retreat to help sophomores interact with their classmates as well as faculty and administration. Here students stop to take a picture with some new friends.

Its all about having fun when meeting new people. Classmates bond over ice breakers and group discussions that help them to get to know each other.

Sophomore overnight team member Don Pitcher gives a talk to the whole group on the topic of pride. The retreat consisted of leader talks, personal reflections, and group activities.

Sophomore Overnight

Smiling with new friends, this group of sophomores takes in the view from High Rock, an overlook visited frequently by retreat groups. The overnight took place over a February weekend at one of Loyola's retreat houses in the Blue Ridge Mountains.

Slicing and dicing vegetables, Kristen Wiedersum and Mark Mangano do their part in preparing the group dinner. Not only did everyone eat together, but they also helped cook and clean up afterwards.

Mark Lee, Dean of Sophomores, led the group in a morning prayer around the campfire. The fire was lit using wood from the previous night.

Kickoff Cruise

The year started off great for a group of sophomores who attended a cruise around the Inner Harbor sponsored by CrossRoads: The Sophomore Initiative. The event took place on the Bay Lady Harbor Cruise and included food and dancing.

Grateful for a break from the typical college cuisine, these girls take their turn in the buffet line. This was just one of the many events that took place throughout the year sponsored by CrossRoads.

This sophomore and Sara Scalzo take time to smile for the camera. Faculty and administrators also attended the cruise, allowing the students to interact with them on a more social level and build relationships.

These students demonstrate that dancing made for a fun night. Students, faculty, and staff all took to the dance floor while on the cruise.

Throughout the Year

These sophomores pose for a picture in the lobby after seeing a BSO concert. The tickets were sponsored by the Student Activities office.

Stomachs full, this lucky group of sophomores were treated to the first-ever Surf and Turf dinner. Students who replied to the invitation the quickest were served a delicious complimentary meal during finals week.

These sophomores were given the special opportunity to take a Thai cooking class. Here, they are preparing a traditional Thai treat.

Juniors'07

This past year has been quite the treat for every junior far and near. About half of our class studied all across the world from New Zealand to Argentina to all over Europe. They immersed themselves in cultures they had never experienced before and came back better because of it. Although deeply missed, we were happy to have such fine individuals represent our class internationally.

The other half of our class stayed and enjoyed charm city for the full year, and they didn't miss out on one beat. We began the year with a bang by hosting the first ever gallon challenge in Loyola College history. This feverish pace was maintained throughout the year as we stomped the seniors into oblivion at the FFC and hosted dinners for students leaving and returning from overseas. The return of the water pong tournament marked a huge day in our lives as all classes united for the collegiate pastime of pong. We capped our final days as rising seniors at our semi-formal hosted by the Baltimore Aquarium. An unforgettable evening was had by all.

As we inevitably begin our final semesters at Loyola, cherish all the memories from this year and years past. We look forward to a remarkable senior year with the reunion of our class for one final lap.

Best of Luck,

Michael Hardy

Michael Hardy
Junior Class President

Just because these girls lived in Leuven, Belgium for a year does not mean that they had to forget holiday traditions. The house they lived in coordinated an egg hunt during Easter.

Taking a break from class, this group of girls pose by the Coliseum in Rome, Italy. Studying Roman history and theology meant classes frequently took place in museums and churches around the city.

Study Abroad

Jaclyn LaMorte, Lisa Ronco, and Ashley Cook were able to go the Olympics while studying in Florence for the semester. Many juniors living in Europe took a trip to Torino for the games.

Basking in the warm weather, the students studying in Melbourne, Australia take in the scenery of the city.

Study Abroad

Braving the cold weather, Ashley Cosentino, Stacy Welch, Kathleen Hartnett, and a friend visit Versailles, located just outside of Paris. They, along with five other Loyola girls, studied there at The American University of Paris.

Carrie Hamilton, Awoyaa Mensah, and Tenisha Callender embraced the local culture by wearing native dresses while in Bangkok, Thailand.

Spending the Spring semester in New Zealand meant lots of outdoor exploring. Pictured clockwise: Garry Capko, Stephanie Samar, Julianne Tinari, Susan Leitholf, Katelynn Anderson, and Jen Dryer.

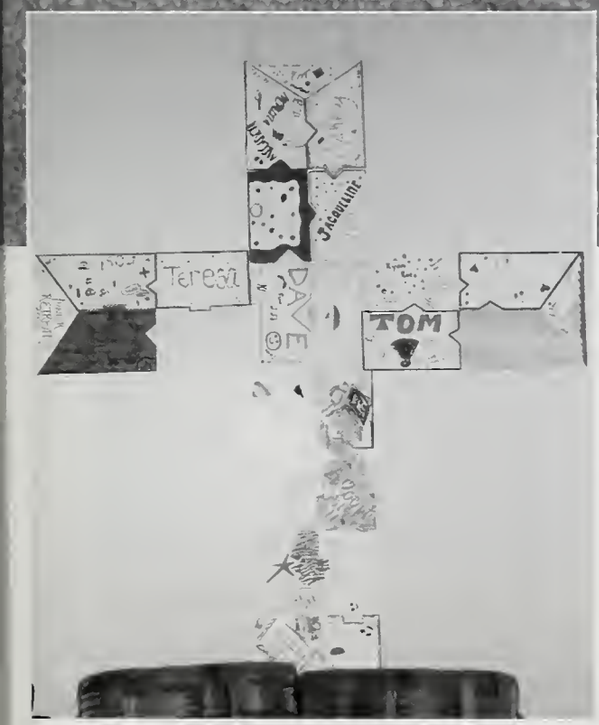
A group of girls from the Ireland study abroad group stand in front of the Blarney Stone during their visit.

junior retreat

All the members of the retreat blind-folded themselves, joined hands and walked across the grass for an exercise in trust and teamwork.

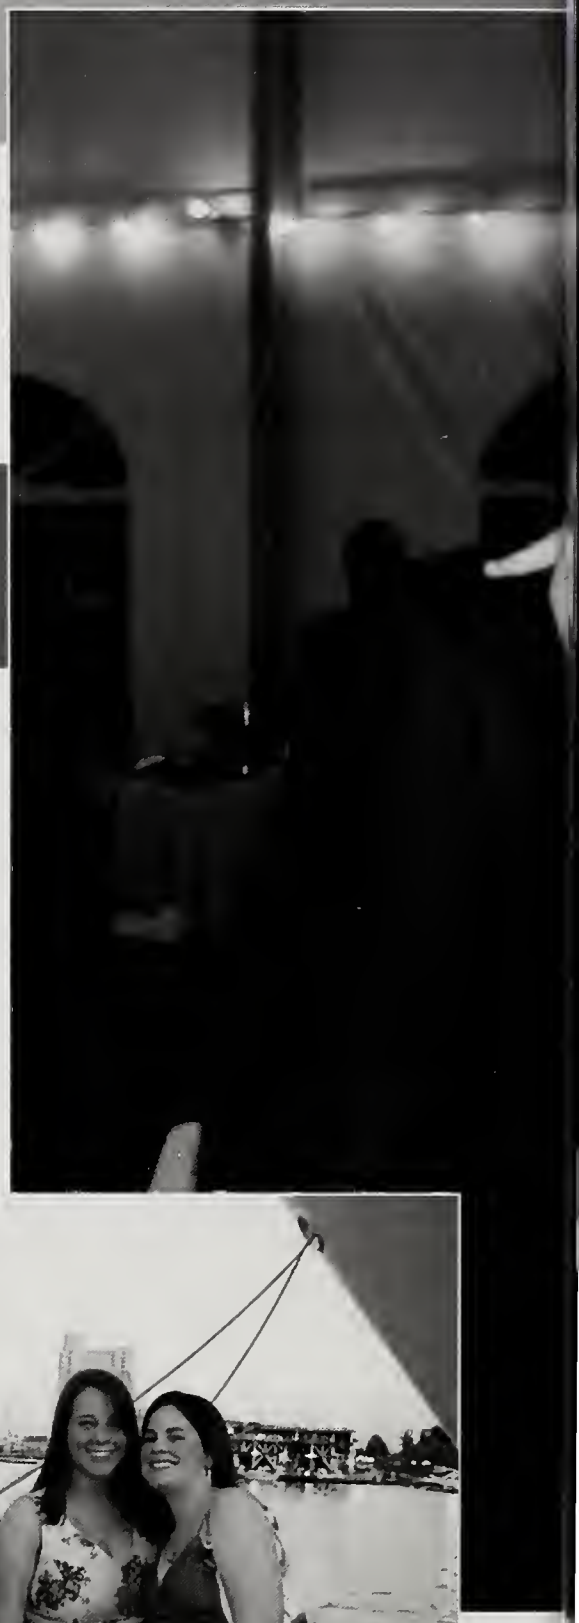
These juniors, along with Student Life Assistant Director Mike Puma, organized the entire weekend of reflection and thought for their fellow classmates.

The students, still blind-folded, take a break in the area chapel to have a moment of reflection of the activities that took place throughout the day.



Each member of the retreat drew their name with pictures to represent themselves. The paper was then put together creating a cross to decorate the retreat house.

Junior Formal



Taking a break from the dance floor, Jonathan Downie, Matt Messina, Blair Puscas, Rich Spirio, and Scott Rediker watch their friend Dan O'Hara as he shows off his unique moves.

Ashley Cipu and Katie Shea take in the scenery at the Inner Harbor before heading to the dance. Many groups took advantage of the Aquarium's downtown location and ate dinner at local restuarants before the event.

It is evident by the smiles of Tony Conard, Carolyn DeSiena, and Doug Sandberg that the night will be remembered as a great one. The dance provided Juniors with the opportunity to spend time with friends and catch up with acquaintances before the craziness of finals week started.

Brittany Conahan, Jen Zimmerman, and Alexis Aloi take a ride on one of the moving walkways at the dance's venue, The National Aquarium in Baltimore. Besides spending time on the dance floor, guests had the opportunity to browse the numerous and fascinating exhibits.

SENIORS

LEAVINGLOCO

seniors '06

To Loyola's Most Amazing Class,

It's Saturday afternoon and I am alone in the SGA office trying to get some work done. Over the past month, every time I sat down to write this relatively short note I found myself at a lost for words. More than a dozen times, I sat down prepared to write the standard and somewhat clichéd yearbook letter but for some reason I just couldn't get it out. I have been sitting here for almost an hour, checking e-mail and logging onto Facebook, truly perplexed about why this simple task is so hard for me to complete and why I keep procrastinating. Just now, however, it finally dawned on me. This letter is the first "good-bye" task that is actually due. Sure I've been working on senior week and graduation events for awhile, but this letter is different. It's supposed to be a recap of our final year at Loyola, a year that will be over the first time anyone in our class reads it! I've had such difficulty with this letter because it means our time at Loyola is actually coming to a close.

At first this realization was somewhat upsetting, but the more I thought about it the more I realized that senior year doesn't have to be the end of Loyola for any of us. Graduation marks the end of core classes, of crazy partying on York, of attending club meetings and senior countdown events, but it doesn't have to mark the end of our involvement in the place that we have all been lucky enough to call home for the past four years.

Whether you are looking at this letter when the yearbook comes out or 30 years down the road as you clean out your attic, I want to remind everyone that Loyola doesn't ever have to be completely over for you. As alumni we have almost unlimited opportunities to stay involved supporting our school, influencing its future and continuing the relationships that we have established over the past four years. After you finish reading this, take action! Pick up the phone and call a former roommate you haven't talked to in a while; log on to the Loyola web site and make plans to attend the next alumni event in your area; call the Development Office and make a pledge toward a new project to help our school grow; or call up your old crew and organize your own mini-reunion in Baltimore for a Loyola Basketball game. Flip through the pages of this book and remember all the fun times that you had and whatever way you choose to continue your relationship with Loyola, just make sure that you do!

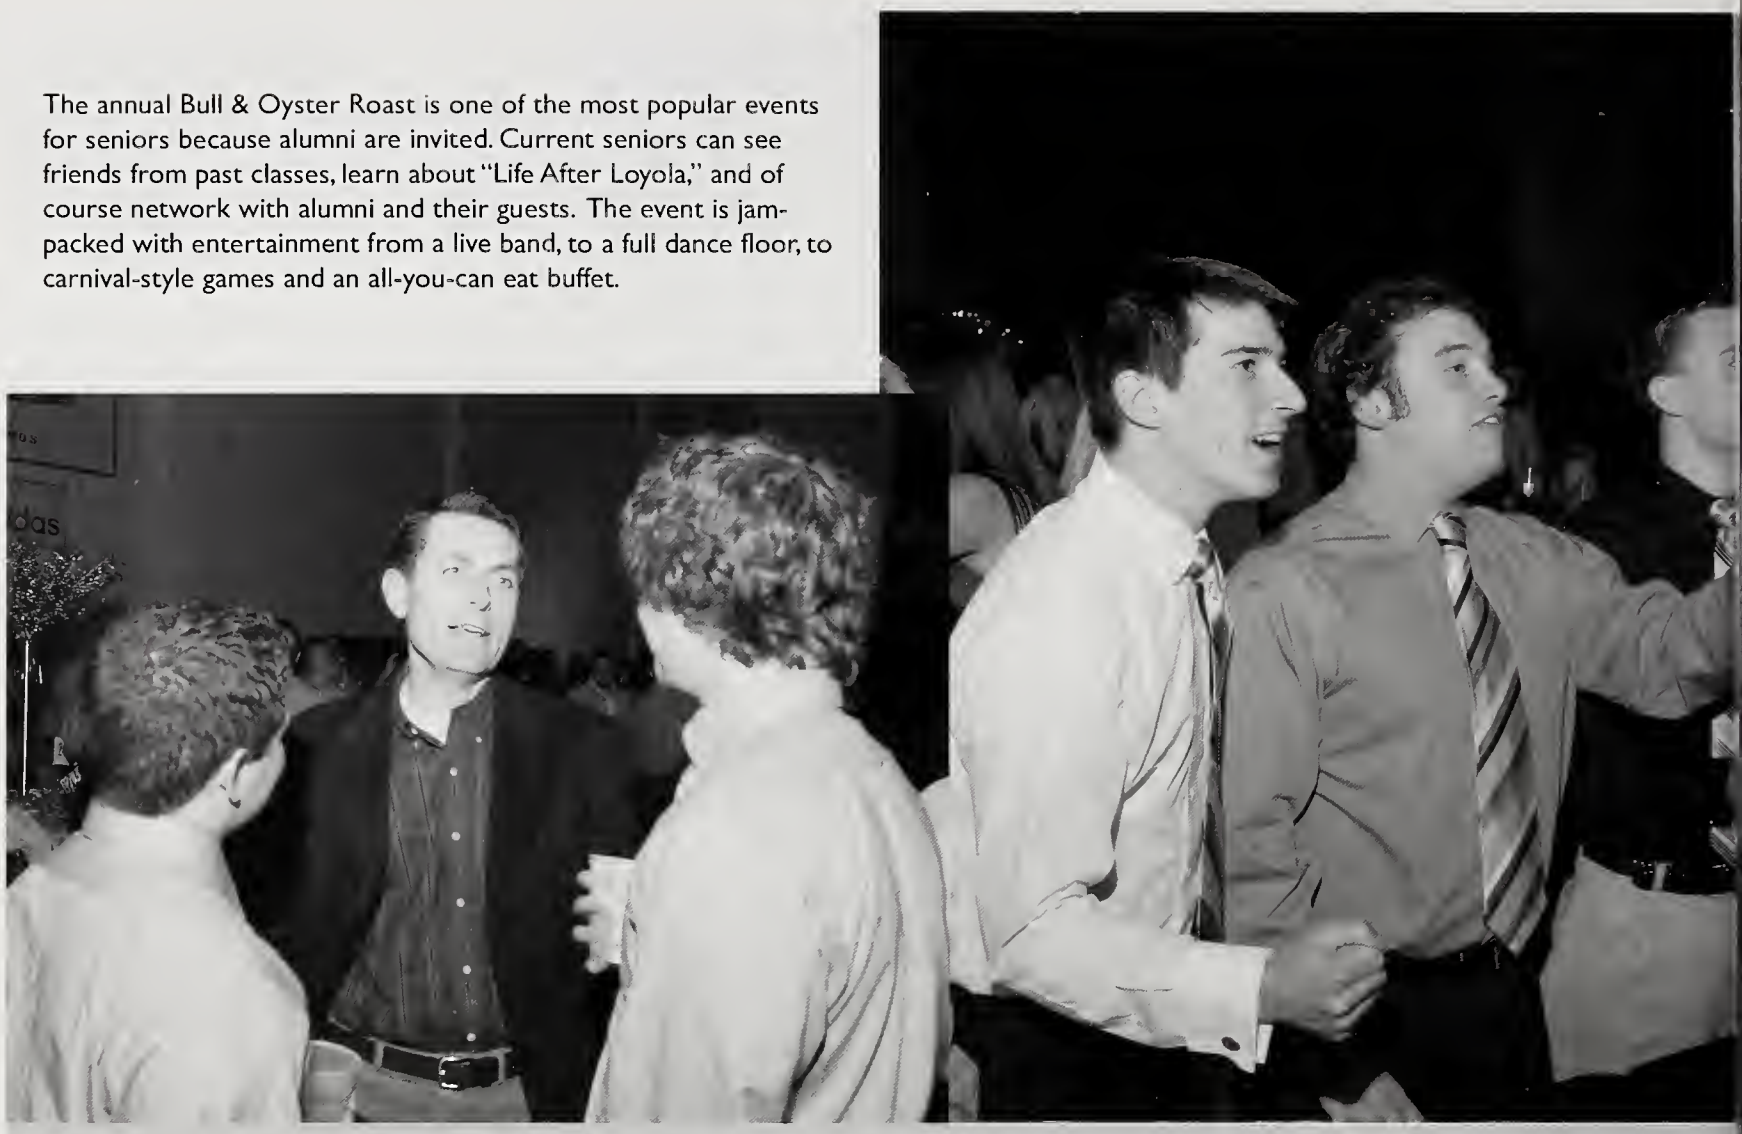
While I guess I'm a little biased, I truly believe that the class of 2006 is one of the greatest classes that Loyola has ever seen. I am overwhelmingly proud to be member of this amazingly talented group and want each of us to always remember that graduation doesn't only have to be an ending. It can also be the beginning of our class as active members of the LC alumni community. By staying involved as alumni, I am confident that Loyola will be made even better by our collective talents for years to come.

In closing, I want to thank all of you for allowing me the privilege of serving as your class president. It has been an immensely rewarding experience, and please never hesitate to contact me for anything. I'll see you all at the next class reunion!

Kelly Crossett

Kelly Crossett
President of the Class of 2006

The annual Bull & Oyster Roast is one of the most popular events for seniors because alumni are invited. Current seniors can see friends from past classes, learn about "Life After Loyola," and of course network with alumni and their guests. The event is jam-packed with entertainment from a live band, to a full dance floor, to carnival-style games and an all-you-can eat buffet.



The Bull & Oyster Roast is an opportunity for graduating seniors to meet up with friends and former fellow Loyola students.

bull & oyster roast

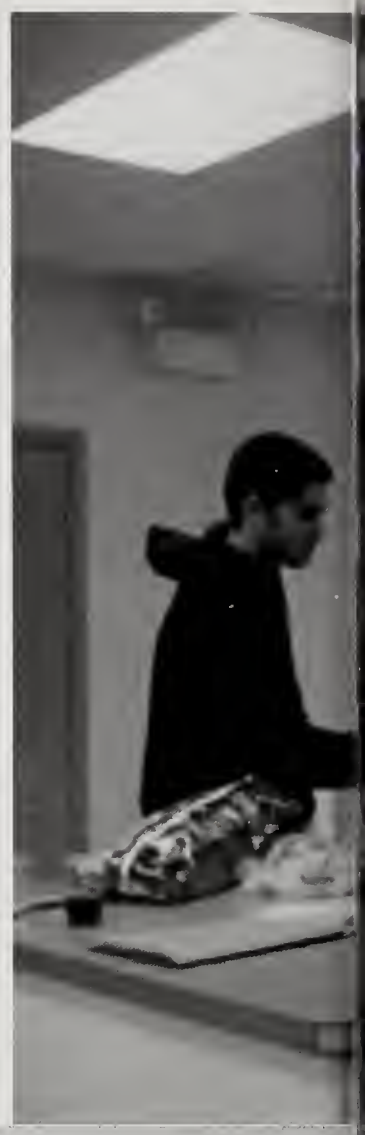
The Bull & Oyster Roast is the one senior class event to which only seniors and alumni were invited, which is what made it so special and popular. Alumni, of all age enjoyed the evening and took the opportunity to talk to students. For many alumni, this was their first on-campus experience as a graduate of Loyola. The event attracted mostly young alumni because of their close ties and connections with the current seniors, but there was a good representation from the spectrum of reunion classes . The event offered many different fun activities and opportunities for all those who attended. Reitz Arena was full of carnival style games, run by staff members and underclassmen of the college. There was also a live band playing and a giant checkered dance floor, where many got together to dance away the night. Another reason why Bull & Oyster Roast was once again so popular, and probably the essence of the event, is that it gave current seniors the opportunity to meet and talk with people that attended and graduated from Loyola. Seniors were able to have an idea of what life is like after college, they found out that you do actually get jobs after college, and if they are lucky they could make connections with some former students to help with their job search. The Bull & Oyster Roast proved to be an entertaining and beneficial night for seniors as they embarked on their transition from students to graduates.

This event proves to be one of the most popular of the senior events, because of the connections made with

One of the benefits of the Bull & Oyster Roast is the opportunities for current seniors to talk with Alumni from Loyola College, some recent graduates and some older. Loyola students find out what life is like after graduation, what it feels like to be alumni and even make some networking connections with alumni who are employed in many fields of interest.

senior retreat

The Senior Retreat provided the opportunity for the members of the Class of 2006 to take a weekend away from the hustle of life at Loyola to contemplate and reflect the many ways in which they had grown and changed in the past four years as well as what direction they were heading in as they approached life after their undergraduate experience. Led by senior Trisha Murphy, a dedicated group of seniors, faculty, and staff provided a meaningful, enjoyable, and unforgettable retreat which allowed friends to learn a little more about each other as well as encourage new friendships. Strengthening relationships with ones' self, each other, as well as gaining a deeper understanding of one's spiritual side were all major themes of the weekend. Each member of the retreat group was able to relate to the different experiences shared by the retreat leaders as well as provide insight from their life experiences. As a result of the weekend, many anxieties of what the future may hold were both uncovered and alleviated. For many, the retreat was a forum for learning and expression which provided new insight and perhaps a life changing experience for some.



During the weekend of the retreat, seniors had the opportunity to participate in a variety of activities. In the downtime, some chose to create greetings for their friends and fellow classmates, write notes, or simply talk to each other.

One of the favorite parts of the retreat was the ability for students to spend a weekend with their favorite faculty, staff, and administrators. Legends such as Dr. Bagley provided valuable insight and material for reflection during the course of the weekend. Special guests including the Rev. Brian F. Linnane shared their thoughts with the soon to graduate seniors.

For each event, the Senior SGA Assembly chose a theme which would provide for both interesting costumes as well as interesting ways in which to incorporate the theme. Perhaps the most memorable of attractions of the senior events was the mechanical bull which was featured for the Wild West night.

senior countdown

One of the famous Loyola traditions of the Senior Class is the celebration of the different milestones on the path to graduation. The Senior Countdown events were a festive and social opportunity for members of the Class of 2006 to spend time with each other as their time at Loyola drew quickly to a close. Organized by the Senior Class SGA Assembly, each event had a theme which dictated the decorations and the costume for the night. Some of the more popular themes of the year included the toga party, black and white, wild west, and a Hawaiian Luau. Seniors had the opportunity to display their creativity when making their costumes. At each event, a wide spectrum of costumes could be found. Some costumes were quite simple while others were elaborate and took many hours of work. One of the favorite starting places for such costumes was Value Village on York Road, where truly one man's trash is another man's treasure. Before the events, Senior typically gathered with friends and spent some time enjoying each other's company before heading over to the main event. At each event, a live DJ, plenty of food, and a good time were to be had. As each event marked the approach of graduation and the real world, seniors anxiously awaited to see what the theme of the next event would be.

At each senior event, friends had the opportunity to spend time with each other and celebrate the coming of their graduation. Making the best of the time they had left together, the evenings were filled with many laughs and good times.

A wide variety of costumes were a staple at each of the senior events. Friends got together to help each other design their outfits or to go as a set of characters. Many costumes were found in the depths of Value Village on York Road, while others were sewn by hand.

The Senior Events were a welcome change of pace, especially in the days before graduation where thoughts of relocation, job searching, applying to graduate schools, and final projects preoccupied the minds of most seniors. Having the opportunity to get together with classmates and celebrate the coming of graduation gave the opportunity to create some memorable evenings together.

beach week '06

One of the more popular unofficial traditions of the graduating class is a trip to the beach before the official Senior Week festivities. Once again, hundreds of Loyola students flocked to Dewey Beach, Delaware to enjoy the sun, surf, and each other. In fact, the town had virtually no vacancies due to the number of seniors who came for a weekend at the beach. Seniors stayed at a variety of locations, ranging from full houses they rented out for the week to the local EconoLodge. During the day, many chose to frolic on the beach or simply settle down and work on their tan. Others took advantage of the many area attractions, including mini golf and 18 hole golf courses, the nearby Rehoboth boardwalk, or the local business district. At night, many establishments offered specials for the visiting Loyola students. Live music, great dancing, and good company could be found throughout the beach town. It was a rather impressive sight to see that most of the people one saw at any given point in the town during the weekend were Loyola students. When Sunday afternoon came around and most of the Loyola students returned to Baltimore, the town was left quiet as the soon to be graduates prepared for a week filled with activities and social gatherings.

Seniors took the opportunity to kick back, relax, and spend time away from Loyola with their friends and classmates as undergraduate students for one last time before they returned back to participate in an exhaustive week of graduation events.

There was a wide variety of things to do while staying in Dewey Beach. For the majority of the time the senior class was in the area, the weather was pleasant and welcoming. In the evening, students chose to hang out with their friends in their rooms and houses or explore the different nightlife options which the area offered.

The members of the Class of 2006 dressed to impress for the big night. Somewhat reminiscent of proms of years past, it was a common for students to gather at their friends apartments to have a good time before the event. Students could also be seen outside posing for pictures before making their way to the Gala.

senior gala

The Senior Gala was one of the last class events before family and friends came to Baltimore for the remainder of the Senior Week events. Held at the beautiful Renaissance Harborplace Hotel in the Inner Harbor, students were dressed in their best as they arrived in limousines, fancy buses, and taxicabs. Once inside, there was a variety of food and drinks to choose from. Students took the opportunity to talk with their friends, classmates, and dates for the evening, enjoy their meal, then took to the dance floor. A wide variety of songs were played, including techno, contemporary, and classic dance music. Also played was what became the theme song for the Class of 2006: "Don't Stop Believing" by Journey. The night quickly passed as seniors had fun and enjoyed the company of each other. Afterwards, some chose to extend the night downtown and take the final opportunity to explore what Baltimore nightlife had to offer. Others returned back to their homes in order to catch some sleep, talk with friends, or prepare for the final stretch of events which awaited them the next morning.

The Senior Gala was one of the more popular events of the Senior Week activities. Those who went had a great time as they danced the night away with their friends and classmates. Many students, although they went by themselves for the evening, had a great time with their group of friends who attended the event.

baccalaureate

As one of the first events of Commencement weekend, the Baccalaureate Mass gave the opportunity for the Loyola community and soon to be graduates the opportunity to offer thanksgiving to God for the many blessings which they had been afforded. The principle celebrant was the Reverend Brian F. Linnane, SJ, joined by numerous concelebrants from the Jesuit community as well as visiting priests who were friends and family members of the Class of 2006.

The liturgy was joyful and lively, a truly unique Loyola celebration made possible by the involvement of several groups. The Loyola College Chapel Choir and the Loyola College Gospel Choir filled Reitz Arena with sounds of praise. The lectors proclaimed the Word of God to those gathered. The liturgical dancers offered praise through interpretive dance. The Eucharistic ministers brought the Body and Blood of Christ to the worshippers. The faculty, administration, and staff donned their academic apparel and participated in the procession.

In an effort to demonstrate the values believed in by the Class of 2006, after the Liturgy of the Eucharist was celebrated, the class was led by senior class president Kelly Crossett in reciting a pledge to service. This pledge by the members of the class allowed them to rededicate themselves to the Jesuit values and the notion of men and women for others and pledge to do so wherever the next step in their lives may bring them. Those who were going to be involved in service programs after graduation were also recognized before those gathered. At the conclusion of the liturgy, Fr. Linnane bestowed a blessing upon the Class of 2006.

Students, faculty, and staff served in many different roles in the celebration of the Baccalaureate liturgy as lectors, eucharistic ministers, and liturgical assistants. Many individuals also helped in the preparation of the liturgy behind the scenes.

The Loyola College Chapel Choir and the Loyola College Gospel Choir shared their talents and joined together to sing songs of praise. The groups were composed of many talented individuals who joined together for a common cause: to give an expression of their gratitude and thanks for the many gifts that have been bestowed upon the Loyola community.

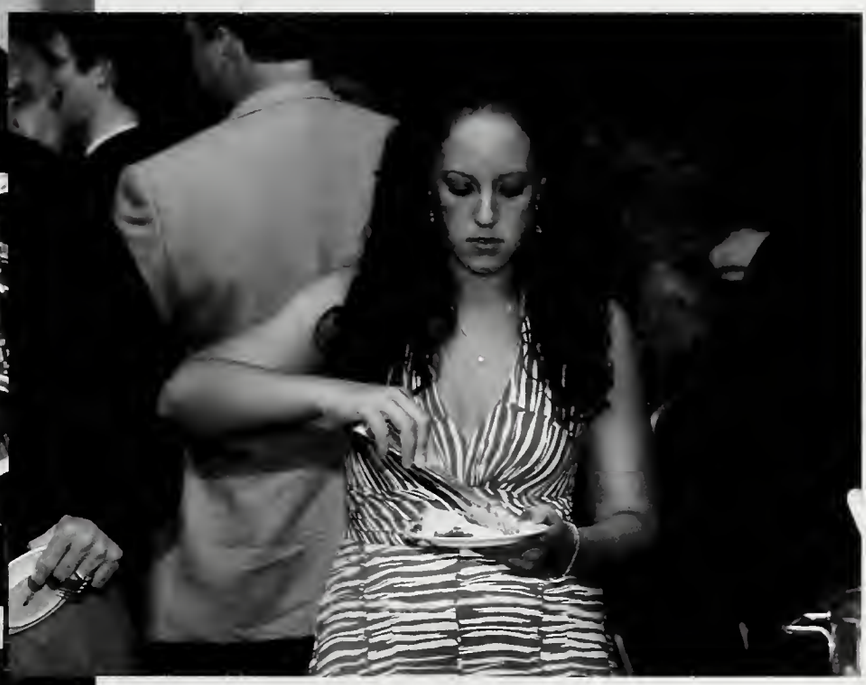
Sharing a few laughs for the evening, the soon to be graduates took to the dance floor and showed off their moves with friends. Although some were more graceful than others, all had a good time in the process. The parents of the students also took the opportunity to show their skills on the dance floor to the beat of both contemporary music and more traditional fare.

hail and farewell

The Hail and Farewell reception was the final event before graduation. Held at the Baltimore Marriott Waterfront, this event gave the opportunity for the soon to be graduates of the Class of 2006 to say goodbye to their fellow classmates and have their families meet their friends, professors, and other members of the Loyola community. Those present were treated to a scrumptious dessert menu which included traditional favorites such as New York cheesecake to the more elaborate French desserts.

If food and conversation were not enough to keep one occupied, musical entertainment was provided by the Mood Swings big band. Claiming to be Baltimore's swingin'est big band, members of the band included Sellinger School professor George Wright and Assistant Dean of students Xavier Cole. Both young and old took to the dance floor and danced the night away, celebrating the accomplishments of the past four years. The future promise of great achievements made for a festive and energetic atmosphere.

Good food, good music, and good company made for a night which passed very quickly. Held at the beautiful Baltimore Marriott Waterfront hotel, families and friends had the opportunity to spend a little time catching up before graduation.



commencement

Early on the morning of Saturday, May 20th, the soon to be graduates of the Class of 2006 gathered in the halls of First Mariner Arena awaiting the moment which four years of hard work, dedication, and sacrifice had prepared them for. While their family, friends, and others waited for the ceremonies to begin, many took the opportunity to catch up for a final time with their Loyola peers and professors. Although many were tired from the festivities of the previous night, there was a certain energy in the air: the future which at one time seemed so distant was at hand. They knew that at the end of the ceremony, they would walk out of the arena as Loyola graduates charged with facing the "real-world" and a whole new array of exciting challenges and opportunities.

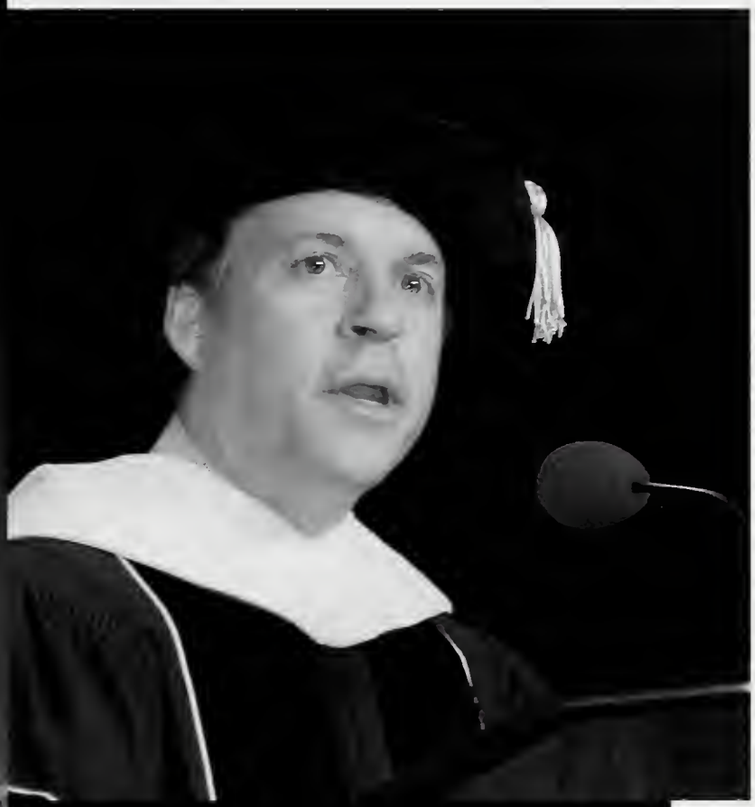
A captivating commencement address was given by Bob Costas, distinguished broadcaster and author. Described afterwards as one of the most interesting commencement speakers of Loyola, Costas tied in his experience from his work, hobbies, and education to relate to the graduates and those present. Throughout his entire speech, he held the attention of his audience and had them laughing to the point of tears.

The 154th Commencement was a celebration of many accomplishments by the undergraduate and graduate students, faculty, as wellas those who were awarded special honors. This commencement was also the first of newly appointed president Rev. Brian F. Linnane, SJ. Over 1600 undergraduate and graduate degrees were rewarded. An honorary degree was conferred to commencement speaker Bob Costas. The Carroll Medal, an award presented to distinguished alumni, was awarded to David Wolf '72, MBA '77 for his service as chairman of the Sellinger School Board of Sponsors. The Milch Award which recognizes superior contribution and achievement by an organization involved in service was presented to the Villa Maria Continuum. Villa Maria Continuum, an organization involved with the Loyola service-learning experience, provides behavioral health and special education services for children with emotional disabilities. The advancement of Sr. Helen Christensen to emeritus status was announced.

As the graduates processed across the stage and were congratulated by Fr. Linnane and the Deans of the college, they made the transition from student to graduate. With their diplomas in hand, the graduates marched forth from the arena and into the next phase of their lives.

The 2006 Commencement Exercises were the first in the tenure of the Rev. Brian F. Linnane at Loyola College. Fr. Linnane remarked on the special bond that he felt to the Class of 2006 and how they had an impact on his first year at Loyola.

The 2006 commencement exercises were unique and promised to be unforgettable for those in attendance. Commencement speaker Bob Costas, had the audience laughing themselves to tears as he recollected his tales of his unusual academic experiences. Senior Jasmine Jenkins sang a beautiful rendition of the National Anthem.



Graduates take the final steps on the path of their collegiate experience as they process into the First Mariner Arena. Proud parents, relatives, siblings, family members, and friends cheered as the graduates entered. Emotions were mixed amongst the graduates: some were excited about what their future held for them while others were more sentimental.

The uniqueness of the Class of 2006 was evident even during the commencement exercises. Graduates decorated their caps with taped messages, and some even wore their favorite baseball team's jersey underneath their gowns.

Ab - Be

Sara Abraham
Michael C. Abt
Daniel J. Acevedo
Jayme L. Adams

Matthew J. Albanese
Manuel A. Albuquerque
William C. Alciati Jr.
Dante C. Alfone

Mike Alfone
Omar A. Alfonso
Timothy S. Allan
Leslie A. Allen

Lauren B. Alteslaben
Josko Alujevic
Mark T. Alvino
Kerry L. Anderson

Sarah C. Anderson
Jacqueline M. Andrews
Kathleen P. Ansaldi
Mary A. Anter

Courtney M. Anton
Mark J. Antonino
Ariel D. Arcadipane
Jamie L. Arndt

Christopher G. Arvin
Lyndsay Aspell
Ashley M. Augustin
Turner H. Bailey

Nicholas P. Balding
Nicholas J. Barbieri
Jonathan M. Barker
Jason A. Bartlett

Matthew J. Basirico
Jillian C. Bastow
Andrew W. Baxter
Elizabeth C. Beauregard

Laura E. Begley
Charlie E. Bell
Amy L. Benedetto
Keeley A. Berry

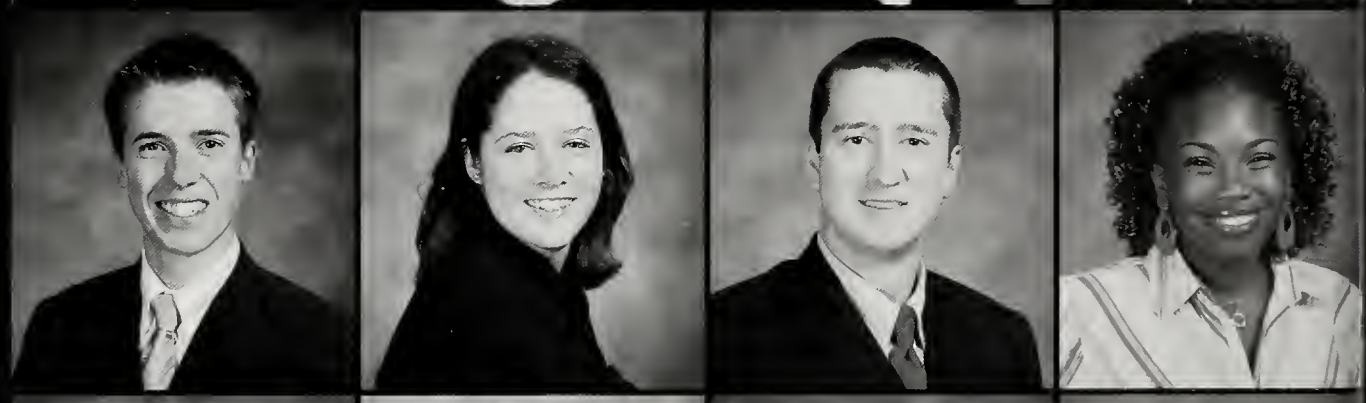
Be - Bu

Koye Berry
Daryl E. Betancourt
Robert W. Beverly
Krystal R. Biegaj

Elizabeth M. Bill
Amy E. Birck
Melissa A. Birkenmeier
Alanna J. Black

Christopher H. Bloch
Eileen M. Bocchicchio
Ina T. Boeddeker
Brian M. Bogush

Jonathan R. Boldt
Anne M. Bongiovanni
Christopher J. Bonk
Terri M. Booker



Leah M. Boschert
Angeleta L. Boyce
Christopher R. Boyle
Chelsea A. Brace

Sara M. Brady
Erin M. Braley
Carolyn K. Brandi
Michael J. Bratus

Craig A. Bresciani
Eric D. Breusch
Nicole Breza
Kelly A. Bridges

Larisa A. Broglie
Ariana M. Brooks-James
Alyson L. Brown
Melissa K. Brunckhorst

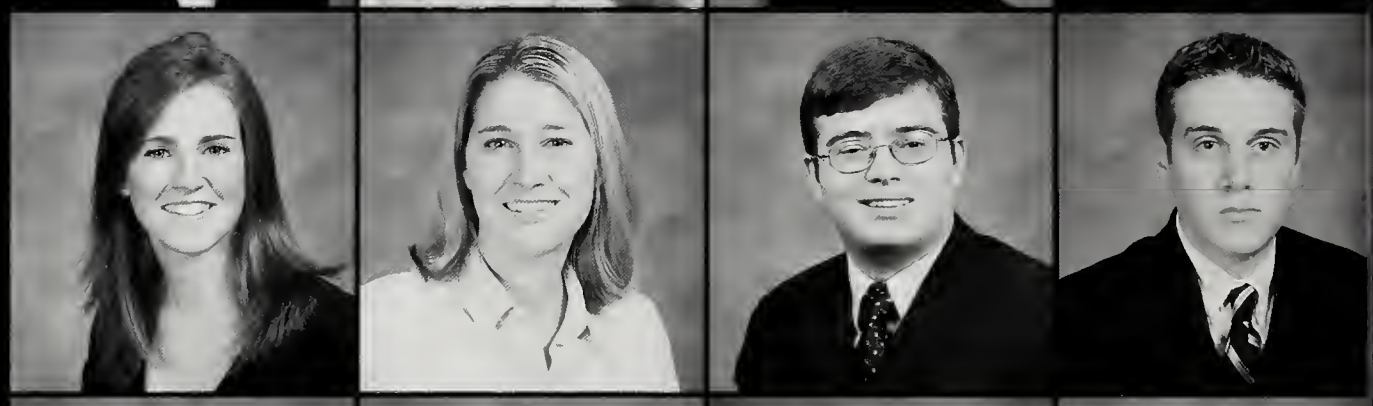
Katharine E. Buchner
Thomas M. Bujold
Joel M. Bumol
Caroline M. Burghard

Ariana D. Burgos
Gregory J. Burkavage
J. Reavey Burke
Kevin P. Burke

Bu - Co

Margaret D. Burke
Shannon E. Burke
Jennifer N. Burns
Kellie L. Burns

Meaghan J. Burns
Lindsay Y. Butler
George H. Butler Jr.
Michael K. Byrne



Candace W. Cage
Sean M. Cahill
James P. Cahoon III
P. Michael Calabrese Jr.

Beatriz Z. Callanta
Stefanie L. Cantelmo
Timothy J. Capuano
Ann Marie E. Carney

Mary M. Carr
Amy Lauren Carroll
Kerry E. Carroll
Christina I. Casali

Marielle Y. Casanova
Virginia M. Cascio
Kristen M. Castellano
Ashley V. Catalano

Dominic A. Cerquetti
Andrew M. Chanko
Gina N. Chianese
Lisa M. Christadore

Kevin M. Chzaszcz
Michael J. Ciarrochi
Christopher P. Cimorelli
Stefanie L. Clay

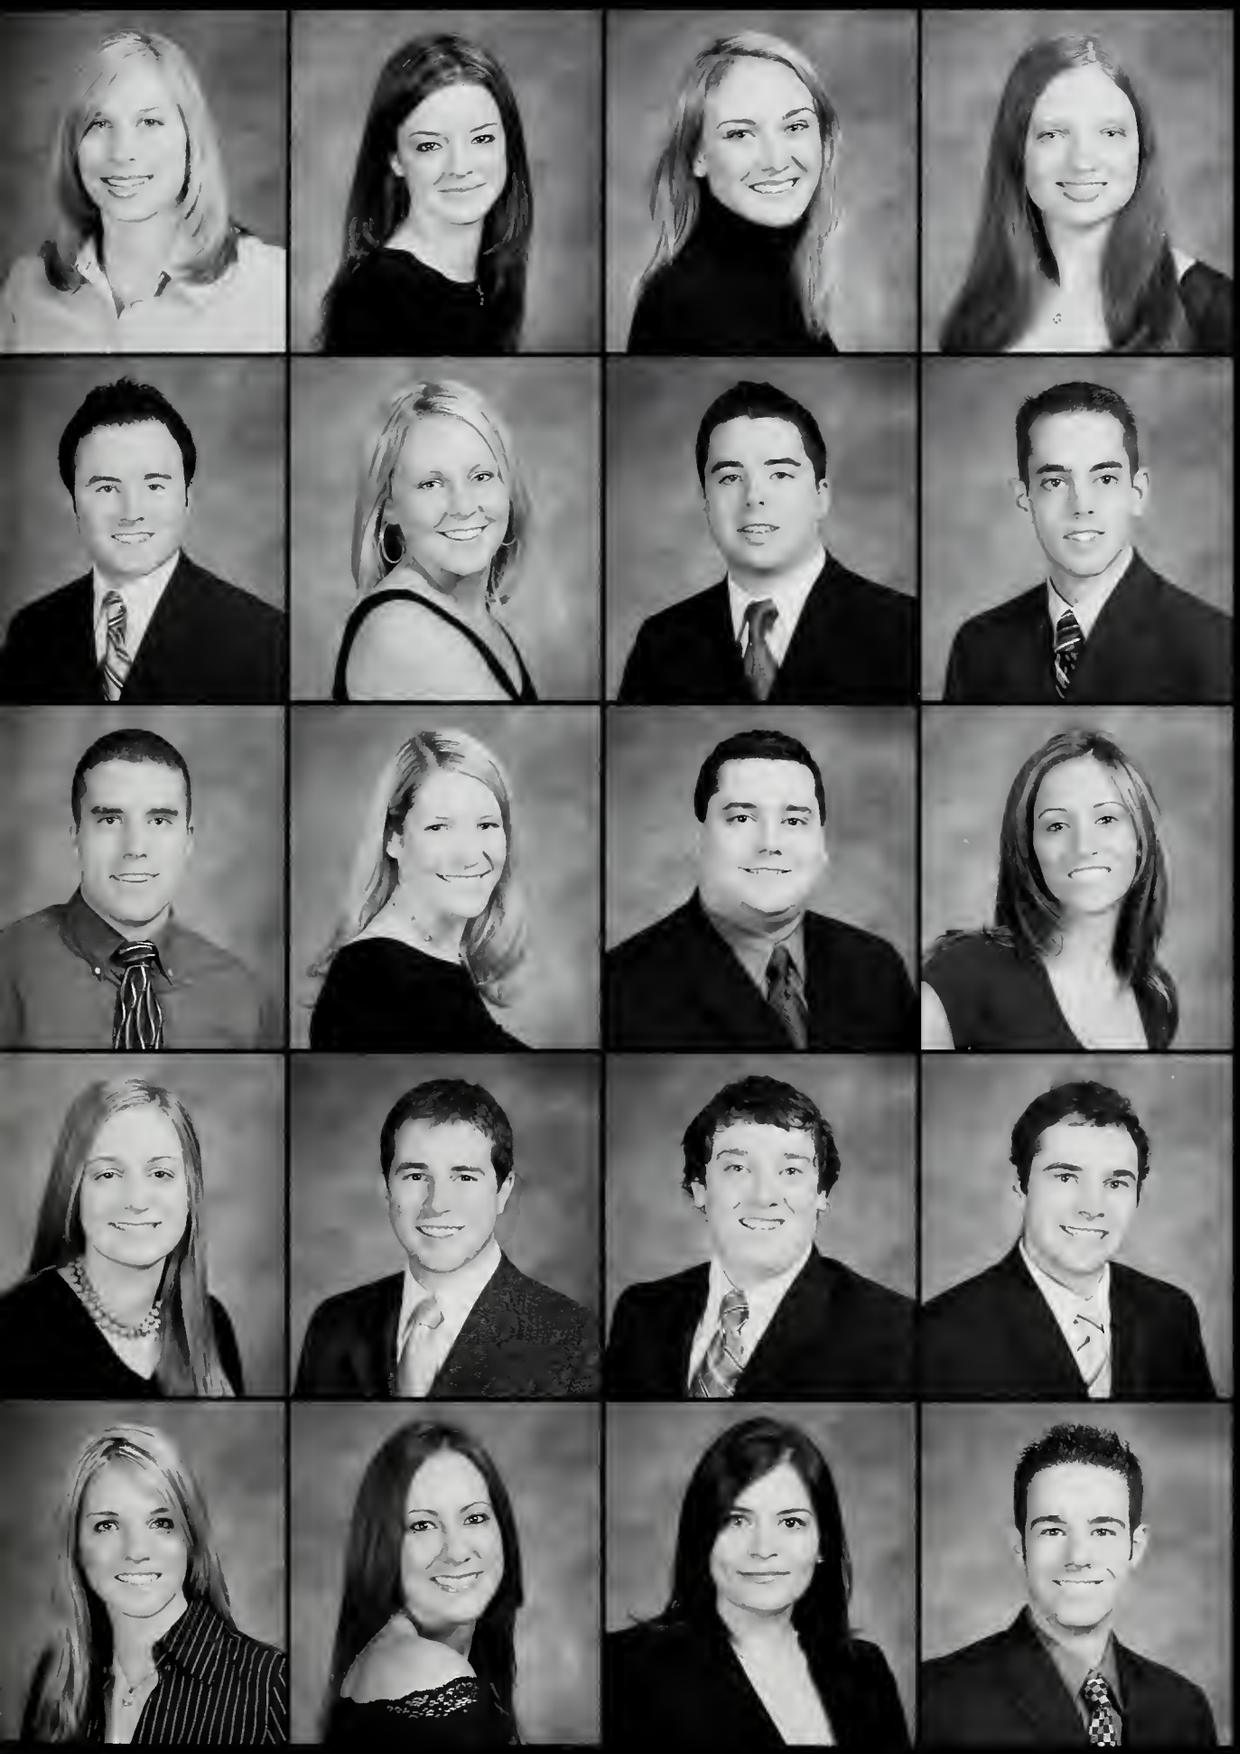
Kevin E. Clayton
Matthew J. Cocchiaro
Kalli Cockinos
Jared W. Cole

Maureen M. Cole
Anne Marie Colegrove
Anthony V. Coletta Jr.
Michelle A. Coley

Co - D'A

Brian J. Collins
Mark J. Condoluci
Molly E. Condon
Thomas E. Connelly

Meghan C. Connolly
Kimberly A. Considine
Paul J. Cooke
Michael A. Coppola



Rebecca L. Corb
Lauren C. Corcoran
Olivia A. Cosden
Mary J. Costantino

D. Brady Cotter Jr.
Jamie Lynn Coulter
Michael J. Cox
Mark D. Crennan

James M. Crisafulli
Kelly C. Crossett
Daniel S. Crowley
Jacqueline T. Curcio

Ann L. Curran
Matthew P. Curran
Ryan J. Curran
Patrick J. Currlin

Laura A. Cuti
Kara Czerniecki
Charla M. D'Agostino
Michael G. D'Agostino

Da - Do

Katharine R. Dailey
Scott Michael Daly
John C. Dalziel
Kevin E. Dancy

Janine M. D'Aniello
Christine E. Daniels
Matthew J. Danowski
Brigid M. Darragh

Carlos O. Dator
Ashley L. Davis
Jill W. Davis
Claire E. Dawson

John L. DeBeradinis
Tara A. DeCarlo
Genet M. DeFazio
James M. DeLeon

Carla M. Delfini
Jessica K. D'Elia
Stephanie M. Delia
Nicholas J. Deremiah

Laura E. DeVillier
Nelson A. Diaz
Thomas D. DiEmidio
Vito C. DiGiorgio

Sarah E. DiMondi
Brian J. Dineen
Paul A. Dircks
Lindsay A. Doan

Jeannie M. Dobruck
Robert M. Domingo
A. Mark Donnelly
Kevin M. Donnelly

MaryBeth A. Donnelly
Lauren E. Donovan
Peter J. Donovan
Shaun B. Donovan

Timothy C. Dooley
Ashley K. Doran
Melissa M. Dorso
Kevin T. Dougherty

Do - Fa

Courtney J. Dowdell
Allison K. Doyle
Catherine M. Doyle
William B. Driscoll

Lauren B. Drolet
Marek Jaroslaw Dudziak
Allison K. Duffy
Caitlin J. Dunne

Edmund P. Dunn III
Matthew D. Durkin
Rebecca A. Dwyer
Ryan W. Dwyer

Suzanne C. Dwyer
Michael A. Dzicek
Aaron R. Eddy
Elizabeth K. Edelman

Matthew R. Eduardo
John M. Elasic
Laura F. Eldridge
Kinzee Oshuna Ellis

Francis S. Elman
Lauren C. Engel
Caitlin S. Entwistle
Carlo D. Espinoza

Jonathan E. Etheart
Erin M. Faccone
Thomas M. Faherty
Jessica M. Fairbanks

Fa - Ge

Courtney E. Faison
Simona Fallavollita
Kathryn M. Fallon
Christine M. Fargnoli

Jillian P. Farmer
Keri A. Farrell
Matthew J. Favre
Shauna L. Fay

Alison M. Fazio
Patrice L. Felton
Laura M. Fenn
Jamie M. Feraudo

Michael Ferrara
Alicia M. Ferriso
Elizabeth K. Ferry
Gregory R. Fescina

Barbara M. Finley
Jennifer G. Fisher
Terence D. Fitzpatrick
Timothy F. Flanagan

James J. Foehr
Brian S. Fogarty
Leanne Folusiak
Kathleen M. Ford

Chad E. Foster
Chase M. Franklin
Lauren Nicole Franson
Ashleigh E. Frizen

Erica A. Fullenkamp
Melissa S. Futia
Brittany Gafas
Alexander J. Galea

Robert J. Gallagher
Sean M. Gallagher
Brian T. Galvin
Leona Cumba Garber

Jenna V. Gartland
Erin M. Gavin
Julie M. Gebbia
KeriAnn Geiger

Ge - Gr

Kathleen K. Gerwin
Stephen J. Giambalvo
Julia C. Giannangelo
Geoffrey S. Gibson

Kathleen S. Gilfillan
Harry L. Gillin
Daniel A. Giordano
Stephanie A. Girolamo

Michael J. Giuliano
Tiffany A. Gloria
Erin M. Gloth
Erica L. Goldberg

Kristen Sargent Gorman
Weyinshet P. Gossa
Amanda A. Gosser
Mary Jane Gover

Craig B. Graceffo
Dora A. Granato
Julie C. Grates
Deborah L. Green

Jennifer M. Green
Kathryn S. Green
Sydney L. Greene
David W. Gregory Jr.

Jeremy D. Grein
Laura C. Gribok
Jeanne L. Gricoski
Andrew R. Grillo

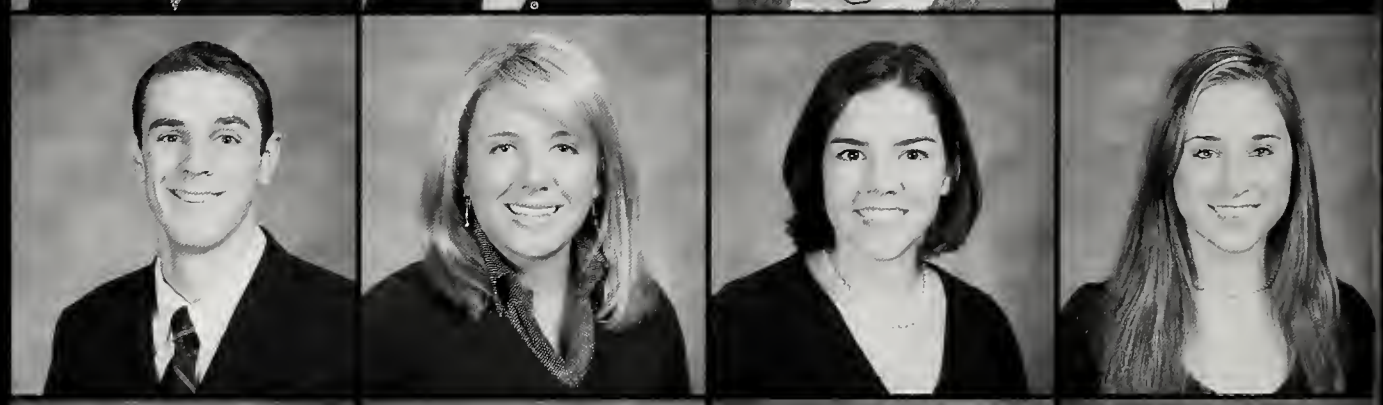
Gr - Ho

Robert M. Gross
Ashley Ann Guglietta
Laura A. Gundaker
Katerina M. Gutt

Laura D. Guy
John E. Guzowski Jr.
Jennifer L. Haitz
Laura Hajducek

Nicholas Ryan Hamilton
Kendal Hanger
Cheryl Hargadon
Krystle Harrington

James Harris
Mara Ann Hart
Mary Hatch
Colleen Hayden



James Hayden
Matthew M. Hayek
Clementa Leilani Hayes
Laura Hayes

Meghan Hayward
Blaine Heck
Natalie Heinold
Cory Hershey

Caroline Hesko
Kathleen Hession
Gregory Hiatrides
Garrett Hickey

Trevor Hickey
Meghan Hinck
Ryan Hindinger
Linton Hinds Jr.

Megan Hinton
Pete Hixson Jr.
Tyler Hoff
Edward Hoffman

Margaret E. Hogan
Michael Hogan
Joseph Honer
Christopher Hoover

Ho - Jo

Rebecca Horn
William Horne
Margaret Hughes
Shannon Hughes

Jana M. Humplik
Andrea Alexis Husbands
Kristen Ihde
Kelly Immordino

Matthew Ingles
Colby Ingram
Anthony Intravaia
Danielle Ishak

Lisa Jaffa
Christopher Jameson
Shareen Lisa Jelani
Christine Hannah Jenkins

Jasmine Laura Jenkins
Trena Jerry Angela Jezyk
Bridget Jivanelli

Colleen Johnson
William A. Johnson III
Meredith Jones
Robert Jones

Tamika Jones
Katherine Jordan
Natalie Joseph Monica Joshi

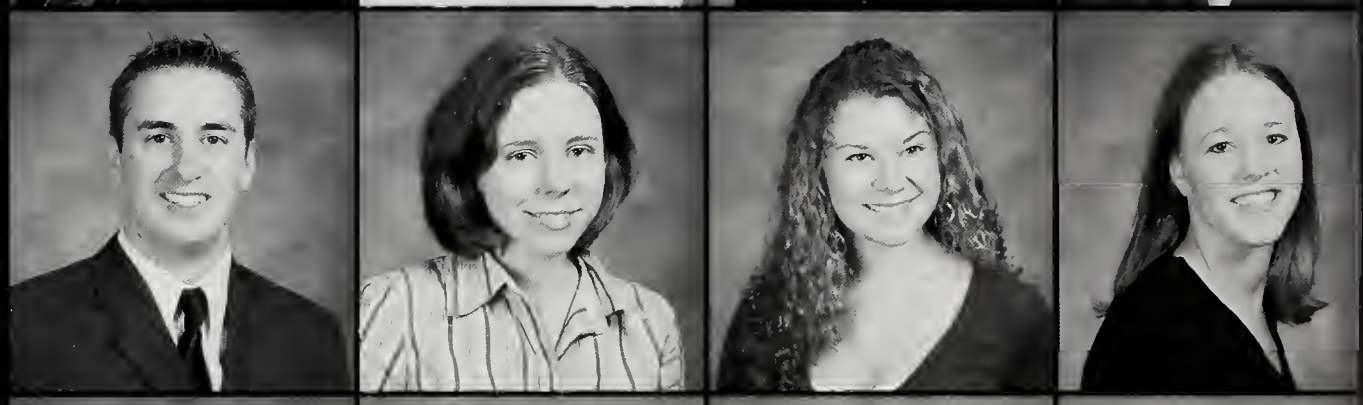
Jo - Kr

Erin Joslin
Meredith Joyce
Ryan Junius
David Kaminski

Matthew Kanach
Brittany Kane
Kelly Kane
Meredith Kane



Bridget Keene
Laura Kehl
Cara Elizabeth Kelly
Katelin R. Kelly

Meagan Kelly
Brian Keogh
Anne Kessler
Alison Kiczek

Tara Kidney
John Kijak
Chelsea Kilian
Gina Kim

David S. King
Dana Kirkpatrick
Ryan Kittredge
Jessica Kitzinger

Kyle Klimas
Melanie P. Kolpak
Thomas Kopf
Eugene Kornel

Thomas Korp
Amanda Kost
Tawny Kotchko
Jacqueline Kovach

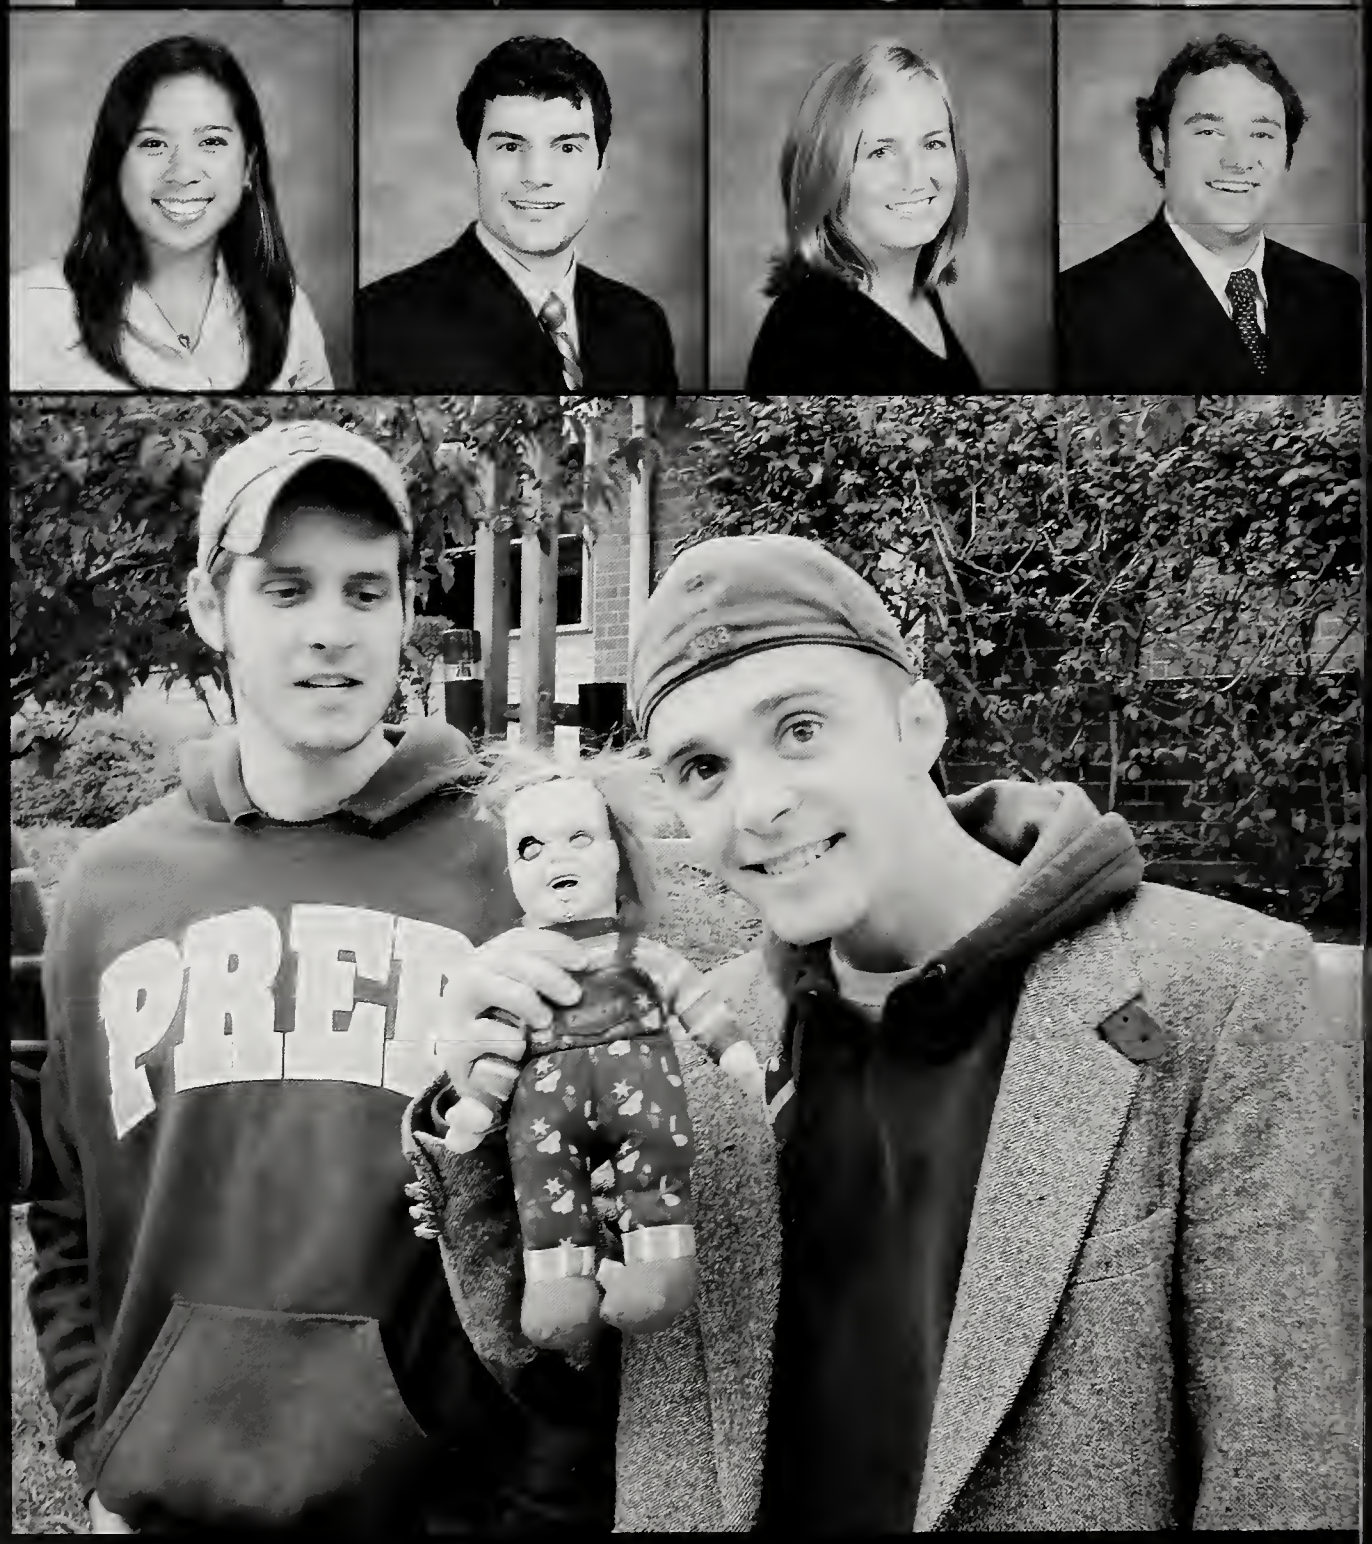
Kristen N. Kovalesky
Sheree Kpodo
Patrick Kraft
John Krajewski

Ashley Kramer
Jessica Krenek
Travis Krug
Gregory Krupiak

Ku - Lo

Jennie Kuchta
Matthew Kudler
Kimberly Kuwata
Meghan Kyne

Erika Michelle Lacson
Anthony LaMarca
Claire Lambert
Edward Lamsback



Michael Landers
Kevin Lane
Diana Langenbach
John Laramie

Rita Larivee
Rose Lattyak
Marie Lawless
Kara Lennon

Sean Leonard
Tarah Leroy
Joseph N. Lerro
Colin LeStrange

Michael Levy
Jessica Liberatore
Laura Lint
Matthew Lista

Allsion D. Livingstone
Mary Lockwood
John Loeffler
Mary Long

Lo - Mc

Ronald Loosen
Christine Lopez
Brian Losinger
Justin Lotano

Lisa Lubrano
Nicole Luccarelli
Kathryn Lucie
John Luksch

Daniel Lynch
Frank MacCormack
Jennifer Maceda
Erin MacNabb

Patrick Madden
Amy Maher
Suzanne Malcuit
James P. Malone III

Stephanie Ann Maloney
Frank Mangiatordi
Kristin Bree Marchesiello
Elizabeth Marcinek

James Marinchak
Christina Maro
Elizabeth Marra
Ann Marshall

Caroline McAllister
Adam McCabe
Meghan McCarthy
Danielle McCormick

Nicole McCracken
Andrea McDermott
Ronan McDermott Julie McDonald

Elizabeth McDowell
Briana McFadden
Thomas McGoldrick
Mary Grace McGrath

Conor McGuinness
Brian McGuirl
Kristin McKay
Paul McManus

Mc - Na

Sean McMenemy
John M. McNamara
Patricia McNamara
Mary Kathryn McNulty

Sean McQuilkin
Edward Meinhold
Amelia Meissner
Kathleen Melvin

Yasmina Menasria
Natalia Mendoza
Ashley Miller
Sean Miller

Julie Mita
Joanne Mitchell
Patrick Mitchell
Anahi Molina

Tara Monaghan
Marc Mongeau
Maryellen Montana
Liza Montesano

Charles Moran
Meghan J. Moriarty
Lauren Moscatiello
Christina Mucciolo

John Mulligan
Patricia Murphy
Derrek Myers
Lauren Michele Nagle

Na - Pe

Diana Nappi
Georges H. Ndikuyeze
Melissa Nicholson
Andrew Nicklas

Cynthia Nicolaus
Emily Niffenegger
Irakli Nijaradze
Amy Nitch

Julia Bridget Nolan
Brendan Nowlin
Lindsey Nurk
Britta Nylund

Caitlin O'Connell
Johanna O'Connell
Bridget L. O'Connor
Elizabeth O'Donnell

Sean M. O'Donnell
Sean Patrick O'Donnell
Steven O'Donnell
Kristin Oeste

Paul O'Leary
Katelyn Ollerhead
Sean O'Loughlin
Kristen Olsen

Lauren O'Malley
Jacquelyn O'Neil
Hannah O'Neill
Kaitlin O'Neill

Kyle O'Neill
Emily Oswald
Caroline Outten
Catherine Elizabeth Owen

Suzanne Pacia
Caroline Page-Katz
Andrew Panico
Michael Pantoliano

Emilie A. Patterson
Nicholas Paul
Matthew J. Pedalino
Kristin Pedriani

Pe - Re

Robert Pellegrino
Ryan Pellegrino
Stephanie Pelullo
Angela Penrice

Gregory Adam Peters
Lindsay Petersen
Philippa Petronis
Lauren Piech

Kristina Piil
Vincent Piscopo
Lindsay Plifka
Stephanie E. Polito

Kristen Pollock
Steven Pomplon
Robert Pravetz
Brett Prime

Christine Puccinelli
Sarah Rambacher
Wendy Rand
Christopher Randion

Lee Rando
Brigid Raughley
Ashley Ravernell
Steven Rawczak

John Reddy
Daniel Redfield
Timothy Reichelt
Grace Reiser

Rh - Sa

Daniel Rhault
Tara Rial
Adam Ricciardi
Patrick S. Rice

Marie Ridenour
Dorothy Riely
Joseph Riley
Elizabeth Riordan

Nora-Anne Riordan
Heather Roberts
Edward Rogan
William Rogers

Gregory Romano
Justin Romano
Erin Rommel
Lauren Roper

Danielle Rosemond
Danielle Rosende
Christopher Michael Ross
Jay Ross

Kathryn M. Ross
Mark Rossano
Lorraine A. Rothgery
Camille Rowe

Steven Rowings
Ashley Roy
Tiffany Runyon
Jennifer Russell

Jenna Russotto
Daniel Ruthven
Brian James Rypkema
Laura Sabin

Katharine Sachs
Tracy Sanna
Travis Santypal
Dana K. Saporito

Lindsay Saridis
Victoria Saridis
Gregory Savarese
Melissa Savino

Sc - Sv

Teresa Schell
Timothy Scherer
Matthew Schilling
Heather Schmidt

Douglas Schultz
Katie Scolnick
Lindsay Segreto
Richard A. Shami

Gina Siccardi
Gregory Sileo
Shana Silver
John Simonetti

Adam Simons
Jason Simpkins
Christina Sisk
Siobhan Leigh Skinner

Craig Slotkin
Corinne Smith
Kimberly Smith
Marcus Smith

Marquita Smith
Sherise S. Smith
Keri Smotrich
Jennifer Sohn

Nicole Spinelli
Christina Spizuoco
Alexandre Spodak
Krista Stancati

Stephanie Starkey
William St. Clair
Nevin Steiner
Sarah Strohl

Tamarra Stuppard
Terence Sullivan
Jennifer Summers
Sydney Summers

Thomas Surratt
Kaitlyn Caruso Sutherland
Kara Sutherland
Ryan Svorinic

Sw - Vi

Laura Elizabeth Swartz
Stephanie Sykes
Thomas Tammany Jr.
Joshua J. Tapkas

Mary Kathleen Taulane
Zachary Teach
Mary Ten Eyck
Lauren Teresa

Erinne Thelen
Heather Thompson
Niamh Tighe
Joseph Tinari

Gregory Tomezsko
Courtney Toms
John Tomson
Meaghan Tracey

Catherine Trimarco
Richard Tringali
Arianna Trionfo
Christine Trombino

Cheryl Trovato
Abby Tubman
Melissa Tucker
Megan Turley

Kiersten C. Turnbull
Ryan Turner
Alexis Turro
Kristine Tynan

Jenna Umbriac
Marianne Unger
Megan Urban
Christopher Uzzo

Patrick Valentino
Kathleen Van Haute
Courtney M. Van Slooten
Nicole J. Vella

Christina Marie Verdeschi
Brigid Vilardo
Julianne Viola
William J. Vitale

Vo - Zu

Catherine B. Volpe
Lauren Volpe
Robert Andrew Von Hagen
Andrea Wagner

Elena Walter
Kristen Ward
Mairead Watkins
Ryan Weidmann

Michael Weidner
Drew C. Weiman
Elizabeth M. Welch
Andrew White

Jonathan White
Emily Evarts Widger
Jessica Williams
Lisa Williams

Megan Wilson
Cherilyn Winkler
Ursula A. Winters
Thomas Witty

Erin Wonn
Edward L. Woodard
Alison Wright
Michael Wylie

Catherine Wynne
Garret Zarembo
James Zeitschel
Katharine Zeller

Giada Zucchet

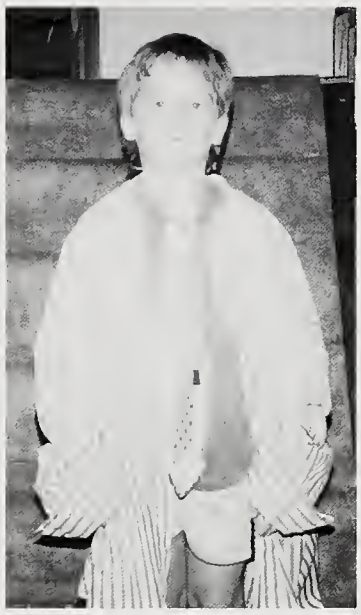
Not Photographed:

Emeka Allen, Candida Ambroseo, Ali Andrzejewski, John Arthur-Mensah, Suubi Barlow, Robert Barredo, Andrew Bayon, Kimberly Belcher, Sarah Boggs, Craig S. Bowden, Christopher Bowman, Ryan Bramble, John Brodrick, Paul Brown, Laura W. Bruskin, John Buquicchio, Stephen Calandrillo, Thomas Caruso, Becky Cassell, Vanessa Clemente-Walters, Holly Connors, Sean Corrigan, Christopher Daly, Naomi Daniels, Michael DeMato, Anna Dennery, Mark DeSoye, Eileen DeVillier, Christopher Dillon, Ryan Dolin, Lauren D'Onofrio, Luke Dorsey, Daniel Ellis, Mark Ferenc, Stefan Fiero, James Finn, Allison Flynn, Sean Flynn, Carissa Foley, Danielle Freeman, Michael Fretwell, Dominique Gaetano, Andrew Gallagher, Craig Georgalas, Ares Geovanos, Andrew Gibson, William Girasole, Colleen Gisriel, Daniel Glazer, Danielle Marie Goetzinger, Lauren Graham, Michael Graham, Ashley Grason, Sean Greene, Daniel Gross, Joseph Guadango, Bryan Gunderson, Matthew Haas, Christopher Haig, Grant Halford, John Halip, Courtney Hammer, James Hanley, Carrie Haywood, Steven Hess, Lydia Higgins, Maximillian Hill, Nicholas Hodge, Brendan Hogan, Brett Hopkinson, Daniel Hunter, Jonathan Judge-Russo, Elizabeth Kail, David Kaplan, Bridget Keenan, Todd Keffer, Patrick Kiernan, John Kline, Michael Kokoskie, Michael Laird, John Lee, William Lericos, Keith Lewis, Andrew LoPresti, Helen Lukacs, Nathan Lyden, Devon Lynch-Huggins, Andrew Mackessy, Brian Manfredi, Emily Mantler, Christopher Mazza, Patricia McCartin, Patrick G. McCloskey, Kenneth McGrain, Molly Meredith, Alexander Meyer, Matthew Meyer, Jacqueline Miller, Jessica Miller, Kevin Mindell, Matthew Monfett, Kevin Moran, Daniel Mulcahy, Sean Stanton Murphy, Erin Murray, Meaghan Myers, Christina Nicolaus, Jason Nikic, David Norris, Richard Oates, Thomas O'Neill, Michael Orlicki, Kerri-Lynn Orsini, Devin Passno, Christopher Patterson, Carter Perry, Troy A. Pittenger, Stephen Pomianek, John Poole, Brianne Queeney, Adam Richardson, Jason Roberts, William Rodgers, Yelena Rudenko, William E. Ruff Jr., Allison Rzemien, Gregory Santos, Katherine Scherle, Danielle Schuster, Peter Schwan, Talia Shacklock, Patrick Shek, Leonard Sinisgalli, Bryan Smith, Stephen Souris, Allison Soyka, Stephanie Steiner, Lauren Stoop, Ronan Strain, Kevin Sullivan, Ean Swinton, Stephen Tangredi, Charles Tarone, Michael Terzis, Lauren Troupe, Jacqueline Valderas, Stephanie Lynn Walker, Joanna Walsh, Thomas Whitaker, Philip Wilkinson, Joseph Wills, Janika Wilson, Courtney Wolff.

Congratulations!

Remarkable achievements!

Our best wishes and prayers go with you as you continue your studies in law school.



You'll make a difference.

Love always,

Mom, Dad, and Shannon

Matthew D. Durkin

Ed,

Always remember to share the gifts that God gave you, as He did when He sent you to us. We are so very proud of the man you have become.

"Be kind and merciful. Let no one ever come to you without coming away better and happier"

- Mother Theresa

Congratulations!

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Kara

Edward F. Rogan III

Andy R. Grillo

Andy R. Grillo

To our beautiful daughter who makes the world sparkle. May your future be filled with dreams that come true.

We love you,
Mama and Baba

Gina Chianese

Congratulations Kristen!
We are so proud of you and the wonderful young woman you have become.
May God bless you and guide you down your chosen path.
Follow your dreams and always cherish the memories.

We love you,
Mom, Dad, Megan, and MeMa

Kristen N. Pollock

Christine,
I am so proud.
-Dad

Christine Jenkins

Mary Long
2006

You are a great sister and a very helpful person at home.
-Mark

You are a wonderful person and sister.
-Sarah

"My daughter, my precious child,
I love you and I would never leave you
During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints,
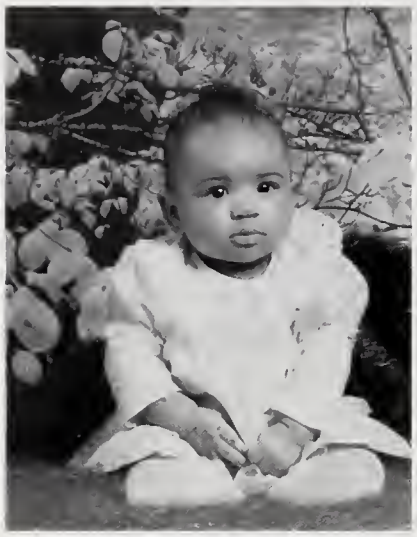
it was then that I carried you."
-Mary Stevenson

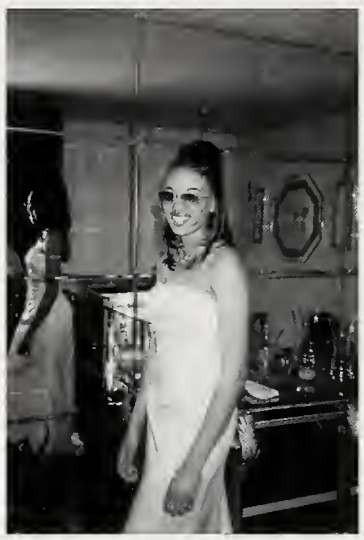
Thank you for the daughter you are and the person you have become.
Love, from Mom

Mary Elizabeth Long



Sherise ("Reese"),

We are so proud of everything that you have accomplished and the wonderful young woman that you have become. Your dedication, persistence, faith, and strength have helped you overcome so many obstacles in order to get you to this point in your life. We know that this is not the end for you – you will continue to succeed in whatever God has in store for you. Always remember Philippians 4:13 "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me," and know that we are behind you 100%.



Congratulations Reese!!!

With love always,

Mommy, James, Mica, Steve, Toya, Shani, Dani, Shante, Stevie, Grandpa, Aunt Jackie, Uncle Howard, Kesha, Laila, Aunt Deb, Uncle Willie, Nay, Jord, Jalen, Aunt Ross, Pooh, Nya, Aunt Dee, Ash, and Reilly

Dear Jen,

May your future be filled with the joy and happiness that you have given us through the years. Continue to make a difference to all those you meet. Always remember your special angel will be there with you.

Congratulations and follow your dreams!

Love always,
Mom, Kim, and Chris

Jennifer R Russell

Stay true to yourself as you follow your dreams.

Love,
Mom, Kevin, and Erin

Sean Patrick O'Donnell

May your passion for life warm the hearts of those you meet, and cause them to smile. We are so proud of you!

Love,
Dad, Mom, and Colleen

Allison Duffy

Success is a result of excellence.
Excellence flows from passion.
Passion is born of purpose.
Purpose comes from within.

Congratulations Lauren!
Our wish is for you to go beyond success to significance.
Love,
Dad, Lynda, Bobby & Tyler

Lauren C. Engel

2002: I can see Daniel waving goodbye. I miss Daniel; oh I miss him so much.
2006: Daniel you're a star in the face of the sky!
Graduation Day: They're not clouds in my eyes, but tears of joy and pride!

Kudos to you for discovering your forte: caring enough about young people to teach them something valuable. Congratulations to a fine author, teacher, and all-around great guy!
Love, Dad and Joanna

Daniel A. Giordano

The future is at you beck and call. Your years at Loyola have provided you with the skills to be successful. We know you will do well in any endeavor.

Congratulations

Mom, Dad, and Brother

Francis S. Elman

Congratulations Alexis on all your accomplishments!
You've come so far and done so well at every step along the way.
We are so proud of you.
Continue seeing life as a great adventure to be enjoyed.
Grab it with zest, meet its challenges and reap its rewards.
Love Mom and Dad

Alexis Turro

Dear Giada,

Congratulations.
We are very proud of all you have accomplished and we wish you joy and success everyday in life.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Gianluca, and Davide

Giada Cristina Zucchet

Ashley Marie Augustin,
Words cannot express the joy that we felt when you were born. Words cannot express the happiness we experienced watching you grow and compete in swimming for all these years. Words cannot express how proud we are of all you have accomplished! You have truly been a precious gift to us. May God bless you always. Congratualtions from all of us and your entire family.
All of our love,
Mom, Dad, Bill, David, Melanie, and Grandmom

Ashley Marie Augustin

To our sweet Ariel,

May your days be filled with blessings
Like the sun that lights the sky
And may you always have the courage
To spread your wings and fly...

We've loved every minute and look forward to a lifetime more.

With love,
Mom, Dad, Beesch, Dede, The Matis, and Arcadipane Clans

Ariel D. Arcadipane

Dear Terence,

As you complete another chapter in this "Book of Life", we once again applaud your hard work, great successes and wonderful accomplishments!!

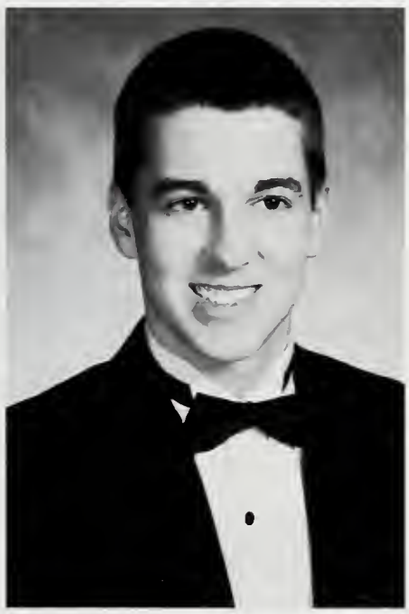
We admire your maturity, integrity and your commitment to everything you do.

We hope these past 4 years have been everything you dreamed of and hoped for.

We look forward, with you, to a bright and exciting future with many new experiences and happy memories to cherish.

Maybe you're not quite our "little" boy anymore, but you'll always be our hero and our heart...

We're very thankful for you!
And you are just such a nice guy...



Oh, the places you'll go
The things that you'll do
We'll love you forever!!!
We're so proud of you!!!

Oh, the places you'll go
The things that you'll see
You're a joy to us all!!!
You're the best, Mr. T!!!

All Our Love Always
Mom, Dad, and Kevin

Congratulations Terence Fitzpatrick
And the Class of 2006!

Terence D. Fitzpatrick

Dear Laura,

We are so proud of you.

"There is no need to reach high for the stars --- They are already with you - just reach deep into yourself."

-Anonymous

We love you very much,

Mom, Dad and Joseph

Laura Ann Kehl

Be all that God made you to be.

Love,
Jenny, Fred, Jack, Billy,
Patty, Dad, Mom,
Amy and Bobby

Daniel Redfield

Congratulations Michael!

We are very proud of you and your accomplishments. We are especially proud of the quality of the person you have become.

We wish you the best of health, happiness and success in all your future endeavors.

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Jimmy

Michael Ferrara

Congratulations to Matthew J.
Your dedication, hard work, and perseverance have made this day a triumph!

We are so proud of you

With all our love
and happiness
Mom, Dad and Mercedes

Matthew J. Basirico

Krista,

Congratulations! You've accomplished so much. Here's to you and all you can achieve in the future.

We're so proud of you!
All of our love,

Mom, Dad, Melissa,
Brian and Maggie

Krista Stancati

My dear Josh,
I have watched you grow through the years, from a very inquisitive toddler who loved figuring out how things worked by taking them apart, to a very respectful, loving, bright, and thoughtful young man. I have no doubts that you will achieve the goals you have set for yourself, because you always have in the past. Your winning personality will carry you positively through the process of life. You deserve the very best in all that you desire in your future. I couldn't be more proud of anyone than I am of you today. It's hard to let go and see your baby become a man, but I guess that's what it's all about. Just know that I will always be there for you. God blessed me the day that you came into my life and I thank Him for you everyday.

I love you,
Mom

Joshua J. Tapkas

Congratulations Jamie

You have come a loooong way!!!!!!!
Love,
Mom, Dad, Lauren, and Christie

Jamie M. Feraudo

Jacqueline,

Thank you for being such a wonderful, loving, and caring daughter and sister. As a child you brought such happiness into our lives and what a joy it is to see how you have grown up to be the remarkable woman you are. You have a smile that lights up our lives; God's love truly shines out of you every day. Believe in yourself Jacqueline; reach high for the stars that lie hidden in your soul. Follow the feelings in your heart and God will direct you in the right path. Congratulations on your graduation. You deserve the best in life.

Love,
Mom and Paul

Jacqueline Kovach

Greg,

We are very proud of your accomplishments and you have developed into a fine young man. You are a unique individual with a creative mind, adventurous spirit, and a charitable heart. Continue to share your God-given gifts with the world and you will be sure to achieve your goals.

Congratulations!
Love, Mom, Dad, and Lisa

Gregory P. Savarese

Dear Matt,

Congratulations from your proud family! May your future be blessed with happiness, health, peace, and success. May all your dreams come true!

We love you,
Mom, Dad, Timothy, and Cassie

Matthew Danowski

Congratulations Kelly!

You have always made us so happy and proud, but never more than this day when you become the first one in our family to graduate college! Always believe in yourself and follow your dreams and your heart, and you will succeed in having great success and happiness in your life! We love you!

All our love,
Mom, Dad, and Tommy

Kelly Ann Bridge

"Thank heaven for little girls;
they grow up in the most delightful way!"

-Gigi

With love and congratulations,
Mom, Dad, and Will

Emily Evarts Widge

Amanda,

In our hearts, you are still a child. Kindergarten and grade school are a blur. High school is a memory. Yesterday you were a freshman in college; today you are a senior! Time does not stand still.

All your goals and accomplishments have exceeded our expectations. Be proud.

What a daughter God blessed us with, what a determined young woman you have become.

Embrace the challenges ahead – there is so much that lies within you.

With all our love,
We remain your "beaming parents,"
Mom and Dad
P.S. Megan says "Yahoo!"

Amanda A. Gossor

DEAR CHRISSY,

FOLLOW YOUR DREAMS
CONGRATULATIONS

We are so proud of you on your great success for leaving Loyola College.
For all you have accomplished and still to accomplish, as you venture out into the world. Believe in you dreams, believe in you!!! Know that you have your family's love and support with you.

We wish you all of life's blessings.

We Love You Very Much

Love, Mom and C.J.

Christina M. Verdeschi

Dear Melissa,
Words could never express the joy you have given us. We are so proud of your accomplishments. As you look forward, never forget what has brought you this far: the love of your family and friends and your perseverance.

"What we are is God's gift to us. What we become is our gift to God."

Congratulations Sunshine!
Love,
Pappa, Mom, and Michael

Melissa Anne Savino

Nicole,
Your hard work has paid off. We are very proud of you! Congratulations!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Nadeen, and Mark

Nicole Vella

Congratulations, Greg!

We are so proud of you and all your accomplishments. You have not only grown in intellect but in heart. As your life's journey continues, may God bless you always.

We love you.
Mom and Dad

Gregory Romano

Memories of your college years will last forever and friendships which you have made will last a lifetime. Enjoy them!!! Congratulations Suzanne. May you continue to have the wisdom to make right decisions and may your passion for community service always remain a part of you.

Love - Mom and Dad
We'll be there for you always.

Suzanne Pacia

Kristin Bree Marchesiello

Congratulations!

We are so proud of you.

Love,

Mom, Jim, Grandma, and Mr. Mush

Kristin Bree Marchesiello

A chapter comes to a close
A milestone worthy of celebration
Exhiliration to be at the finish line
Nostalgia for the four years past
The close camaraderie, the fun and crazy times
The trials and triumphs, the lessons learned
Nurturing and enriching years
Blossoming the person that you are Self-assured, poised, determined, accomplished
Sense of self and purpose defined
And so the next chapter beckons
Full of promises and uncertainties
Fear not, have faith
And go forward with confidence

CONGRATULATIONS ON YOUR GRADUATION!

We are enormously proud of you,
Mom and Dad

Erika Michelle Lacson

Dear Lauren,

Congratulations on all your achievements. We couldn't be any prouder. May all your dreams come true, just as ours have come true in you.

Love always,
Mom and Dad
"Et ipsa scientia potestas est"

Lauren Angela Teresa

BEST OF LUCK TO FOUR GREAT FRIENDS

CANNY GOOD LUCK

BUONA FORTUNA

BUENA SUERTE

BONNE CHANCE

GOED
GELUK

VIEL GLUECK

IRISH BLESSING
May the road rise to meet you
May the wind be always at your back
May the sun shine warm upon your face
The rains fall soft upon your fields
And until we meet again
May God hold you in the hollow of His hand

FROM YOUR FAMILIES

Mark Condoluci, Jamie Marinchak, Marc Mongeau, Greg Tomezsko

"Parents can only advise their children or point them in the right direction. Ultimately people shape their own characters." ~ Anne Frank Leanne... Congratulations! We are so proud of you, and wish you much happiness in the future.

Love, Mom and Dad

Leanne Folusiak

Congratulations Craig!

May your vision of life have no boundaries! We are so proud of you and your accomplishments and love you very, very much!

Mom, Dad, and Eric

Craig Alexander Slotkin

Dear Laura,

What a privilege it has been to be your parents (and brother)! You were always easy to love – your being beautiful was an added bonus. Ever since you arrived in our lives you have been at the center of our hearts (that goes for your grandparents and Aunt Janet, too). The love and attention you showed your "babies" while growing up showed the love you have to offer to others. your smart, insightful comments show your sensitivity to the people around you. Have a wonderful life!

Love,
Mom, Dad, and John

Laura H. Sabin

Christopher,

As you embark on life's journey, be proud of yourself and your years attending Loyola College. We are very proud of you and all that you have accomplished.

Love, Mom, Dad, Noel, Joseph, and Bryan

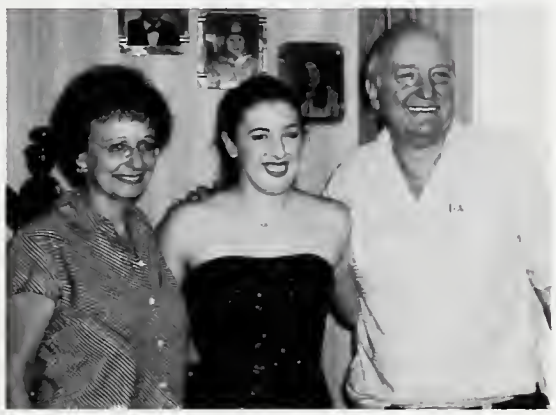
C ongratulations are due
H ard work was done
R ewards were earned
I ntramural flag football was played
S nowdrifts were overcome
T ravels were adventures
O pportunities abound for you
P reakness was exciting
H abitat for Humanity made a difference
E conomics is your major
R oommates are friends forever

Christopher Joseph Bonk

ANDREA THERESA McDERMOTT

Can it be our little sister is all grown up?
We are so proud of you!
Congratulations on your Graduation!

We Love You Lots!
Vernon, Robin, Tracy, Andy
Ryan, Lauren, Ellie, Jonathon, Kristen, and Trey



Congratulations Andrea and the Class of 2006!

You have done well and we are proud of you!

May the road rise up to meet you.
May the wind be always at your back.
May the sunshine warm upon your face.
And rains fall soft upon your fields.
— an Irish blessing

Love Always!
Mom and Dad

Andrea Theresa McDermott

Hats off to you, Nick

Room'mates' and London
Remember

Goodbye !
Keep In Touch

Happy Times
Remember

We are all so glad 4 years just flew by
"Balding Brothers" next!

Another Graduation
"So Proud"
Mom, Dad, and Sis

Nicholas Balding

Lauren,
I am so proud of all you have accomplished here. You are an exceptional young woman and I have always felt blessed being your father.
All my love and support always.
Dad

Lauren Alteslaben

You make me proud each and every day.

Love, Pop

Bridget O'Connor

Now on to the game of life!

Best wishes for success in reaching your goals and fulfilling your dreams.

With love from your most loyal fans,
Dad, Mom, Michael, and M.J.

Jessica Liberatore

Kristen Nicole Ward

"Opportunity dances with those who are already on the dance floor."

- H. Jackson Brown

"Life's truest happiness is found in the friendships we make along the way."

- Anonymous

Dear Kristen,

We are so proud of you and all of your accomplishments. The love and kindness that has always been in your heart has grown with you as you have become a beautiful woman. May God continue to bless you and watch over you wherever your dreams may take you.

We Love You,
Dad, Mom, and Katie

Kristen Nicole Ward

Dear Trac,

We love you and we are so proud of you.

Love,

Mom, Dad, Nick, Erin, and Chris

Tracy Sanna

Danielle,

We can't believe your four years at Loyola are over! Cherish the memories and never forget the wonderful friends you have made.

Congratulations on your graduation. We wish you a lifetime of health, happiness, and success.

We are so proud of you and all your accomplishments. May God bless you and guide you as you continue your journey through life.

Love always,
Mom, Dan, Lisa, and Chris

Danielle Rosende

Kristen,
Since your first days of school with Mrs. Chapman we have been amazed by your efforts and immeasurably proud of your accomplishments. We look forward to sharing in all that lies ahead as your fantastic journey continues.

We love you!!!!!
Mom, Dad, and Kevin

I May, I MIGHT, I MUST
by Marianne Moore

If you will tell me why the fen appears impassable, I then will tell you why I think that I can get across it if I try.

Kristen Marie Ihde

A sister is God's way of proving
He doesn't want us to walk alone.
We feel great pride in both of you and hope you will be blessed in all you do.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Lauren Roper

Dear Lauren,

You have filled our hearts with love and joy
since the day you were born.
As you graduate and we see the wonderful, beautiful, caring woman you have become,
our pride knows no bounds.
Wherever life takes you, know that our love follows you.

All our love always,
Mom and Dad

Lauren Beth Drolet

Lauren Beth Drolet

Dear Timmy,

The years have flown by. We're so proud of the man you've become. We hope your life is full of love, happiness, and success.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Matt, and Carly

Timothy Reicheit

Words cannot express how proud of you we are.
We love you.
Butterfly kisses,
Mom, Dad, Neely, and Dominique

Julia Giannangelo

Dear Eddie,

We are blessed to have you in our lives. How proud we are of all your accomplishments. Always reach for your goals. Persevere and you shall realize your dreams. You are our joy!

With love,
Mom and Dad

Edward H. Meinhold

Tom,

Congratulations on this major life achievement. Loyola has been a wonderful college for you and you have been an excellent student for them. You have been well prepared for life ahead. Our love and wishes for a happy, successful future.

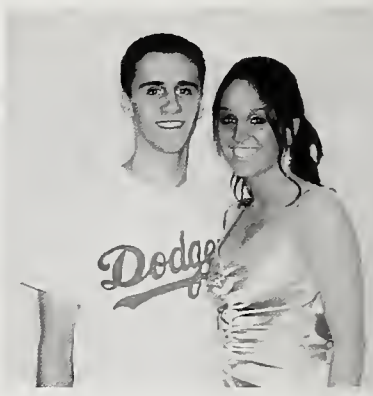
Mom, Dad, and Emily

Tom Surratt

"The quality of a person's life is in direct proportion to their commitment to excellence, regardless of their chosen field of endeavor."
- Vince Lombardi

Dan, We are so proud of you and YOUR commitment to excellence.

Love,
Mom, Rick, Joanna, Joe, and Kelly



Daniel A. Giordano

Congratulations, David King!

God danced on the day you were born!
We are all so proud of you, and wish you continued success and happiness.

We love you!
Mom, Dad, Brian, Sue Ellen,
Nana, Grandpa Bill, and Grandpa Harry

David Scott King

With God's grace I brought you into this world. You are healthy, handsome, smart, and act with great integrity. It is now time for you to go into the world and write your own story. Make it a good one... Keep smiling and stai attendo.

Sempre, Mamma

As you continue on your journey through life, you will realize that all joys, sorrows, accomplishments, and failures make you the person you are. How you choose to deal with all life hands you will make you the person you will become. It fills me with great happiness and pride that all can see the wonderful person you have become. Always be happy, always be kind, and always follow your heart. I am so proud of all you have accomplished. You couldn't make a father prouder. I love you my son and wish you all the joy and love that you most definitely deserve.

Love, Dad

Congratulations with graduation... Now go get a real job.

Love your Brother, Dom

Nothing has spoken more loudly to me than my brother's quiet example... Love you Chris.

Your Sister, Kim

AUGURI...
Nonno e Nonna Rizzzo Cascio

Chris, I am very proud of everything you have done. Good luck. It's so weird that you are getting so old, and yet I am staying so young.

Love, Cousin Jack

CONGRATULATIONS...
Grandma Cimorelli

We have always been proud of you Adam, during your journey through life and school.
As you leave Loyola and continue your "post-graduate" life, we wish you the best life has to offer, knowing you have a strong foundation and the physical, moral, spiritual, and intellectual strength to rise to any challenge and to direct your talents. AMDG. God bless you.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Adam D. McCabe

Christine,

May all your hopes and dreams come true.
We are so proud of you.

All our love and support always,
Mom, Dad, John, and Bob

Christine Fargnoli

Congratulations
"The reward of a thing well done is to have done it."
- Ralph Waldo Emerson

Dearest Terri Michelle Booker,

I'm very proud to have you as my daughter. This is a very important milestone in your life and I want you to remember no matter what I'll always be here for you!

May God continue to bless you and always be with you. Keep up the good, hard work.

Love, Mommy

Roses are red
Violets are blue
I'm very proud of you
And so happy too.

Terri M. Booker

Sarah DiMondi,

Same beach, same girl...just all grown up!

With much love,
Mom, Dad, Will, and Caitlin

Sarah DiMondi

Congratulations Brian,
From kindergarten to college you have never stopped smiling. We are proud of the fine young man you have become. You have a great future ahead of you!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Patty ('00), Mike, Dan, and Mimi

Brian J. Collins

Courtney,
We were never as blessed... as the day you were born. May your future be filled with all the joy and happiness you have given us throughout the years. May you cherish your yesterdays, love your todays, and dream your tomorrows. Live your dreams... and know that we are always here for you.

You will always be my most precious gift.
Love always,
Mom, Al, and James

Courtney Dowdell

Christina,
Congratulations!
You did it! We are so proud of you.

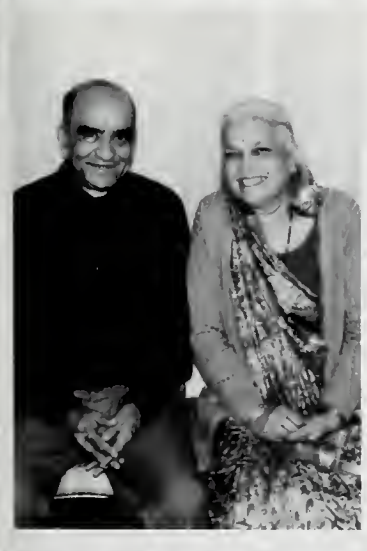
Love always,
Mom and Adriana

Christina Spizuoco

Larisa,
You will always be our shining star — ever reaching for new and challenging goals, working hard, and always giving the very best of yourself. We are very proud of you. Congratulations on your accomplishments over the last four years. Bigger things are yet to come!
Shine on!

We love you,
Mom, Dad, Matt, and Ana

Larisa Broglie



Life is coming, so grab its hand.
Hold on tight, we know you can.
You know this is what you have been waiting for, so go on furthermore.
Find the path that you seek,
climb and reach that tallest peak.
Follow your heart to whatever end,
after which you can make amends
Most importantly be true to yourself, be strong and brave and all else.
And never forget "the future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams"

A daughter is the happy memories of the past,
the joyful moments of the present,
the hope and promise of the future.
Congratulations Monica!
We are so proud of you!

A sister is a gift to the heart,
a friend to the spirit, a golden thread
to the meaning of life.
I'm so proud of you, little sis!

True happiness is having a granddaughter like you to love.
Congratulations, darling!

Monica Joshi

You were first a gift of joy from God, filling our lives with faith, hope, and love.
You became the gift of boyhood, filled with motion, growth, and fun.
You grew into the gift of adolescence, complex and interesting.
But now you are becoming a universal gift,
going out into the world to spread and share.
We stand in awe at the gift of you.
Thank you God.

Love,
Mom and Dad,
Chris, Matthew, Kim, and John

Michael Giuliano

Lauren,

It is with great love and pride that we congratulate you on your graduation.
We have watched you grow from a beautiful baby into a very capable, strong,
and confident young woman.
Your hard work and accomplishments have prepared you to follow your dreams.
Go get them, Goose!

Love always,
Mom, Dad, Matt, and Grandpa

Lauren M. Nagle

Dream...

And as you dream, remember that only you can make your dreams come true.

Reach...

And as you reach, remember that success takes time, devotion, and sometimes a little heartbreak.

Believe...

And as you believe, you will find reaching gets easier, setbacks more manageable.

Life becomes more meaningful.

There's a wonderful dream waiting just for you...

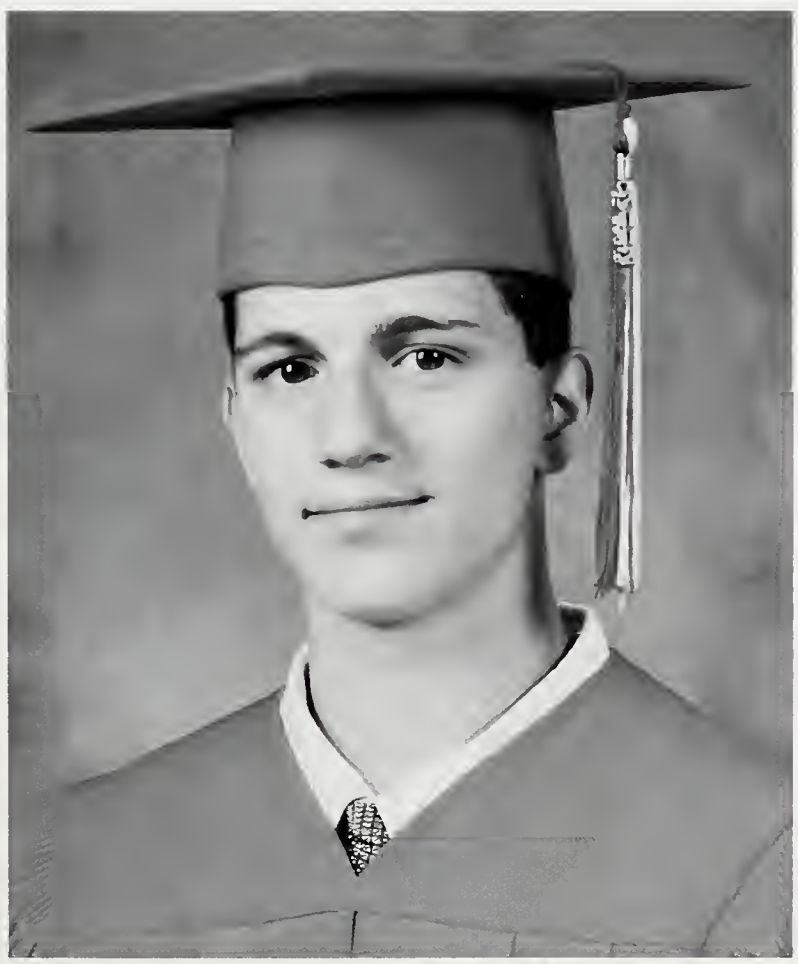
We know you can make it come true.

Congratulations and God Bless You Always.

We Love You,

Mom, Corey, Grandma, and Grandpal

CONGRATULATIONS JOHN LUKSCH AND THE LOYOLA CLASS OF 2006!



John R. Luksch

Mary Kate,

Your smile has been lighting up our lives since the day you were born. Your enthusiasm for life is contagious. The success you have had and the friends you have made at Loyola are a testament to you. We know you will have an abundance of both as you seize the future. We are so proud of the wonderful woman you have become.

We love you!
Mom and Dad

Mary Kate,

You're the best! We couldn't ask for a better big sister!

Love,
Colleen, Patrick, and Kelly

Mary Kate McNulty

Congratulations to Robert Michael Domingo
and the Class of 2006

Dear Bobby,

Congratulations on your graduation from Loyola College. What a wonderful achievement for you and your family. We are all so proud of you. Good luck in the future. With your love of life and music, we know you will realize all your dreams.

Love,
Grandma and Grandpa Oliveri and Grandma Domingo XXXOOO

Robert Michael Domingo

Breathe, breathe in the air
Don't be afraid to care
Leave but don't leave me
Look around and choose your own ground
For long you live and high you fly
And smiles you'll give and tears you'll cry
And all you touch and all you see
Is all your life will ever be.

Love,
Dad, Mom, Kyle, and Lindsay

Ryan Wilde Turner

Look Out World... Here She Comes!

Follow your dreams Kristin, may they all come true.
We are so proud of you.
Love, Mom, Megan, family and friends

Kristin A. Oeste

Jeremy David Grein

We'd like to congratulate you on this great accomplishment, and we'd like to take this opportunity to sincerely thank you for the J oy you've brought to us all,
your ceaseless E nergy,
your R adiant personality,
and your E xceptional gifts (with women?)
which continue to M ake us all so proud of you. We pray that the Y ears ahead are healthy and happy!

May God Bless You Now and Always!

With love from your family,
Mom and Dad,
Jenny, Mark, Kailyn, Nick,
Cindy, Mike, Nicole, Ryan,
Tim, Melanie (and Tater),
Jon and Jen

Jeremy David Grein

As the song goes, "I Hope You Dance," and we think you've danced all your way through four years at Loyola. Your accomplishments and strength amaze us everyday. Elections lost, elections won, SGA, The Greyhound, Thumbs Up and Thumbs Down, great friends (Love You Amy!), committees, meetings, internships, your 21st Birthday party, Rootie Kazootie's, dancing in the fountain, Swallow at the Hollow, Wheels on the Bus Go Round, Round, Round, Craig's, Camden Yards, the Inner Harbor, summer in D.C., Matt following in your footsteps (well we hope not all of your footsteps), the "Boys" great Parents Weekend Party, all your senior events and finally GRADUATION! We LOVE you, we're so proud of you and all you have done. We hope all your dreams come true and all your goals get accomplished, and most importantly, don't forget Area 51.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Matt, Robert, and Cooper

Kelly Carroll Crossett

Megan,

I couldn't be more proud of you. Use the knowledge you earned to be confident in whatever path you choose. Reach for the stars for they are yours for the taking. Keep your kind heart and beautiful smile, and always remember how much you are loved.

Love always,
Mom

Megan,

Thank you for being such a wonderful role model, such a beautiful person, and such a reliable friend. As you step out into the world, always be proud of what you have accomplished. Set your goals high, and with great determination, the world will be yours. Congratulations Gan, I love you very much.

Love always,
Danielle

Megan Wilson

Congratulations Chase!

All of us who love you celebrate the person you have become. You should be proud of your accomplishments. The best is yet to come! The future holds great opportunities for you. Your kindness, compassion, integrity, and sense of humor will ensure your success.

We are very proud of you.

May happiness and success be yours
tomorrow and always.

We love you,

Mom, Dad, and Scott

Chase Franklin

Congratulations to
Robert Michael Domingo
and the Loyola College Class of 2006!

Dear Bobby (a.k.a. "Disco Rob," a.k.a. "Bert"),

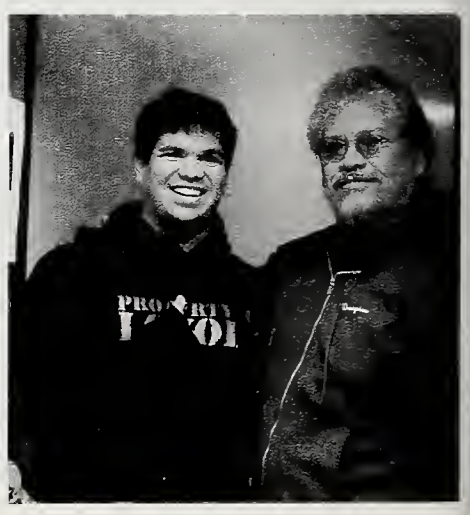
All your life you have been interested in music and sound. Remember Grandpa's stereo and Primus at Roseland? Your degree in Communications - Digital Media is a culmination of that vocation. We are so proud of all you have achieved. We know you will attain everything you desire in the years to come. We will sorely miss your "World of Hotpants," but will tune in the dial for all future "Bert Productions."

Love,
Mom and Dad XXOO

Dear Bobby

You may be a "good boy," but you are also a "Great Brother!" Thanks for all the times you've been there for us. Remember that we will always be there for you. Good luck in your future career. Keep on trucking in America, baby, yeah!

Love,
Wosie and Munch



Dear Angie,

As one journey ends, another begins. May the road ahead lead you to the happy, fulfilling life you so richly deserve.

Congratulations on your college graduation!

We love you,
Mom, Dad, and Joe

Angela M. Penrice

"There is a good reason they call these ceremonies 'commencement exercises.' Graduation is not the end; it's the beginning."
-Senator Orrin Hatch

Congratulations Christopher Ross!

We love you, Chris!
With great pride and affection,
Mom, Dad, and Mary Ellen '08

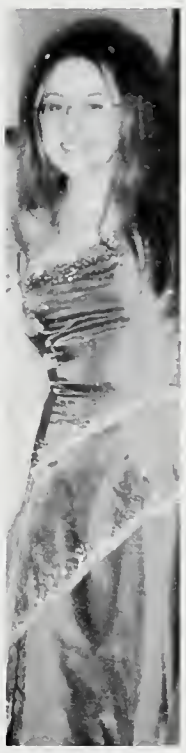
Christopher M. Ross

Katie,

How did we get so lucky? You are our joy, you are our heart. "Proud of you" is an understatement! Congratulations on this wonderful accomplishment! Look ahead now to all the future has in store. Remember... Always be happy!

Love always,
Mom, Pete, Dennis, Douglas, and Emily

Katharine Dailey



Dear Steph,

We can't believe you're graduating from Loyola already. It feels like we just dropped you off for freshman year with a giant van full of your things. You have worked very hard over the last four years fitting in school work and swimming, while still managing to make All Academic Team and the Dean's List. We couldn't be more proud of you and all you have accomplished.
Congratulations!

Love you forever,
Mom, Dad,
Carla, and Artie XOXO

Stephanie Pelullo

We love you Mat and have been proud of you every step of the way!

Keep smiling

Hugs and XXXXX,
Mom and Lane

Mara Hart

Dearest Katerina,

While you will always be "my little girl," I am so proud of the young woman you have become. Your loving heart and enthusiasm will be felt by all the children you will teach and by all the people you will love.

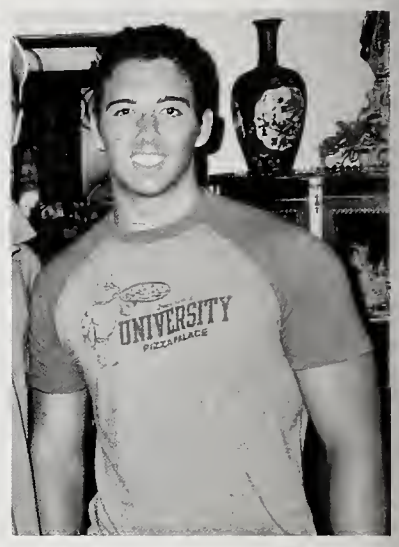
Congratulations,
With all my love,
Mom

Katerina M. Gutt

Always be true to yourself, remember good solid things like honesty, trust, and caring about other people.

God has truly blessed you with unique talents and abilities; He has turned our little boy into a fine young man. I know your father is looking down on you; you have made us all so proud.

We Love You!



Frank J. Mangiatordi

Trish,

When you started Loyola in the fall of 2002, you were EVER-SO-GREEN. You had accomplished much up to that point, but it was always with others, especially your twin sister. Whether it was dancing on a small stage at a local feis, or on the big stage at Carnegie Hall, you always had friends or family there with you. When you had your surgery, you needed those friends and family more than ever to support you through the tough times.

Now that your undergraduate experience has come to a close, you can look back and reflect upon all that you have accomplished on your own. You have made new friends, studied French in Montpellier, travelled throughout Europe and received a great education, both academically and socially, at Loyola. It gave you the confidence to represent New York in the Mary from Dungloe International Pageant in Co. Dungloe, Ireland and to spend the summer as a CosmoGIRL in NYC.

We know that you have a successful future ahead of you and you are well prepared to face life's challenges. We are proud of what you have done and know that you are leaving as an outstanding EVERGREEN!

Love,
Mom, Dad, Liz,
Thomas, Conor, and Maggie

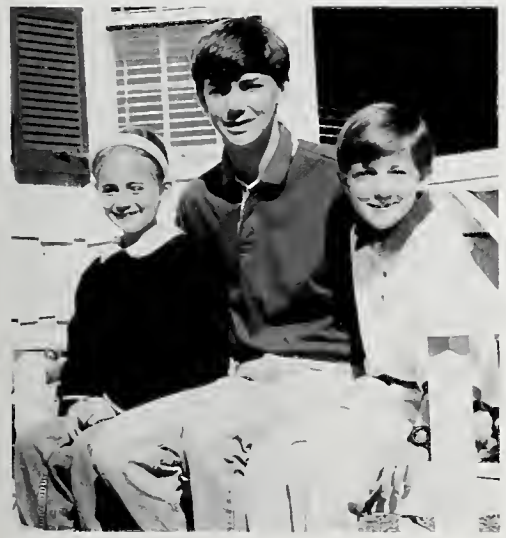
Patricia McNamara

Our Dearest Molly,

From the day you were born you were truly a gift from God. One of our most thrilling days was bringing you home from the hospital. What a beautiful baby you were.

We loved you from that very moment and have loved you more each day since. We are so proud of who you have become: beautiful, confident, and strong. You take our breath away.

All Our Love,
Mom, Dad, Sean, and Brendan



Molly Condon

Dear Trevor,

You are a wonderful son and we are so proud of you. We wish you much happiness in your life.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Trevor Hickey

Dear Erin,

No matter what obstacle has been placed in your path, you have always made us proud with your determination to succeed. You have worked hard during the past four years and each of us wants to congratulate you on your achievement.

As you try to find what you want to do in the years to come, try to remember that your work is to discover your world and then with all your heart, give yourself to it.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Mike, Kathy, and Billy

Erin Joslin

Dear Genét,

Congratulations to a truly wonderful daughter. I am very proud of you and all you have accomplished. May all your dreams come true and may your future hold as much love and happiness as you have brought to me.

Love Always,
Mom

Best of Luck to the Class of 2006

Genét M. DeFazio

Congratulations Emily!

May your life be as joyful as you have made ours.

We love you,
Mom, Dad, Lauren, and Ricky

Emily Rose Niffenegger

Dana,

Life is . . .
beauty, admire it.
a dream, realize it.
a game, play it.
a song, sing it.
an adventure, dare it.
a challenge, meet it.

Congratulations. . . and dare we say it . . .
YOU DID IT!
All our love, Mom, Dad, Brad, and Natalie

Dana Kirkpatrick

Dear Michael,

We hope that your life's journey brings you as much joy and happiness as you have given us. May all your dreams come true.

God Bless You.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Sara, and Daniel

Michael Ciarrochi

Brett Gerard Prime

May all your well-deserved dreams come true.
Love,
Mom

Brett Gerard Prime

Congratulations
Mark Alvino

Take pride in how far you have come
Have faith in how far you can go...

Love, Mom and Dad

Mark T. Alvino

Congratulations Erica!

And a special embrace...

We are so proud of you
You are everything we ever aspired for Such a wonderful young woman
So strong and capable
So mature and caring

We admire your convictions
Your perseverance
Follow your dreams
Follow your heart
We will always be there...
Much love,
Mom, Dad, and Greg

Erica Fullenkamp

e.e. cummings once said, "It takes courage to grow up and become who you really are." We are very proud of the young woman you've grown up to be. As you pursue your dreams - remember we are still always there for you. We love you with all our hearts.

Love,
Mom and Dad

Suzanne Malcuit

Jon,
Congratulations!
We are so proud of you!
We love you,
Mom and Dad

Jonathan Etheart

Dear Jay,

Congratulations on your graduation! We are so very proud of you and your accomplishments. You have worked very hard to achieve your goals. You deserve every success that comes your way. Remember that whatever you may do and wherever you may go, we will always love and support you. We wish you much happiness.

Lots of love,
Dad, Mom, and Jenn

Jason A. Bartlett

Our dearest Dana,
You are who you have always been:
loving, kind, and ever willing to share your gifts with others.

Congratulations on your tremendous successes.
Love always, Mom, Dad, Jena, Anne, Tommy, and Angel

Dana Kathryn Saporito

Dear Sweet Lauren,

As you have grown these twenty-two years, you have become more beautiful, more brilliant, and more loving with each day. As these pictures reveal you are also quite fashionable, quite fond of canines, and ready to dive into the moment with a big smile. As a wise woman once said, "Twenty years from now you will be more disappointed by the things you didn't do than by the ones you did. So throw off the bowlines. Sail away from the safe harbor. Catch the trade winds in your sails. EXPLORE. DREAM. DISCOVER." We think you could have written these words yourself! So this farewell is not at end at all, but rather a welcome and a huge beginning. We love the explorer. We love the dreamer. We deeply love all that is Lauren, always bringing new wonder into our lives. Congratulations sweetie, from your whole entire growing family.

Lauren Alteslaben

Dear Caroline,
WOW! As you look back, where did the time go?
You have grown from an adorable little baby to a caring young lady, so full of love and concern for others. We are so very proud of you! As you continue your journey, may your future be filled with love and happiness. May God keep you in His care and guide you as you follow your dreams.
Congratulations on your accomplishments!
With all our love, Mom and Dad

Caroline M. Burghard

Congratulations! Koye, you have achieved another milestone. Now as you follow your dreams, remember to trust in the Lord with all your heart and to acknowledge Him in all your ways so He will direct your path.

We love you,
Dad, Mom, and Eric

Koye Berry

"Every day you make progress. Every step may be fruitful. Yet there will stretch out before you an ever-lengthening, ever-ascending, ever-improving path. You know you will never get to the end of the journey. But this, so far from discouraging, only adds to the joy and the glory of the climb."

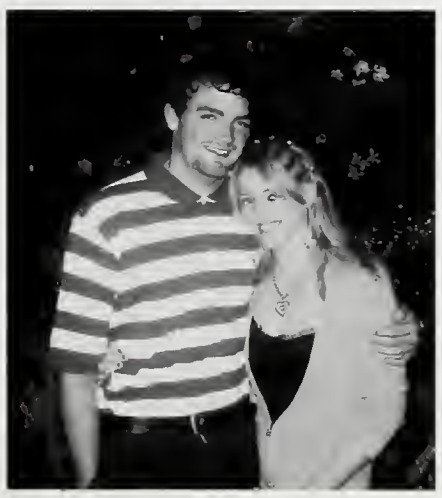
- Winston Churchill

Caroline Page-Katz

Dear Brian,

We are so proud of you and your accomplishments at Loyola. You have grown and matured and have demonstrated a strong commitment to succeed. We know you will do well in whatever you pursue. Congratulations and good luck from your family.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Sean, and Megan



Brian Dineen

To Laura,

Thanks for the memories

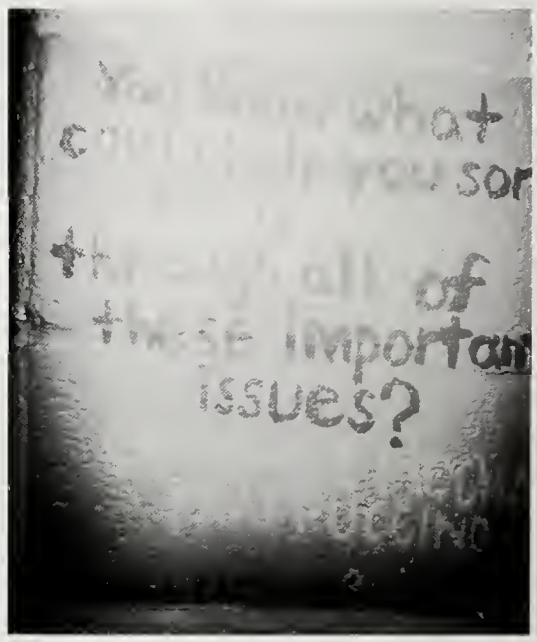
You have been part of making so many wonderful memories - these are only a few brief excerpts from the catalogue your life has created thus far for your friends and family. We know that you will be creating so many more for us in the years to come.

Perhaps more important than the memories are the bonds of friendship you have created that you've always valued above all else.

We're very proud of who you are and excited about the prospects of who you will become.

Congratulations to our little girl on her graduation.
Congratulations to our young lady on her development.

Love always,
Mom and Dad



Congratulations Marie!

I am so proud to have a daughter like you. Keep smiling and follow your dreams.

Love,
Mom

Marie Lawless

We are so proud of you, Aaron.
Congratulations!
Love, Mom, Allyn, and Amy

Aaron Richard Eddy

Dear Lisa,

Congratulations! Your hard work, determination, and perseverance have paid off! We are so very proud of you and all your accomplishments. May your loving ways and genuine concern for others always be your guiding light on life's journey. Remember, your only limitations are those that are self-imposed. Always follow your heart and never stop pursuing your dreams. We wish you a life blessed with good health and filled with happiness and joy!

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Joey

Lisa Ann Lubrano

Richie,

You have once again taken an important forward step in life. We have never doubted your capability in being the enterprising and successful young man you have become. We are all proud of you and wish you a very bright future.

Congratulations on your graduation.

Love,
Dad and Mom

Richard A. Shami

Once again we are so proud of you! We wish you success and most of all happiness after graduation.

We love you,
Mom and Dad

Matthew Ingles

From a baby duck
To a beautiful swan

May laughter and love follow you on whatever path you choose

Be assured of our continued pride and support

Congratulations on a job well done

Love,
Mom, Dad, Emily, and Joe

Jessica Kitzinger

Amy,

Congratulations! We are so proud of you and all you've accomplished. You will always have our love and have earned our respect as you have grown into a wonderfully caring and concerned young woman. We are excited to see what path you will follow now. As Dr. Seuss so aptly put it,

"Kid, you'll move mountains...
Your mountain is waiting. So...get on your way!"

Love always,
Mom, Dad, Steve, and Mike

Amy Benedetto

Congratulations!

May all your dreams come true and may your future bestow as much love and happiness as you have brought to us.

We hope you will always treasure the memories of your years at Loyola.

With tremendous pride and love always,

Mom, Dad, and Rory

Sean Michael Cahill

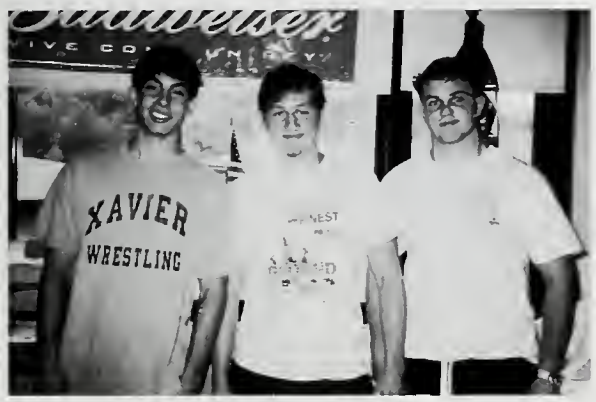
Our wish for you:

Comfortonyourdifficultdays,rainbows to follow your clouds, sunsets to warm your heart, friendships to brighten your life, confidence when you doubt, faith to believe, patience to accept the truth, and love to complete you.

Thank you for being a wonderful son. We could not be more proud of you Lee!

We love you,

Mom and Dad



"I want to share something with you - the three sentences that will get you through you working life. Number one, 'Cover me.' Number two, 'Oh good idea boss.' Number three, 'It was like that when I got here.'"
-Homer Simpson

To the outside world we will grow old, but not as brother and sister. We know each other as we always were. We know each other's hearts. We share private family jokes. We remember family feuds and secrets, family griefs and family joys. You're my brother by birth, my friend by choice. Congratulations Lee, I love you!

Kathryn

Lee Rando

Brian,

Wow, how the years have flown by. You've made it fun... You've made us laugh... but most of all you've made us proud!

Congratulations and lots of love!

Mom, Dad, Katie, and Kevin

Brian T. Galvin

Dear Megan,

We couldn't ask for greater happiness than to watch you and Beth grow up. As you graduate, as always, you make us so proud. We know you always will.

With all our love,
Mom and Dad

"Never grow up... that's the secret."
-Lucky Every Day

Megan Urban

Dear Stephie

From kindergarten to college you have always worked hard and we are so proud of everything you have accomplished. As you move on to the "real world," we wish you all the best in your future endeavors, your pursuit of happiness, love, and a successful career.

Remember...
Believe in yourself
Reach for the stars
Live your dreams

Love,
Mom and Dad and Mia

CONGRATULATIONS!!!

Dear Stephie
Thanks for helping me with my school work when I needed it. But that doesn't mean it has to stop! Congratulations!

Love,
Your taller 'lil brother Matt

Stephanie E. Polito

Tom,

Life experiences leading to your graduation have seen some exciting times. From youth soccer in the younger years, to NCCC's in high school, to mountain climbing in Ecuador while in college.

May your life be filled with as much love and happiness as you have brought into ours. We are so proud of you and all that you have accomplished.

Good luck and great success as you approach your new life experiences.

Love,
Mom, Dad, Kenny, and Monique

Thomas Bujold

Dear Nevin,
You are a great journalist and the whole world will listen. You will always be empowered by your commitment and motivation. YOU are an honest and bold reporter!!! And, most importantly, you light up the stage with your contagious smile.

You have taught us more than you will ever know. We are extremely proud of you. Congratulations on your Loyola 2006 graduation.

We love you,
Mom, Nina, Keenan, Joe, Cloe, and Thyme

Nevin Michael Steiner

Amy,
Congratulations on a job well done. We are bursting with pride and joy as we were for your other graduations. You have always been special to those around you. You have made so many friends along the way. Wonderful people who care deeply and have a strong belief in what is right. Friends, relatives, teachers, and coaches along the way have always remarked about your character, morals, and leadership. Your friends know they can count on you.

We are blessed to have you as a daughter and sister. May your journey through life be joyful and meaningful as it is right now. God bless you now and always, Amy.

Love always,
Mom, Dad, and Ryan

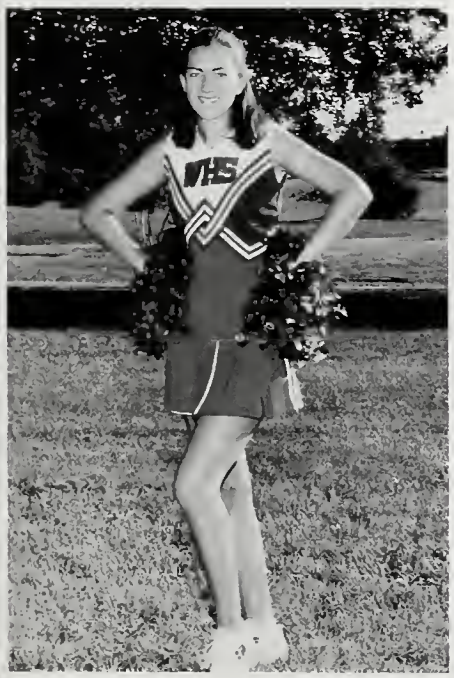
Amy Lauren Carroll

Dear Kristine,
There just aren't words to express how proud I am of you. As you graduate from Loyola College in Maryland and look towards your bright future continue to believe in yourself. You can do anything you put your mind to. The world awaits your arrival but remember to keep your loved ones close. We will always be there for you to love and support you. I love you more than words can say. Congratulations dear Kristine!

Love you worlds,
Mom

Kristine,
We are so proud of you; you should relish in your accomplishments! Continue to believe in your dreams, a vision. Set your standards high in all aspects of your life, hold strong truths and continue to live those truths well.

Love,
Ed



Dear Kristine,
Proud of you, Kid.
Love, Dad

Kristine E. Tynan

CENTER FOR VALUES AND SERVICE

To our favorite blonde daughter,
Congratulations on all that you have accomplished academically and in your CVS programs. We are very proud of the person you have become.

We love you,
Mom, Dad, Meg, and Christ
Sarah and Tom

Beth '06 Megan '00 Sarah '02
We saved the "Beth" for last

Elizabeth O'Donnell

It's been a joy to watch you grow into the thoughtful, loving person you have become. You are an inspiration to us and to others you touch in the world around you. We are very proud of you and love you completely.

Mom, Dad, Bryan, Kristina, and Kaylee

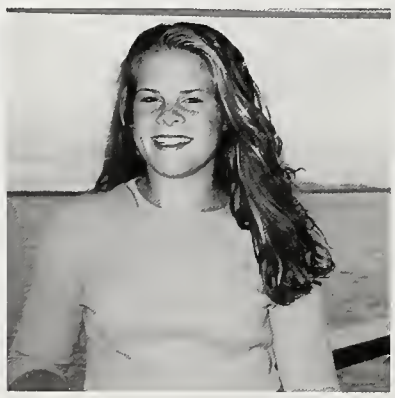
Lauren K. Piech

Congratulations
Andrea Wagner
and the Class of 2006

Words cannot express how very proud we are of you and your accomplishments. We wish you health, happiness, prosperity, and love. May all your dreams come true.

The best is yet to come!

Love and God Bless,
Mom, Robert, Alison, and Nana



Andrea Wagner

Dear Laura,
Your determination, enthusiasm, and passion have allowed you to achieve so much during your years at Loyola. We are so proud of all that you have accomplished, and know that your future will be full of success and happiness as you continue to reach for the stars.

We wish you all the joy and good things life has to offer as you fulfill your dreams, and never forget that the love of your family will always be with you wherever those dreams may take you.

With all our love, joy,
and pride,
Mom, Dad, and Kristy

Laura Hajducek

Dear Thomas,
We are all tremendously proud of you and wish you much success as you graduate!
"Go confidently in the direction of your dreams. Live the life you have imagined."
Henry David Thoreau

Love and kisses always,
Mom, Dad, Doug, Aunt Lois, Uncle Philip, Christina, Teresa, Laura, Aunt Janet, Uncle Lou, Victoria, Lauren, David, Oma, Aunt Heidi, Uncle Marc, Maggie xoxox

Thomas Kopf

Dear Lauren, Allison, Ann, and Kara

Congratulations!
We are so proud you.
May your future be filled with love, happiness, and success.

Love,
The Moscatiello Family

Lauren Moscatiello

Dear Lauren,

Congratulations on your "4 GREAT YEARS" at Loyola College.

Thank you for always making us so proud of you and for sharing your happiness and successes with us.

We will always be there for you with our love, support, and family spirit.

Always keep "Dreaming the Impossible Dream" as you continue your life's quest. "To Reach the Unreachable Star."

With all our love always and may God continue to bless you!

Mom, Dad, and Jason

Lauren Volpe

Dear Sean,

We love you very much and we're so proud of you. Thank you for all the wonderful times we've shared and for the rest that are yet to be. We wish you the best life has to offer and remember that we'll always be here for you if you ever need us.

An Irish Blessing
May there always be work for your hands to do,
May your purse always hold a coin or two.
May the sun always shine warm on your windowpane,
May a rainbow be certain to follow each rain.
May the hand of a friend always be near you,
And may God fill your heart with gladness to cheer you.

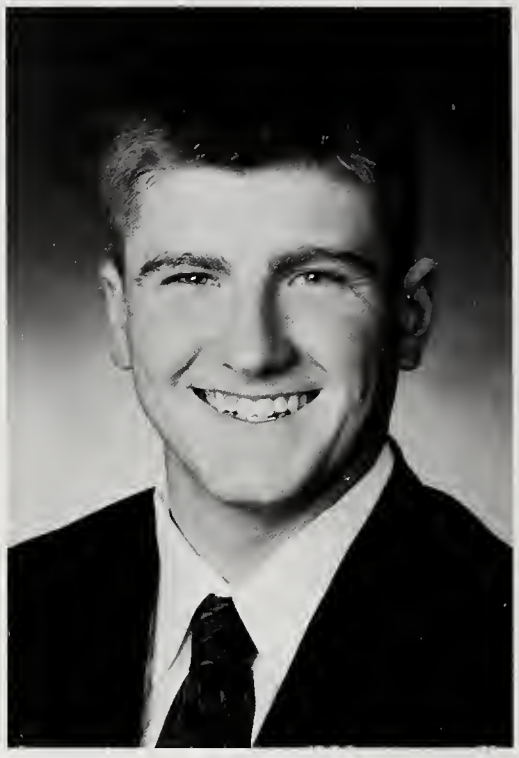
Love,
Mom, Dad, Katie, Dan, and Kevin

Sean M. Gallagher

Dear Ryan:
From Cranberry Pines, to Bishop Eustace Prep, to Loyola College... we've always been proud of your endeavors and accomplishments. We are in awe; the future is bright. May good health, success, and happiness follow you all of your years.

All our love,
Mom, Dad, and Evan

Ryan J. Weidmann



Now it's time to ride the wild surf and reach for the sky

Kevin,
We are all so very proud of you.

Mom, Dad, Pat,
and
The Whole Family

Kevin T. Dougherty

Dear Matthew,

Congratulations on your graduation. As you venture out into the world, remember not to to diversions, or pursuing your dreams, and realize that there is never only to achieve your goals. Your hard work, compassion, and generosity will continue to help you accomplish anything you set your mind to. We are so very proud of you, and wish you a happy, healthy, and successful life as you begin transforming your dreams into realities.

Love always, Mom, Dad, Mark, Andrew, and Courtney

Matthew James Pedalino

Congratulations, Dan.

Enjoy Life!

Dan Lynch

Congratulations Cher on your amazing accomplishments! We are extremely proud of the young lady you have become. Fulfill your dreams, reach for the stars!

We love you!!!

Cherilyn Winkler

Dearest Patrick,
We are so proud of your hard work, dedication and focus; qualities that will continue to bring you success in all your endeavors.

With love and admiration,
Mom and Dad

Patrick J Mitchell

"Apply your heart to instruction..."

Once again you have done this well. You never cease to make us proud.

With all our love and great joy at your success!

Dad and Mom

Jennifer Michelle Green

Dedication

Mr. Michael Puma

It is a long standing tradition of the graduating class of Loyola College to dedicate the yearbook to an individual who has made an impression on them through their words and actions. This year, the senior class has chosen an individual who demonstrates passion and concern in his everyday relations, both during the workday and beyond.

The Class of 2006 has a special connection with Mr. Michael Puma, better known around campus as Mike. For the past four years, Mike has worked in the Office of Student Life in the capacity of Assistant Director. He began his tenure at Loyola along with the graduating class in the summer of 2002, working in Campion Tower with freshman and sophomore communities. Mike started several new initiatives in the building, in addition to being an active member of the area's Resident Affairs Council. He was a visible presence for the residents of Campion Tower, taking time to get to know the people who lived in the building and creating meaningful connections with them.

After two years at Loyola, Mike made a transition to Assistant Director for the Gardens area. In his new area, he worked primarily with junior communities. Mike also took on the role as moderator for the Resident Affairs Council. Continuing to build upon the changes and improvements that he initiated while working in Campion Tower, Mike has been a key player in improving the way in which both Student Life and the Resident Affairs Council meet the needs of the student body.

Mike's contributions to the Loyola community did not stop when he left his office in the late afternoon.

LIFE'S A STAGE Mike is not one for taking the spotlight, but when he does, he shines. With the right music, he can impress crowds with his moves.

TEAM PLAYER Perhaps best recognized for his work done in Student Life, Mike is here with the Gardens Area staff. Mike helped his staff better serve the residents of his area by encouraging collaboration and creativity.

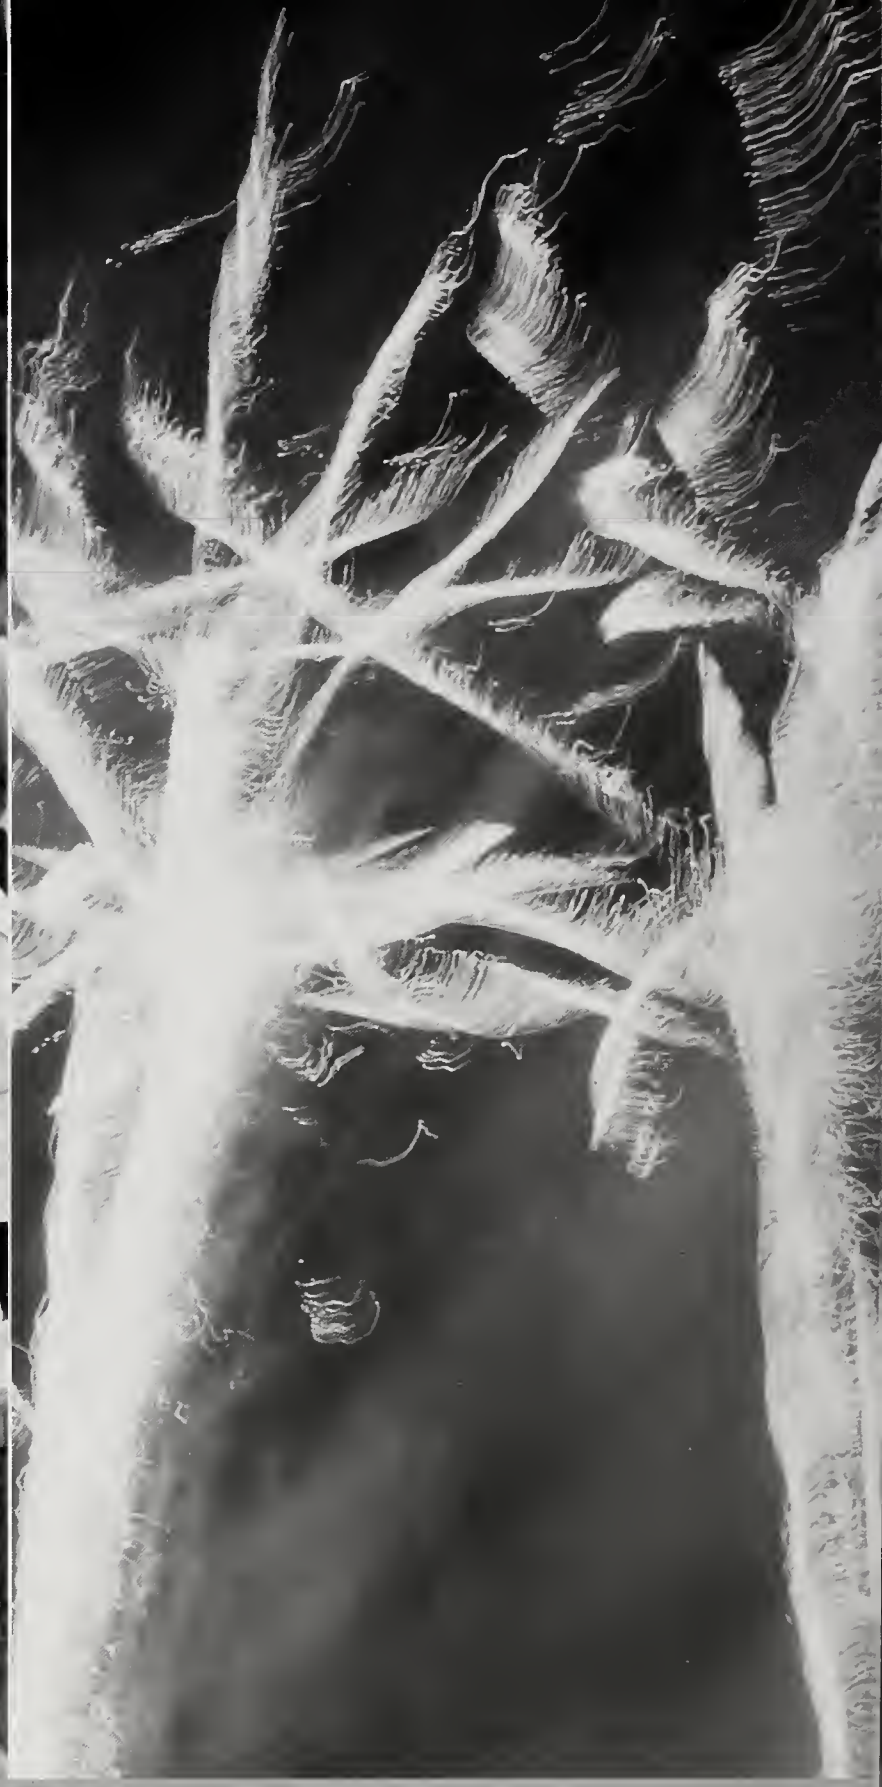
PLAY BALL! Mike is an avid Orioles fan, even though he originally hails from New York. Here, Mike is at Camden Yards with a group of students, enjoying the game.

HE'S GOT AN EYE ON YOU Watching out for students is what Mike does best. Whether it be on campus or at a ropes course, Mike works hard to help people reach their goals.

He has furthered the mission of Loyola College and has truly explored the meaning of being "Men and Women for Others." Through his participation in countless service experiences, Mike has helped others while creating strong connections with students, the greater Baltimore community, and beyond. Two of the most memorable immersion experiences Mike has participated in were Encuentra El Salvador and two Spring Break Outreach trips. These experiences focused on reaching out to poor communities as well as educating participants about the social justice issues affecting the regions. Mike holds dear the encounters that he had on these trips and uses them in his interactions with students and colleagues.

One can often find Mike playing racquetball at the Fitness and Aquatics Center, running down Roland Avenue, cheering at basketball games, or interacting with students around campus. A true Greyhound at heart, he has served as an inspiration and a role model to students and his colleagues of all ages around the Evergreen campus. Mike is an amazing asset to this college, living every moment of every day with passion. The class of 2006 is proud to dedicate this volume of Evergreen Annual to Mr. Michael Puma, a most deserving and inspirational member of the Loyola College community.

By: Matthew Hayek and Richard Shami



ORIGINAL DEVOTED

ecCentric tOgether

colophon

Dear Reader,

I hope that you enjoyed this volume of The Evergreen Annual. The book which you hold in your hands is the result of a year's worth of hard work, dedication, and much fun. A true team effort, I am certain that you would not have the book today if it were not for the collaboration of the editors, staff, and the greater Loyola community.

For the past four years, I have been a part of the yearbook staff. Starting my freshman year as a staff member, I was Sports Editor for two years and finally am closing my tenure as Co-Editor in Chief. I have had the opportunity to work with many different groups of staffs. With the staffs I have worked with, I am amazed at the dedication, talent, and ambition each individual brought to the team. It is a true joy to see how much an individual can grow over the course of the year; from learning new technology to discovering new ways of dealing with challenges and diverse groups of people.

There were many people who helped in one way or another along the way. I would like to take a moment to acknowledge some of them. Maureen, my Co-Editor in Chief, you are my right hand woman (and that's not only because your desk is to the right of mine). Your organization and creativity helped bring the book to the next level. To Joyce, editor extraordinaire, your tireless efforts are greatly appreciated. I am confident that the book is in good hands next year. Lindsay, your randomness provided refreshing comic relief when it was needed the most. Emily, your continued support and willingness to help anytime is indispensable. To the folks in the Student Activities office, especially Dolly, Mark, and Karen, thank you for the support you continue to provide. Finally, I would like to thank all of the friends and family of the yearbook staff who we turned to when we needed pictures, information, or moral support.

Whether you're reading this note at the moment you look at the book for the first time, or after many years, I hope that it finds you well. I feel that we have all been privileged with the opportunity to experience the many different prospects which Loyola has to offer. It is my sincere wish that this book helps you to remember the fond memories of your college years and the values which have been instilled in you by means of your Jesuit education. Remember what you have learned and experienced and use it to be men and women for others.

Sincerely,

Richard A. Shami
Co-Editor in Chief
Class of 2006

TECHNICAL: The 2006 edition of The Evergreen Annual, the student yearbook of Loyola College in Maryland, was printed by Jostens Printing and Publishing. The publication contains 290 pages covering September 2005 to May 2006 and had a press run of 3200. Chuck Sabia served as our Jostens representative and Sandy Mays was our plant consultant. The cover, designed by Rick Brooks in cooperation with the editorial staff, is made with a Special Litho 470 cover material printed in process color and treated with a UV Clear 350 application and Gold Premium Foil stamping. The endsheets are Glowtouch Charcoal 300 paper and it is Smyth sewn bound. Signatures one and four, and multiples three and five were printed in four-color process. There are eight pages of spot color and all other pages were printed in black. All paper is 80# mead gloss enamel, trimmed to 9 x 11 inches. Our standard font was Gill Sans MT, with additional fonts AYTChelsea, AYTDavid, AYT Elegance, AYTGeniune, AYTLynn, AYTOodles, Footlight MT Light, Rockwell, and TW Century Bold. All spreads were created by our staff using Adobe InDesign CS2 enhanced with the Jostens 2006 Yeartech Plug-In and Adobe Photoshop CS2, both running on the Microsoft Windows XP platform. Hardware used for production included seven Pentium IV IBM personal computers, a Hewlett Packard Laserjet 5000tn, a Konica Minolta Magicolor 2430 DL, a Sony Cybershot DSC-H1, and an Epson Perfection 2450 Photo scanner.

PHOTOGRAPHY: The Evergreen Annual is contracted with DaVor Photography. Jim Rainey served as our customer service representative. Gerald Razler spent over six weeks in our office, taking countless senior portraits and brightening our lives. Film was developed at the DaVor photography labs in Bensalem and sent to us in CD format. Photographs for the Bull and Oyster Roast were generously provided by Larry Canner. Members of the staff and other members of the Loyola community generously contibuted pictures that are located throughout the book.

GRATITUDE: The editors wish to thank, first and foremost, our staff. We entered this year not thinking we would survive without last year's editors Kristen Kearby and Emily Shenk as our leaders. But thanks to your hard work and patience we survived and completed what some may call a "crazy" book. Guiding us the whole way and always knowing the answer to every question, our advisor Emily never did raise the "too loco" paddle - thank you for letting us create our own paths. We would also like to thank our college contacts Mark Broderick, Dolly Rizzi, and Karen Thomas at Student Activities, Carol Allen at Public Relations, and Kim McCabe at the Post Office. We couldn't have come this far without you. Thank you to all the students who helped us in any way, and to the whole student body - this book is for you!

2006 STAFF
The Evergreen Annual

EDITORS IN CHIEF
Maureen Hogan
Richard A. Shami

SECTION EDITORS
Lindsay Bellomo
Joyce Ritz

STAFF
Cristina Ambroselli (Fall)
Eileen Bocchicchio
Jenna Mizia
Mary Murphy
Michelle Tumolo
Elizabeth Watson (Fall)
Margo Weiner

DaVor Photography
654 Street Road
Bensalem, PA 19020

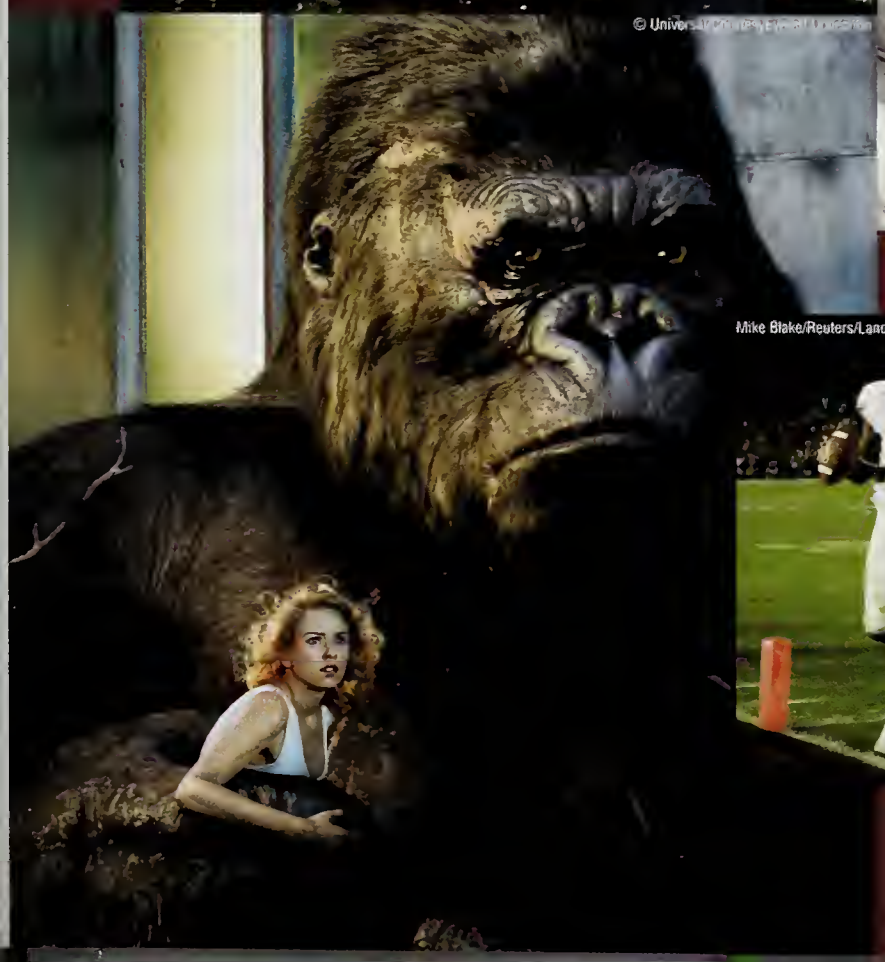
Jostens Printing
401 Science Park Road
State College, PA 16804

Loyola College in Maryland
4501 North Charles Street
Baltimore, MD 21210

jostens

05-06 World Beat®

Front Page Headlines - Global - Science and Nature - Human Interest - Fashion

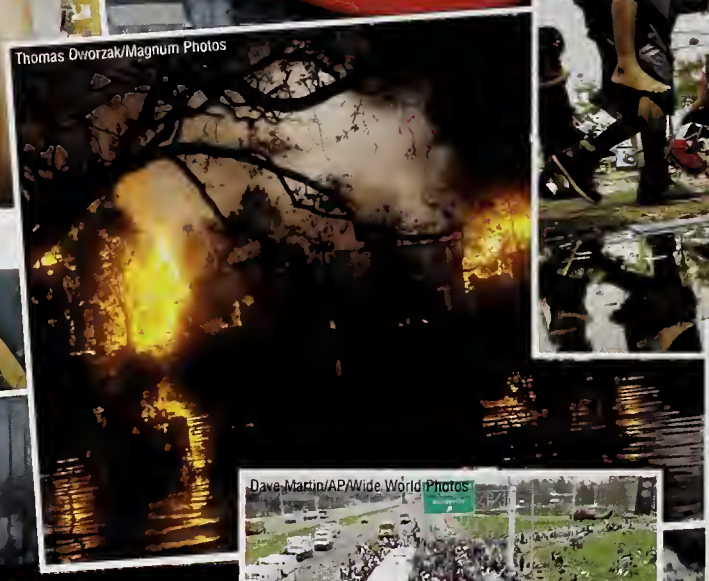


Lifestyle - Movies - Television - Music - Entertainment - Sports - Faces

HURRICANES HIT HOME

Eric Gay/AP/Wide World Photos

KATRINA
August 29, 2005



Thomas Dworzak/Magnum Photos

Mario Tama/Getty Images

Dave Martin/AP/Wide World Photos

Smiley N. Pool/Dallas Morning News/Corbis

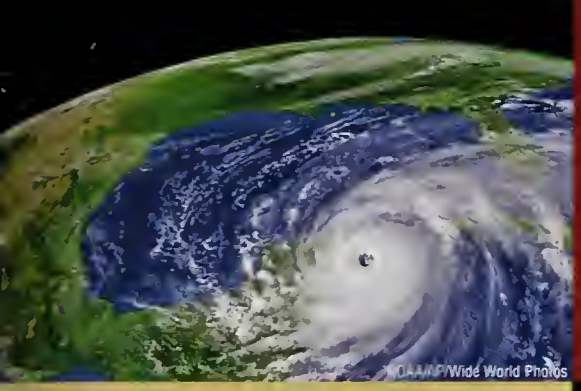
Jeff Widener/AP Photos

Mario Tama/Getty Images

RITA
September 22, 2005

WILMA
October 24, 2005

Mike Theiler/Reuters/Corbis



Hurricanes ravage the Gulf Coast region in the fall of 2005, posing an unprecedented test of the United States federal emergency response efforts. Hundreds of lives are lost and thousands are left homeless in the wake of Category 4 Hurricane Katrina, followed by Rita and Wilma. The tragedy spurs contributions of money, talents, homes, food and more in an attempt to raise spirits and rebuild the area.

RISING FROM THE STORMS

August

25 Hurricane Katrina strikes Florida.

28 Mandatory evacuation of both New Orleans and Mississippi is ordered as Katrina becomes a Category 5 storm in the Gulf of Mexico.

29 Downgraded to a Category 4 storm, Katrina hits land. 1.3 million homes and businesses lose electricity in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama. 30 levees are breeched, flooding New Orleans and leaving 100,000 people stranded. After slow government response, civil unrest and looting begins.

31 President Bush surveys the damage.

September

1 30,000 National Guard troops are deployed. Gas prices spike to as high as $5 per gallon.

2 President Bush visits Louisiana and signs a $10.5 billion relief bill. Nearly 154,000 evacuees arrive in Texas.

4 The New Orleans Superdome is evacuated.

6 President Bush and Congress pledge to investigate the flawed disaster response.

9 Government-issued debit cards are distributed to evacuees. The program fails and is ended days later.

12 Michael Brown, head of the Federal Emergency Management Agency, resigns. Flooding is down to 50 percent in New Orleans.

14 New Orleans Mayor Ray Nagin announces a phased repopulation plan.

15 New Orleans begins to reopen. Katrina is named the most destructive hurricane in U.S. history.

20 Louisiana Governor Kathleen Blanco declares a state of emergency as Hurricane Rita strengthens off the coast.

22 Rita hits the Louisiana coast and heads for Texas.

23 Thousands evacuate eastern Texas and the 9th Ward of New Orleans floods once again after levees are overrun.

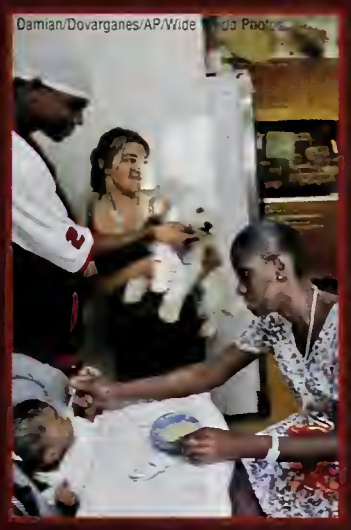
October

24 Hurricane Wilma hits southwest Florida.

▼ Thousands of Louisiana evacuees receive shelter and medical care in the Astrodome in Houston, Texas.

◀ Louisiana Governor Kathleen Blanco, President Bush and New Orleans Mayor Ray Nagin survey the damage in New Orleans.

▲ Many animals left behind during evacuation are rescued and given shelter or reunited with their owners.



▲ Homes across the country are opened to families left homeless in the wake of Hurricane Katrina.

▲ Thousands of volunteers help Habitat for Humanity rebuild homes in Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama.

▲ Three months after Katrina strikes, the first New Orleans public school reopens on November 28.

05-06 Front Page Headlines

▼ On October 15, Iraqi voters ratify a U.S.-supported draft constitution that establishes a federal state. A second election, in December, creates the new government's first parliament.

Reuters/Eric Miller/Landov

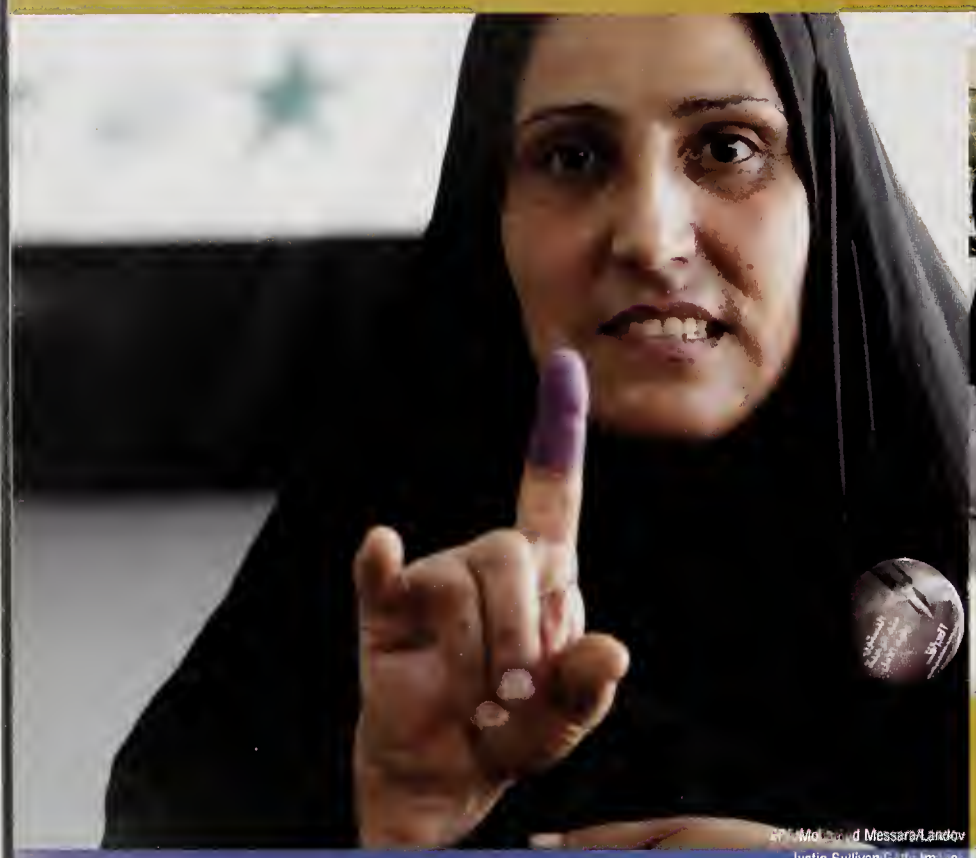
▲ Several airlines declare bankruptcy due to huge fuel, labor and security costs. Passengers see fees for pillows, aisle seats and more as carriers seek new revenue sources.

EPA/Daniel Deme/Landov

▲ During rush hour on July 7, London is hit by terrorist attacks. Bombs strike one bus as well as the city's underground trains, leaving 56 people dead and 700 injured.

Susan Walsh/AP/Wide World Photos

▲ John G. Roberts Jr. becomes the 17th Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court following the death of William Rehnquist.



[illegible] Mohammed Messara/Landov

Victor R.Caivano/AP/Wide World Photos

▲ Violence in Iraq continues to cost lives. Since the war began in March 2003, over 27,700 Iraqi civilians and 2,300 coalition troops have died.

Justin Sullivan/Getty Images

▲ Gasoline prices surge in September before falling back to pre-hurricane levels. Major oil companies face federal questioning after revealing profits of over $35 billion during this period.

David Guttenfelder/AP/Wide World Photos

▶ A devastating 7.6-magnitude earthquake hits the Kashmir region of Pakistan in October, killing 87,000 and leaving 3.5 million homeless.

Jason Reed/Reuters/Landov

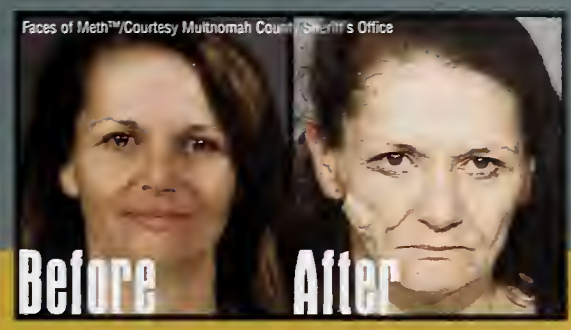
▲ In January 2006, Ellen Johnson-Sirleaf is sworn in as Liberia's president, making her Africa's first elected female leader.

Joe Marquette/AP/Wide World Photos

▲ Vice President Dick Cheney's top aide I. Lewis "Scooter" Libby resigns after being indicted in October on criminal charges relating to the leaking of a CIA officer's identity.

Harold Hoskins/AbbotLord/Corbis

▲ Despite his years of anti-gang advocacy while in prison, on December 13, former Crips gang leader Stanley "Tookie" Williams is executed by lethal injection for four 1979 murders.



Faces of Meth™/Courtesy Multnomah County Sheriff's Office

▲ Methamphetamine use becomes a national crisis as meth-related crimes skyrocket on the West Coast and in the Midwest. Pharmacies remove pseudophedrine products from shelves in an effort to control meth production.

▲ On January 2, 2006, an explosion at the Sago Mine in Tallmansville, West Virginia, traps 13 miners 260 feet below the surface. Sadly, only one of the miners is pulled out alive.

Landov

Bob Strong, Pool/AP/Wide World Photos

▶ In October, former Iraqi dictator Saddam Hussein goes on trial in Baghdad, pleading innocent to the murder and torture charges against him.

Jim Hollander/

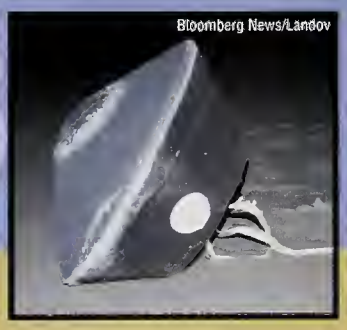
◀ Hoping to restart the peace process with the Palestinians, Israel evacuates the Gaza Strip, an area it has occupied since the 1967 Six-Day War.

Thierry Bordas/EPA/Landov

▲ Civil unrest rocks France as more than 300 towns and suburbs explode with riots and arson. High unemployment, racial discrimination and rage are blamed for the outbreaks.

Science and Nature

▼ A global pandemic is feared as the avian flu claims 73 lives in Asia by the end of December and threatens to spread across the world.



Bloomberg News/Landov

▲ After seven years and 2.88 billion miles, NASA's Stardust capsule returns to earth carrying dust particles from the tail of the comet Wild 2. Scientists believe the samples hold clues to the formation of the Solar System.

▲ The American Dental Association cites bottled water and its lack of fluoride as a major contributing factor in the rise of tooth decay in children.

Kathy Willens/AP/Wide World Photos

▲ According to recent research, chocolate can be a healthy treat thanks to its high content of flavonoids, which help maintain good circulation and reduce blood clotting.

Bogdan Cristel/Reuters/Corbis

Bloomberg News/Landov

▲ A vaccine that may potentially fight recurring cancer cells is successfully tested on 14 breast cancer survivors. It is hailed as the first step toward preventing the disease.

Jessie Cohen, National Zoo/AP/Wide World Photos

▲ The Sichuan Wolong Panda Protection and Breed Center in China deals with a baby boom — 16 pandas, including five sets of twins, are born between July and November 2005.

NASA TV/AP/Wide World Photos

▶ In August, U.S. astronaut Stephen Robinson successfully completes an unprecedented emergency repair of the space shuttle Discovery while in orbit.

Human Interest

▲ Hikers scaling Mount Mendel Glacier in California discover the remains of Leo Mustonen, a World War II airman whose plane crashed in 1942.

Ivan Sekretarev/AP/Wide World Photos

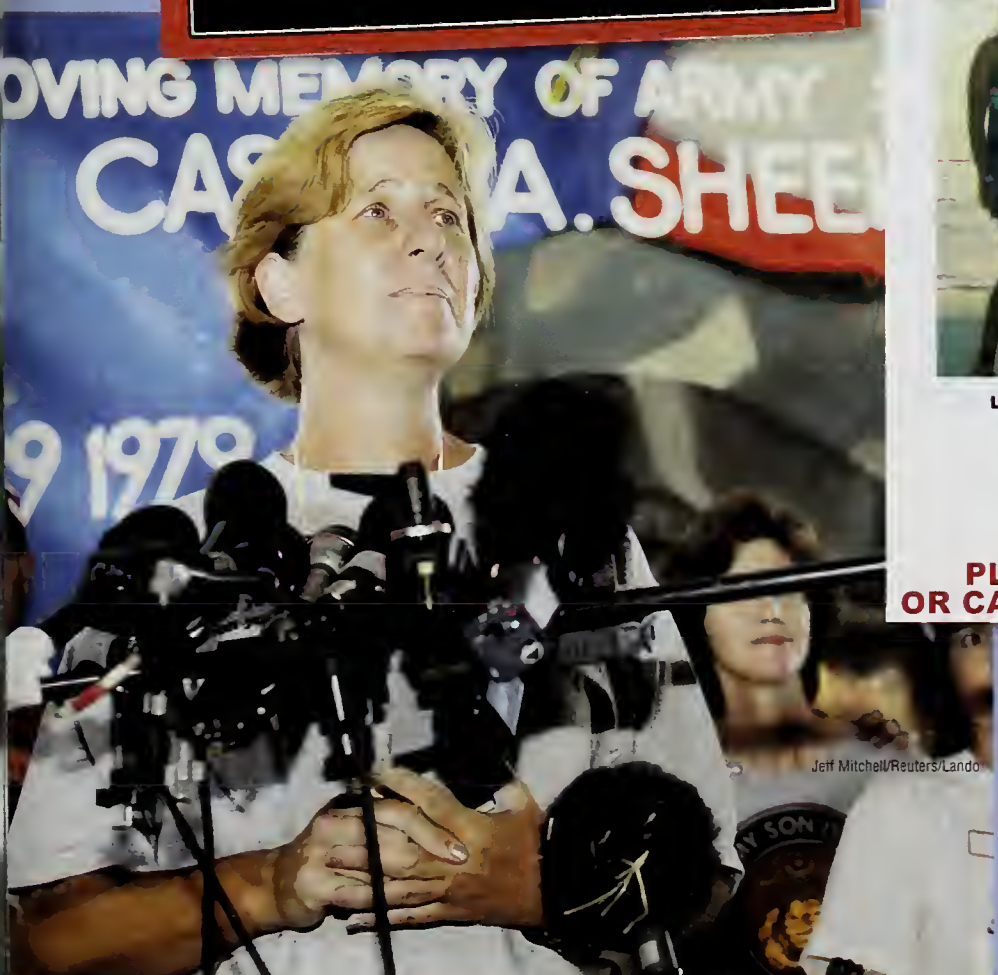
▲ U.S. scientist Gregory Olsen pays $20 million for a trip to the International Space Station aboard the Russian Soyuz spacecraft.

▲ The ruins of what may be the oldest Christian church, built in the third or fourth century A.D., are discovered on the grounds of Megiddo Prison in northern Israel in November.

▼ Anticipating the G8 summit in July, Bob Geldof organizes musicians for a series of concerts around the world to highlight the problem of global poverty.

Rick Diamond/WireImage.com

◀ Bill Gates, Bono and Melinda Gates are named TIME's Persons of the Year for their efforts to battle poverty, AIDS and malaria in Africa.



Jeff Mitchell/Reuters/Landov

Holloway Family Photo/AP/Wide World Photos

◀ Natalee Holloway, an 18-year-old from Birmingham, Alabama, becomes the lead story for every major news outlet after her disappearance while vacationing in Aruba.

◀ In August, American anti-Iraq War activist Cindy Sheehan, whose son Casey was killed in action in 2003, holds an extended demonstration at a peace camp outside President George W. Bush's Texas ranch.

Fashion

05-06

◀ Everywhere you look this year sparkle is in with teen girls.

Steve Granitz/WireImage.com

▲ From preppy to vintage looks, vests make a bold statement in the fall of 2005.

▲ Cowboy boots see a rise in popularity, and not just for line dancers and country music fans.

▲ The "hoodie" is a staple in most teens' wardrobes.

aylor/Everett Collection

▶ Blazers with a retro fit make a big splash on the fashion scene.

▲ Style gets a dose of fun over formal with these unique fashion alternatives.

▼ Flip-flops are considered a fashion necessity, not just casual footwear.

Lifestyle

Chris Gardner/AP/Wide World Photos

▲ Shops that help you prepare meals to freeze, take home and cook offer a fun, quick and easy mealtime solution for busy moms.

Tim Boyle/Getty Images

▲ Pets receive the royal treatment with gourmet pet foods, available in upscale pet food shops, pet food bakeries and even ice cream parlors.

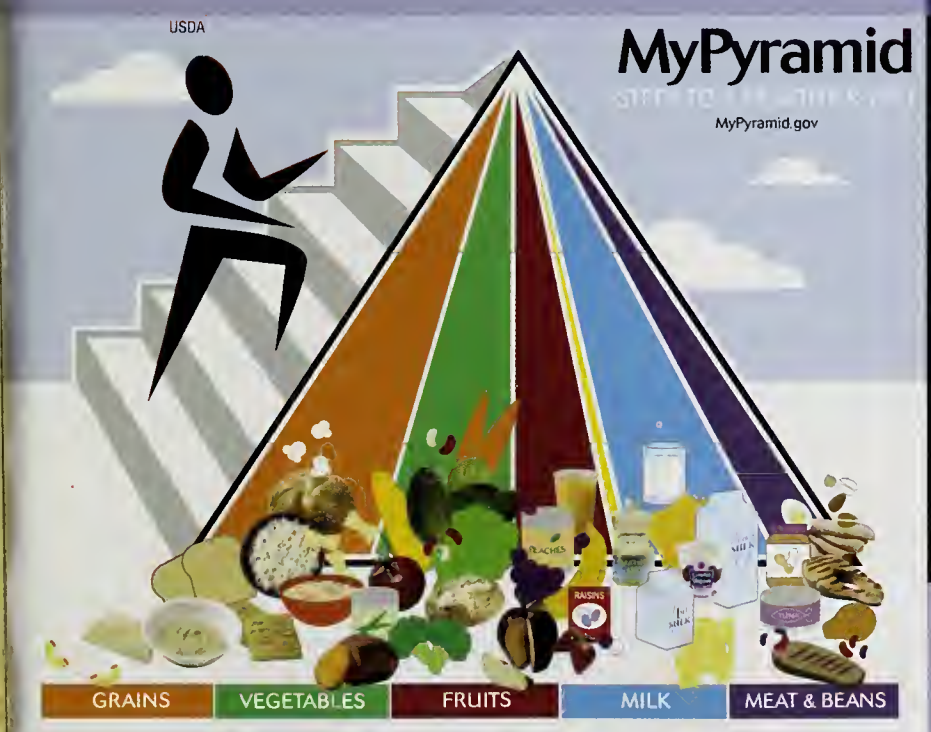
David Cooper/Toronto Star/ZUMA/Corbis

▲ Due to high gas prices, consumers opt for smaller cars with better gas mileage rather than gas-guzzling SUVs.

▼ The popularity of poker on television results in one of the biggest fads of the year — home Texas Hold 'Em tournaments.

▲ Podcasts, free broadcast-format audio files published to the Internet and downloaded to iPods by subscription, are a hip way to keep up-to-date.

Rob Kim/Landov

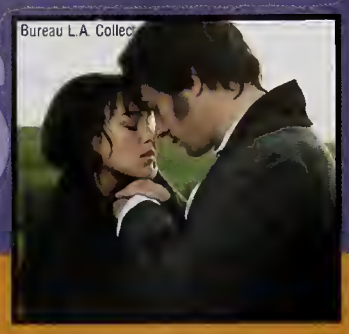


◀ The new food pyramid recommends that kids eat more fruits, vegetables and whole grains than in the past, and exercise 30 to 60 minutes each day.

Rob Kim/Landov

▲ Blogs become the biggest Web craze since the inception of the Internet thanks to sites like Blogger.com and MySpace.com.

05-06 Movies



▲ Golden Globe Best Actress nominee Keira Knightley shines in the hit movie Pride and Prejudice, based on the 1813 Jane Austen novel.

© Warner Bros./Courtesy Everett Collection

▲ Moviegoers rush to see March of the Penguins, a surprise hit documentary that follows a year in the life of a flock of Emperor penguins.

▲ "The boy who lived" returns for more adventure in the fourth movie installment of the Harry Potter series, Harry Potter and the Goblet of Fire.

▼ Praised by critics and audiences alike, Peter Jackson's remake of the 1933 classic King Kong becomes a giant box-office success.

▲ The life of the late Johnny Cash is the basis of the Golden Globe-winning Walk the Line, starring Best Actor winner Joaquin Phoenix as Cash.

▲ Box-office profits are down in 2005, due in part to the trend of movie fans opting for the quick release of hit movies on DVD.

▶ The beloved C.S. Lewis series comes to life on the big screen in Walt Disney's The Chronicles of Narnia: The Lion, the Witch and the Wardrobe.

Best Picture Academy Award Nominations

- Brokeback Mountain
- Capote
- Crash
- Good Night, and Good Luck
- Munich

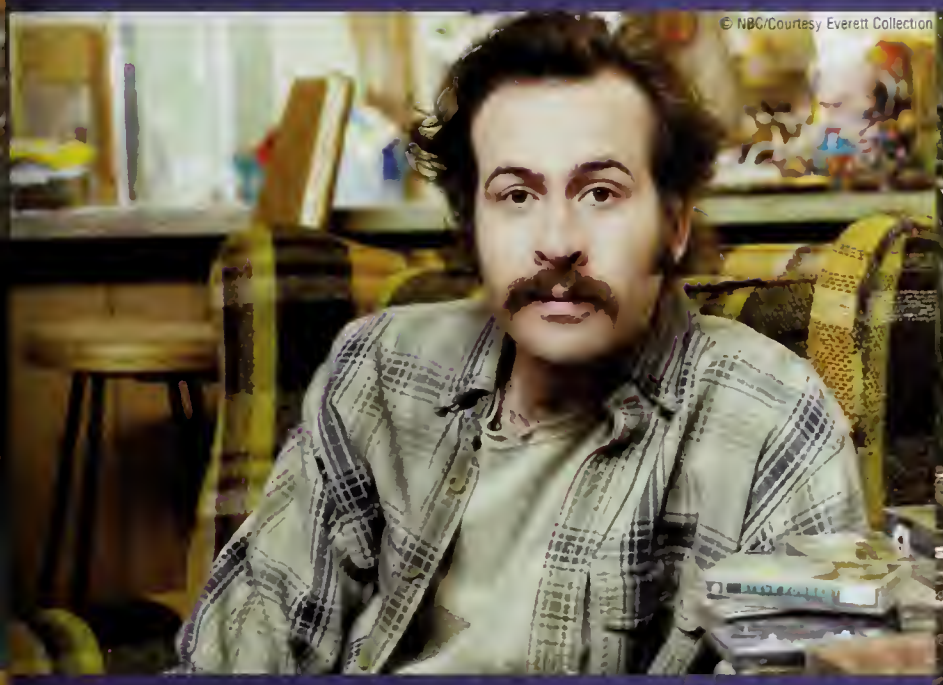
05-06 Television

▲ Geena Davis receives popular approval as television's first female President of the United States in one of the year's best new shows, ABC's "Commander in Chief."

▲ Based on the childhood of comedian Chris Rock, UPN's "Everybody Hates Chris" is a hit.

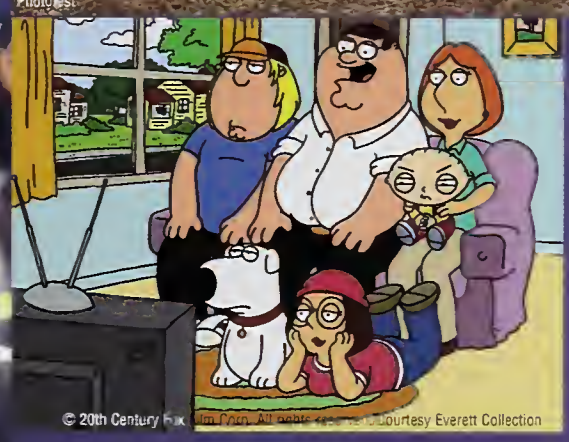
▲ Doctor "McDreamy," also known as Dr. Sheperd, and the rest of the staff at Seattle Grace Hospital achieve healthy ratings in ABC's "Grey's Anatomy."

▼ Viewers can't get enough of ABC's "Lost." The show earns a Golden Globe for Best TV Series Drama and spawns countless fan speculation sites.



▲ NBC finds a new hit comedy with the quirky story of a man in search of redemption, "My Name is Earl."

▲ America's No. 1 rated show for 2005 is the CBS crime drama "CSI: Crime Scene Investigation."



◀ Surprisingly high DVD sales influence FOX to bring back the formerly canceled cult favorite "Family Guy."

2006 People's Choice Nominations for Favorite Reality Show Competition

- "American Idol" (FOX)
- "Fear Factor" (NBC)
- "Survivor" (CBS)

Music

▲ With Late Registration, Kanye West maintains his status as hip-hop's top dog, landing on top of Rolling Stone's Top 50 Albums of 2005.

▲ Reggaeton, which blends influences of hip-hop, Jamaican reggae and dancehall with Latin American bomba and plena, reaches its height in popularity in 2005.

▲ Seattle indie favorites Death Cab for Cutie break into the mainstream with the album Plans and "Directions," a series of 12 short films.

▼ Green Day tops off a career year with seven MTV Video Music Awards, including Best Video of the Year for "Boulevard of Broken Dreams."

Mario Anzuoni/Reuters/Corbis

CBS/Landov

▲ Eight years after the death of former lead singer Michael Hutchence, Australian rock band INXS selects new frontman J.D. Fortune on the CBS show "Rock Star: INXS."

USA Network/Mattias Clamer

▶ University of Texas grad Cowboy Troy bursts onto the country scene with a new music genre, "hick-hop," which he proudly displays on his class ring.

▶ Strong releases by Kelly Clarkson, Shakira, Mariah Carey and Gwen Stefani rule the music scene. Carey's The Emancipation of Mimi earns eight Grammy nominations and is the top-selling album of 2005.

2006 Best New Artist Grammy Nominations

- Ciara
- Fall Out Boy
- Keane
- John Legend
- Sugarland

Entertainment

▲ Nintendo DS owners can now be virtual dog owners as well, thanks to the wildly popular Nintendogs series.

▲ J.K. Rowling releases yet another bona fide best-seller with Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince.

▲ The Star Wars franchise remains a juggernaut in the videogame industry with the winter release of Star Wars: Battlefront II.

▼ Gamers wait in line for hours to get their hands on the year's hottest holiday video game console, Microsoft's Xbox 360.

▲ The addictive numbers logic puzzle, Su Doku, captures the attention of crazed puzzlers across the nation.

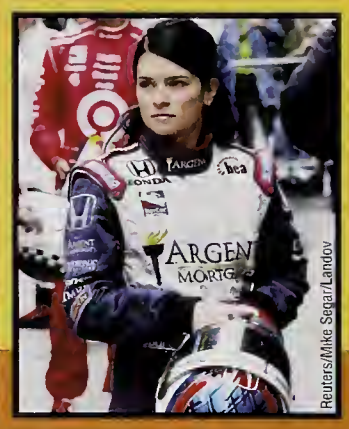
▲ Music videos and TV shows are accessible on the go with the newest must-have item from Apple, the iPod with video.

◀ The classic game of 20 Questions gets a makeover for 2005 with the artificial intelligence powered 20Q, one of this year's hottest toys.

05-06 Sports

▼ In June, the San Antonio Spurs win the 2005 NBA Championship over the Detroit Pistons in a thrilling seven-game Finals series. Spurs forward Tim Duncan wins MVP honors.

▲ In February 2006, figure skater Sasha Cohen leads the U.S. Olympic Team into the XX Olympic Winter Games in Torino, Italy.



▲ Danica Patrick, 23-year-old race driver, wins Rookie of the Year honors in both the Indy Racing League's IndyCar Series and at the Indianapolis 500, where she finishes fourth.

▲ Citing conduct unbecoming to the team, the Philadelphia Eagles suspend wide receiver Terrell Owens for four games and deactivate him for the remainder of the NFL season.

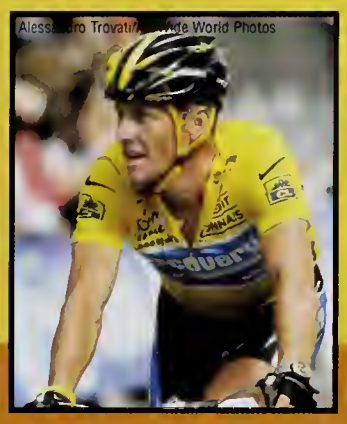
▲ The Pittsburgh Steelers hold off the Seattle Seahawks for a 21-10 victory in Super Bowl XL. Future Hall of Famer Jerome "The Bus" Bettis retires after the game.

▲ NHL hockey returns in fall 2005 after losing the entire '04-'05 season to a labor dispute. Fans flock to see players in new uniforms and exciting innovations like tie-breaking shootouts.

▶ Hawaiian golf phenom Michelle Wie turns professional on her 16th birthday and signs endorsements worth $10 million, making her one of the highest paid female athletes in the world.

05-06

▲ In November, WWE superstar Eddie Guerrero dies of heart failure. In 2004, Guerrero was only the second wrestler of Hispanic heritage to win the WWE championship.



▲ American Lance Armstrong wins his unprecedented seventh Tour de France in July. Armstrong then retires from competitive cycling.

▲ BMX superstar Dave Mirra wins the gold medal in the BMX Park Finals of X Games XI.

▼ Longhorns quarterback Vince Young leads Texas to a national championship with a dramatic 41-38 comeback victory over USC in the 2006 Rose Bowl.

▲ After an 88-year wait, the Chicago White Sox win the 2005 World Series, sweeping the Houston Astros in four games. White Sox right fielder Jermaine Dye is named Series MVP.

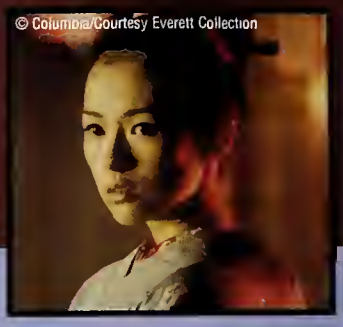
◀ Two-time champion Tony Stewart wins NASCAR's Nextel Cup Series and a record $13.6 million in winnings in 2005. Stewart's career Cup earnings now total over $48 million.

▲ Swiss tennis superstar Roger Federer wins two Grand Slam titles, at Wimbledon and the U.S. Open, along with all four ATP Masters Series events.

05-06 Faces

▲ Beloved "Gilligan's Island" funnyman Bob Denver dies of cancer at 70. Although only 98 episodes of the popular sitcom were made, Denver was typecast as the nutty Gilligan his entire career.

▲ Kristin Cavallari, featured on the MTV reality show "Laguna Beach," becomes one of Hollywood's hottest young personalities.



▲ Chinese actress Ziyi Zhang shines in the lead role of Sayuri in the film adaptation of the acclaimed Arthur Golden novel Memoirs of a Geisha.

▼ Civil rights pioneer Rosa Parks dies at 92 in Detroit. Parks' refusal in 1955 to give up her seat on an Alabama bus eventually led to laws desegregating public transportation nationally.

▲ Actor Tom Cruise, 43, makes headlines all year with his controversial views on psychiatry, his new love, actress Katie Holmes, and his couch gymnastics on CBS's "The Oprah Winfrey Show" and NBC's "Tonight Show with Jay Leno."

▶ Actor-comedian Richard Pryor dies at 65 in December. Pryor's concerts and movies in the '70s and '80s inspired performers like Eddie Murphy, Arsenio Hall and Robin Williams.

▲ Peter Jennings, anchor of ABC's "World News Tonight," dies of lung cancer in August. The popular TV journalist held the anchor position for 22 years.

▲ Coretta Scott King, legendary civil rights advocate and widow of the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., dies in January 2006. She was 78.

jostens

© 2006 Jostens, Inc. 05-0645 (1837)